Mrs. Mahoney, Santa Monica, Cal., and Boston, sued for annulment by her husband, Dr. Mahoney, who charges that she failed to keep a pre-nuptial agreement to bear an heir or heiress. He says she stated her age as 35 when she was 42 and that she claimed favorable medical examination by two physicians before they wed.

GAS RAISE FIGHT PARLEY ASKED

Chairman W. Y. English, of Council's Finance Committee, today asked City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to arrange a conference for the two with members of the Public Service Commission to discuss the city's six-year fight against the increase of gas rates from 55 to 63 cents.

The commission sustained the higher rates in the cases against the Equitable Gas Company and the Peoples Gas Company and Council now is considering the advisability of prosecuting the action against the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company.

English severely criticized the commission for failing to establish a valuation of the two companies whose cases have been settled.

CAUTION URGED

Waldschmidt explained that the commission is a judicial body and might decide the appraisal query was not pertinent.

English said he did not want to spend another $70,000 trying the remaining case if there was no chance of success. However, he asked Waldschmidt: "Can't you go there and throw a brick at the Public Service Commission and tell them that Council is sick, tired and dissatisfied at the failure to establish property valuations."

John S. Herron urged English to be cautious. Herron pointed

BLONDE SOUGHT IN DETROIT

The trail of Irene Schroeder, West Virginia blonde sought in connection with the killing of Corp. Brady Paul, of the Pennsylvania highway patrol, today led to Detroit, where she is reported to have been seen a few days ago. Pennsylvania state police are in that city searching for the woman and her two male companions, it was said.

The state police were in that city Saturday and were hot on the trail in company with Detroit detectives, according to Inspector Fred Frahm, of the Detroit homicide squad. Inspector Frahm refused to give out information concerning the Detroit clues.

HONEYMOONERS HUNT GOES ON

ST. GEORGE, Utah, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Although it has been more than 13 months since the wild gorges of the Colorado River swallowed up Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hyde on a honeymoon boat trip, two determined fathers still roam the river banks, searching for at least a clue to the fate of their children. Mrs. Hyde was a former Pittsburgher.

Having thoroughly combed the northern side of the river's boulder-strewn banks, R. C. Hyde, of Hansen, Idaho, father of the missing youth, and William Hailey, father of the bride, were en route today to Los Angles to organize a new searching party to cover territory south of the famous river gorge.

Hyde, also accompanied by his daughter, Miss Jeanne Hyde, arrived here after another search of the vicinity in which the young couple last was heard from. The newlyweds attempted to negotiate the dangerous stream while on their honeymoon and no trace of the couple has been found since they started down the river in a boat.

Mrs. Hyde formely lived in Pittsburgh with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hailey. She attended the Pittsburgh schools and several years ago moved to Parkersburg, W. Va., where the Haileys now reside. She is a niece of M. U. Hailey, of the Fairfax Apartments, Pittsburgh.

U. S. Investigators Here on Radio Jam

W. J. Clearman, investigator for the Federal Radio Commission, is in Pittsburgh today investigating alleged transmission interference between Stations WCAE and WJAS.

Clearman arrived this morning and, after a conference with KDKA officials and John M. Froelich, chairman of the Pittsburgh Radio Council, visited various sections of the city to make tests on the reception from the two affected stations.

Mrs. Parks on Trial In Children Killings

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 13.—(INS.)—Mrs. Gladys May Parks, former cabaret performer, went on trial today on the charge of murdering her niece, Dorothy Rogers, 4, and her nephew, Timothy Rogers, 20 months old. The trial was begun before Supreme Court Justice Frank T. Lloyd and a jury in Criminal Court.

CITY HEALTH CHIEF BARS PARROTS

Dr. Maits Acts as Fear of Psittacosis Spurs Check In Freeport (Pa.) Death

While city health authorities fear the development of cases of parrot fever in Pittsburgh, prompt measures taken today by Director C. B. Maits, of the Department of Health, ni conference with his bureau chiefs and Dr. John B. Conover, Allegheny County representative of the state health, were expected to prevent any possibility of an epidemic.

Director Maits, Dr. Conover and Dr. P. E. Parks, superintendent of the Bureau of Infectious Diseases, at a conference at noon, took measures for the isolation of birds lately imported from the tropics, and ordered physicians to report all cases where the symptoms of patients indicated any trace of the dread malady.

ENTRY BARRED

An order was issued forbidding further entry into the city of parrots until further notice, by Dr. Maits.

This afternoon Director Maits and other physicians in the Department of Health went to Freeport to investigate the death of Mrs. William Shields, 51, of Buffalo street, Freeport.

A post mortem examination developed what is believed to be a typical case of the disease.

DAUGHTER STRICKEN

Mrs. Shields' daughter, Elaine, has been stricken with the same malady. It is believed that Mrs Shields and her daughter contracted the disease by handling a pet parrot which recently had ben imported from South America.

That the Shields cases are likely due to parrot fever was expressed by Dr. W. W. G. Maclachan, pathologist of Mercy Hospital.

"We don't know definitely," he said, "until the final blood tests are made. This will take five days."

"A thorough study will be made of the Freeport case," said Director Maits. "This is the first opportunity we have had in Western Pennsylvania to study a clinical case of the disease.

"We are taking every precaution through the various bureaus of the department to prevent the spread of the disease.

"It is a rare malady, and it seems that the only means of contagion is in handling the

Ex-Legislator Held In Embezzlement

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Jan. 13.—(AP)—John E. Stavitski, of Nanticoke, former member of the state House of Representatives, was under arrest here today, awaiting removal to Harrisburg, where he will face a charge of embezzlement. The warrant for him was issued by Alderman William H. Charters of Harrisburg. Complainants in the case are Miss Clara Fink, her mother and brother, all residents of the state capital.

Absence of the former legislator from Nanticoke was responsible for the delayed arrest. Details of the charge against the defendant were lacking here.

TAXI STRIKE PARLEY CALLED

Representatives of 1,400 Drivers to Meet Company Officials in Peace Move

A conference looking to settlement of the 24-hour-old taxicab strike was to be held late today.

A committee representing the 1,400 striking drivers was to confer with officials of the Yellow and Green Cab companies, in an effort to adjust differences on the new wage scale which caused tieup of 700 cabs yesterday.

PLACES DECLARED VACANT

Announcement of the conference came several hours after the cab companies declared that the strikers' places were vacant and that new men would be engaged to take their places, if they did not wish to return.

Immediate resumption of service was planned, according to a statement of Walter S. Laird, president of the Yellow Cob Company, and Paul L. Houston, president of the Pittsburgh Transportation Company, which operates the Green Cobs.

CABS SENT DOWNTOWN

Checker cabs, the Hill district subsidiary of the Parmelee Company, owner of the Yellow and Green cabs, sent several cabs into the downtown district, but they failed to pick up passengers, according to reports.

Supt. F. L. Dobson, of the Pennsylvania Railroad police, ordered all independent cab drivers off company property this afternoon, on advice of the company counsel. The free lance cabs had been lining up at the Pennsylvania and East Liberty stations, as is the practice of the licensed cabs.

Fearing more violence, if the cab companies resumed operation in face of the strike, Police Supt. Peter F. Walsh ordered police to be on the alert and prevent groups from congregating downtown.

LOTTERY DRIVE OPENS TODAY

A general order for the arrest of all persons connected with the clearing house lotteries was to be given to police today by Director James M. Clark, of the Public Safety Department.

Saturday Director Clark announced that he would make a strenuous drive against operators of the lotteries in an effort to stop the gambling.

The order was to be given to both police and detectives today. Plainclothes men were to be set to work immediately in rounding up the heads of the lotteries. The clearing house lotteries in Pittsburgh are said to furnish an income of between $100,000 and $200,000 weekly.

The police officers whose duty it will be to round up the operators of the lotteries feel that they are up against a difficult job.

Haugen is serving his fifteenth consecutive term of two years each.

Wagner Asks Commission to Pass on Enforceability; Drys Praise Message

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The recommendations of President Hoover and his Law Enforcement Commission for improving prohibition enforcement brought a quick response this afternoon from the anti-prohibitionists in the Senate.

Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, liberal leader, immediately sponsored a resolution requesting the President to enlarge the scope of the commission's inquiry. Wagner suggested the commission investigate the "suitability" of the existing prohibition law as a means of promoting temperance, the possibility of amending the Volstead Act to obtain better enforcement and to determine whether the "inadequacy" of prohibition enforcement now was "attributable to the prohibition law."

MESSAGE APPLAUDED

The Wagner resolution would force the commission to investigate the "enforceability" of prohibition—a cubject which the dry leaders have suppressed.

Considerable applause greeted the reading the President's letter in the House. It was referred to six committees for consideration. They were those on judiciary, ways and means, interstate commerce, immigration and the District of Columbia, for which special lekislation is recommended in the report.

The drys in the Senate announced privately that the com-

GRAFT CHARGED BY M'GOVERN

"Graft," shouted County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern when Director Norman F. Brown, of the County Public Works Department, requested $100,000 insurance be placed on the new county building, Ross and Diamond streets, now in course of erection. More is to be added monthly as the building is completed.

"We've come to the place where this insurance graft should stop," said McGovern. "We should take it out of the graft column."

Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong was assurred by Brown and Commissioner E. V. Babcock that insurance was carried by corporations on buildings in course of erection.

"I move that it be put in along with the other 'graft,'" ruled Armstrong.

"'Bread and Butter Charlie' took his insurance from Max last week and as an act of charity it ought to be given to Max and the Pennsylvania Underwriters," shot back McGovern. As Armstrong rapped for order, McGovern was asking "for a commission to check up on graft."

The insurance was ordered.

PRESIDENT FOR MORE PRISONS

Also Recommends Increased Police; Would Speed Up Minor Cases' Disposition

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Hoover today called upon Congress to unify and enlarge the police powers of the federal government for the enforcement of the "noble experiment," prohibition.

The President submitted to Congress an exhaustive preliminary report from his Law Enforcement Commission, dealing with existing evils in the enforcement machinery and proposing specific recommendations. Urging prompt enactment of the remedial legislation, Mr. Hoover reminded Congress:

"While some sections of the American people may disagree upon the merits of some of the questions involved, every responsible citizen supports the fundamental principle that the law of the land must be enforced."

REWRITE JONES LAW

Both President Hoover and the commission found congestion in the federal courts was a prime factor to be remedied.

To that end, they asked Congress to rewrite the famous Jones "five and ten" law, so as to place "casual or slight" violators in a class by themselves. Similarly, they recommended enlarged powers for United States commissioners, giving them the right to act as magistrates in minor cases.

In addition, Congress was asked to codify the 25 assorted statutes under which prohibition is now being enforced; it likewise was asked to put new teeth in the padlock law, and to transfer all enforcement activities, save control of industrial alcohol, from the

URGE LENIENCY FOR HIP FLASKS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS.)—Hip-pocket flask toters and home-brewers need no longer stand in fear of the drastic Jones "five-and-ten" law if Congress adopts the recommendations made today by President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission.

As a means of clearing clogged court dockets, the commission suggested that "casual or slight" violators be exempted from the severe five to 10-year sentences of the Jones law and placed in a class by themselves, subject to trial by a United States commissioner and sentence of not more than six months, not at hard labor, or a fine of not more than $500.

The commission suggested that the following be defined as casual violations: Unlawful possession; single sales of small quantities by non-habitual offenders; unlawful making of small quantities where no other person is employed; assisting in making or transporting as a casual employe only, and transporting of small quantities by persons not habitually engaged in that practice.

AMELIA IN PITTSBURGH

WILLIAM COX L. F. ENTRICKER AMELIA EARHART

Miss Earhart, flier, met at Pennsylvania Station today by railroad officials. She addressed the Hungry Club at Fort Pitt Hotel.

Women Impede Aviation, Says Amelia Earhart

Women apparently form one of the biggest hindrances to the progress of aviation, despite the lack of any reason why they cannot fit into the industry as well as men.

Miss Amelia Earhart, transatlantic flier, delivered that indictment here today.

Weather conditions prevented her from flying here from Cleveland and she arrived by train to address the Hungry Club at its noonday meeting in Fort Pitt hotel.

Upon her arrival at the Pennsylvania Railroad station, Miss Earhart paused a few minutes to cite woman's place in aviation.

She said:

"Women present the greatest sales resistance to passenger air travel today. They not only hesitate to fly themselves but prevent their husbands, brothers and families from adopting the modern mode of travel.

"When this resistance is overcome and women are convinced of the safety on large air lines, then aviation will find its proper place.

"I can not see any reason why women should not be as capable pilots as men. Of course, with only 100 women flying, as against 9,000 men pilots, there is no basis of comparison. Until the number of women fliers increases, their definite capability cannot be decided."

Miss Earhart spoke at the luncheon on "Passenger Progress on the Transcontinental Air Transport Lines." She stopped here on her return from the Pacific coast, where she had been in conference with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Both are affiliated with the air-rail service.

Miss Earhart outlined the advantages of night flying, soon to be inaugurated by the T. A. T., and the improvement to be offered in larger, faster planes.

Stork on Way, York's Heir May Be British King

LONDON, Jan. 13.—(INS.)—A new arrival is expected in the family of the Duke and Duchess of York within a few months, it was learned from a reliable source today.

Should the child be a son, he will be England's future king, provided the Prince of Wales does not marry.

As the prince is now 34 and as far away from matrimony as ever, the news of the approaching event was received with great interest. Hopes are naturally expressed that the child will be a boy, as it would assure perpetuation of the Windsor line.

The only child of the Duchess of York is little Princess Elizabeth, who was born on April 21, 1926. While at present she is third in line for succession to the British throne, the new baby, if a boy, would immediately take precedence over her.

Prince Albert Frederick Arthur George, Duke of York, the second son of King George and Queen Mary, was born on December 14, 1895. The duchess was formerly Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the fourteenth Earl of Strathmore. She is 29.

The duke and duchess were married on April 26, 1923, at the earl's castle in Scotland.

35 KILLED IN STORMS SWEEPING OVER BRITISH ISLES

23 SEAMEN SINK WITH TUGBOAT

Wind Velocity 120 Miles an Hour; Many Hurt, Plane And Rail Service Tied Up

International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 13. — A death toll of 35 has already been taken by one of the worst gales in the history of the British Isles, it was estimated today.

The gale, which at times reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour, caused widespread damage both on land and sea, and still is raging at such a pitch as to keep virtually all shipping harbor-locked.

Twenty-three seamen were drowned when the British target tug Saint Genny sank in the teeth of the gale about 32 miles northeast of Ushant.

FIVE RESCUED

The Saint Genny was en route to Gibraltar accompanied by two tugs. Owing to the tremendously high seas, the latter two tugs were able to rescue only five of the crew of the Saint Genny.

Twelve persons were killed in numerous accidents in southern England and parts of Ireland as a direct result of the gale.

At least 20 persons sufefred serious injuries and it is feared the toll of dead may grow.

Property damage was enormous. A number of shipping craft reported themselves in dangerous predicaments. Hundreds of vessels were forced to seek the shelter of nearby harbors.

PLANE SERVICE HALTED

Air service across the English Channel was at a standstill. Ship service on the Channel was virtually in the same state.

Among larger craft in distress were the Italian steamer Liana and the steamer Amphea. The former was taken in tow by two tugs. A deal lifeboat crew rescued the crew of the Amphea.

Motor and railroad traffic was demoralized in southern England. A few minor railroad accidents were reported. Serious motor accidents were numerous.

Because of the terrific gale outside of Queenstown, Ireland, the Cunard liner Antonia was forced to forego her usual stop there, and proceeded directly to Liverpool.

NEW MEN RUN TAXIS HERE

the State Federation of Labor, spoke at today's meeting of taxi drivers in the McGeah building.

Robertson also asked that no trouble be started by the strikers, d that strikers refrain from damaging company property. About 500 attended the meeting, and at noon it was said that 700 applications had been turned in for union memberships. The number will reach 1,500 by tomorrow, it was predicted.

Seventeen Red cabs were called off the streets, after one of the drivers was attacked and severely beaten last night by striking drivers of the Green cab company, police say.

JITNEYS DEFY POLICE

The Red Cab management announced it would abide by any settlement reached by the Yellow and Green Cab Companies and would give their men the same terms.

Scores of "jitneys" and free lance cabs swung into action today to take advantage of the strike, facing arrest for operating without licenses by so doing.

Hiram D. Hirsh, counsel for the Public Service Commission, announced that no emergency certificates for independent cabs would be granted at present.

The statement of Houston and Laird follows:

COMPANIES' STATEMENT

"The companies voluntarily announced last week a new pay scale for drivers which will increase the annual payroll of the two companies approximately $300,000. While the previous scale made a considerable differential between men of long and short service, the new scale treats all drivers alike. A few of the older men feel that they should have preference at the expense of the new men. Both companies take the position that this is impracticable.

"Accordingly the managemtnt take the position that those men who are disatisfied have resigned and are immediately resuming service with those men who care to return to work and recruiting new men to fill the vacancies.

"Both officials state that every effort is being made to resume service and expect that service will be normal within a few days."

LICENSED MEN PROTEST

Several licensed cab drivers protested to Attorney Hirsh against the operation of unlicensed cabs.

"Anyone has the right to petition the Public Service Commission for relief," said Hirsh. "If petitioned, the commission would consider what action to take, as an emergency operation, in the operation of cars. No one is permitted to operate a public conveyance without a certificate. All who do so will do it at their own risk."

DRIVERS' DEMANDS

In the meantime the drivers' demands voiced by Paul O'Toole, chairman of a joint committee, stand as the basis on which the drivers, who quit without notice yesterday, will return to work. The demands are:

Flat rate commission of 40 per cent on all moneys taken in as fares.

Inauguration of working shifts of not more than 10 hours each.

No discrimination between drivers as to length of service.

Abolishment of "penalty" clause which compels drivers to work seven days a week.

Recognition of the union.

SETTLEMENT SOUGHT

E. S. Higgins, vice president of the Parmalee Company, arrived here yesterday from Cleveland to assist in the settlement of the strike.

Comparison of the old wage scale with the proposed rate as compiled by company officials follows:

Receipts.	Old Scale.	New Scale
$10	$4.00	$3.75
$12	$4.20	$4.50
$15	$4.80	$5.62
$20	$5.80	$7.50

The "seven-day week" agreement, another bone of contention of the strikers, provides that a man must work seven days in the week under the penalty of having his commissions cut. If he works only six days his commission is cut from 37½ per cent to 35 per cent and if he reports for duty only five days, he is cut to 33⅓ per cent, the drivers claim.

STRIKE CALL SURPRISE

The walkout of drivers came as a surprise to everyone, including many of the drivers themselves yesterday. The day shift had reported for work as usual yesterday morning and continued their various routes around the city until almost noon. Word of the strike spread quickly throughout the city and by 3 o'clock practically every taxicab was en route to its garage.

Charles Funaro, 26, of 94 Henderson street, driver for the Red Cab Company, an independent concern, was set upon by three men who, according to his story to police, claimed to be Green cab drivers, and beaten when he refused to turn in his cab last night. The trio hired his cab in Beaver avenue, North Side, and instructed him to take them to Bellevue. Arriving at his destination, Funaro said, they paid him and then beat him when he told them he would not join the strike. He was taken to St. John's Hospital where he was found to be suffering from internal injuries and several fractured ribs.

Earlier in the day Walter Puhl, 24, of 43 Oliver street, North Side, a striker, was set upon by a Yellow Cab driver, he told police, and suffered a broken nose in the encounter. The driver struck him with a jack handle, he said.

mission had made an interesting report. The dry leaders indicated they felt congress would rush the legislative program through to early enactment. The antis indicated no opposition to this procedure.

HARRIS PLEASED

Senator Harris, (D.) of Georgia, dry leader, whose demands led to filing of the report, said:

"I'm pleased to have the commission's report. Another thing that pleased me was the commission's announcement that it will hold public hearings. I had asked it to do both. The commission also says the government nedes more men and morem oney to enforce prohibition. That has been my contention

"I believe the time is ripe for getting real effective prohibition enforcement, and I shall co-operate fully with President Hoover to that end."

COMPREHENSIVE—JONES

Senator Jones, of Washington, author of the Jones Act, and Republican leader, said:

"The commission has laid out quite a comprehensive program. If carried out it should be extremely helpful to prohibition enforcement."

Jones approved the commission's suggestion for amending the Jones' "five and ten" law so that "casual violators" can be punished for misdemeanor instead of felonies. He said he thought it would be a "good amendment when properly framed."

"There shouldn't be any difficulty in getting this legislation through Congress," Jones added. "There will be no trouble in the House and I am hopeful there will be no unnecessary delay in the Senate."

Senator Broussard (Dem.), of Louisiana, one of the liberal leaders, was reticent. He said:

"We must study this program carefully before reaching any conclusions."

out that the commission seemed to function regularly and any attack upon it by Council would be just as consistent as for the Allied Boards of Trade to "try to throw members of Council in the river because they raised the tax rates."

COUNCIL THREAT HINT

English said "That is just what is liable to happen to us through the Legislature if he continue to raise taxes."

M. G. Mansfield, of the Morris Knowles Company, which supervised the mechanical installation at Mayview, explained to Council that two new boilers placed at the institution were adequate and that there was no necessity for operating the three old ones.

Robert Garland observed that the only reason for operating the five boilers was to provide more political jobs.

Council asked Waldschmidt to settle the question of office furniture taken by officials of Overbrook Borough.

L. Pat McGrath, of Overbrook, who recently was appointed an assitsant city solicitor, told Council that each of the six councilmen of the former borough took a desk, chair and lamp. Desks used by newspapermen, the borough clerk and the borough solicitor, together with from 200 to 300 auditorium chairs, were given the volunteer fire department, he said.

CITY PUTS BARS UP AGAINST PARROTS

birds, and there seems no reason of fear for owners of birds which have been here for a long time or have not come in contact with parrots lately imported from the tropics.

"All pet shops in the city have been placed under close inspection. Our census of the birds shows that not more than a dozen parrots have been imported within the last six weeks."

NO FEAR OF EPIDEMIC

"There is not the most remote cause for fear of a general epidemic. I have just talked over the telephone with Stanley W. Wynne, commissioner of health of New York, and Dr. Hampton Jones, health commissioner of Baltimore, and they tell me that they have the situation well in hand and that precautions have been taken for the isolation of all birds arriving from the tropics.

"The national health authorities have mobilized all their resources to fight the spread of the disease and to take every possible measure of prevention."

Dr. Marks, superintendent of the bureau of infectious diseases, prepared a list of precautionary rules which is to be broadcast.

These rules call upon owners of parrots to keep the cages in a sanitary condition, and to take every precautionary measure in handling the birds and in the cleaning of cages.

It was pointed out that birds which have not come in contact with parrots recently imported were not to be feared as carriers of the disease.

'OVER-EMPHASIZED'

S. M. Flages, world-famous bird collector, recently returned from South America where he spent 12 years in the Brazilian jungles, stated today that he believes "parrot fever" is being over-emphasized.

"I have had lots of parrots, and in my experience I have never heard of a man getting any fever from them. However, I do know that parrots pick up colds and influenza from human beings."

Mr. Klages, a native of Pittsburgh, has been here several months. He is a naturalist and collector of specimens for the outstanding European and American museums, including Carnegie Museum here.

U. S. Medical Chiefs Sift Parrot Disease

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Surgeon General Cumming today placed Dr. Charles Armstrong, public health epidemologist, in charge of a nation-wide investigation of widely-scattered serious illnesses attributed to "parrot fever" or psittacosis.

Calling in all assistant surgeon generals, Dr. Cumming conferred with them today to consider unofficial reports attributing 25 cases of sickness to the rare disease. He said later that he believed the situation warranted the Public Health Service's "serious attention."

INVESTIGATING IN N. Y.

Dr. George W. McCoy, director of the health service's hygienic laboratory, was in New York today, it was said here, and with city health authorities, he will investigate at a large pet shop from which it is thought diseased birds were bought, infecting human beings.

DEATHS IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—(INS.)—The dread "parrot fever," which already has caused six deaths throughout Germany and Austria, had claimed another victim today in Prof. Honl, director of the bacteriological institute of the University of Prague, who is reported seriously ill from the mysterious malady.

Prof. Honl is believed to have contracted the disease from a parrot he was using in his clinical experiments in an effort to determine the cause of the illness.

FINED AFTER CAMP FIGHT

After accusing five employes of the Casey Construction Company camp, at 305 Hargrove street, of stealing his watch and chain valued at $65, Frank Staub, 26, of 1925 Woodville avenue, was fined $10 by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side police court this morning. He was charged with causing a disturbance at the camp.

Staub, who is not connected with the company, applied for a free meal at the commissary department of the camp, Steward Thomas Brown testified. After being served, he became boisterous and wanted to fight with the five camp employes. When they tried to put him out, it was testified, he accused the men of stealing his watch and chain. Police arrested the six principals. The other five were discharged by the magistrate.

REPORT PRELIMINARY

The President and the commission both stressed the fact that today's report was preliminary in nature, and that the whole broad question of observance of the Eighteenth Amendment still needed months of study. In carefully-phrased, but nevertheless significant language. The commission said:

"It is impossible wholly to set off observance of the prohibition act from the large question of the views and habits of the American people with respect to private judgment as to statutes and regulations affecting their conduct. We must not forget the many historical examples of large-scale public disregard of laws in our past."

ESSENTIALS SET FORTH

Six essentials were set forth by President Hoover for the consideration of Congress, as follows:

"1—Reorganization of the federal court structure so as to give relief from congestions.

"2—Concentration of responsibility in detection and prosecution of prohibition violations.

"3—Consolidation of the various agencies engaged in prevention of smuggling of liquor, narcotics, or merchandize and aliens over our frontiers.

"4—Provision of adequate court and prosecuting officials.

"5—Expansion of federal prisons and reorganization of parole and other practices.

"6—Specific legislation for the District of Columbia."

In connection with the last four suggestions, the executive also sent to Congress supplemental reports prepared by the Department of Justice and the Treasury, which elaborated on the recommendations of the law enforcement commission.

Although the commission scrupulously refrained from expressing an opinion on the enforcibility of prohibition, it was expected the anti-prohibitionists would find considerable solace in their observations on the "scope and size of the problem." The whole social background of the nation must be probed to the depths, they reported—right down to the "Whig tradition of a 'right of revolution," the conception of natural rights, classical in our policy, the Democratic tradition of individual participation in sovereignty, the clash of organized interests and opinions in a diversified community, and the divergencies of attitude in different sections of the country and as between different groups in the same locality."

MELLON REPORT

The report of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, which accompanied that of the Commission to Congress, dealt with creation of a unified border patrol charged with enforcement of prohibition, customs, and immigration. Mellon proposed it be made a part of the Coast Guard. He also suggested that the present number of points of entry be increased sufficiently to permit uninterrupted and unhampered intercourse with neighboring countries over established and customary roads.

Attorney General Mitchell, in his supplemental report, indorsed the proposal to use U. S. Commissioners as trial judges in small cases, but urged that the additional judges already recommended by the conference of senior circuit judges be provided as well. Mitchell also asked for additional funds so he can increase the size of prosecuting staffs at many points, and approved of the suggested amendment to the padlock law.

SAME DRY FUND SET IN BILL

House Committee Turns Down Proposal for Increase; Congress Battle Likely

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The stage was set today for another congressional battle over prohibition enforcement funds when the House Appropriation Committee recommended allotment of $15,000,000, the same as last year, in submitting the annual Treasury-Postoffice supply bill to the House.

Accepting the budget figures, the House committee rejected the demands of Senate "drys" for vastly increased funds on the ground that it would put the federal government into police work which belongs to states and further congest the courts.

RETAINS INCREASE

The committee retained the increase forced in last year's fund by Senator Harris (Dem.), of Georgia, totaling $1,719,654, after the House rejected a $25,000,000 boost voted by the Senate. Harris has announced that he will demand $50,000,000 additional this year.

In addition, the committee recommended $16,807,190 for the Coast Guard's anti-smuggling work, which is largely prevention of liquor running. An increase of $2,120,382 is provided for this branch of the service.

Other funds for prohibition enforcement are carried in allotments to the customs service, which are not segregated. The total for prohibition enforcement in the bill is estimated at between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000.

The entire appropriation bill carries $1,147,778,692, of which $835,494,077 is for the Postoffice Department and $312,284,615 for the Treasury. The total is an increase of $12,106,433 over last year.

ANTICIPATE FIGHT

Preparing for the anticipated fight over the amount of "dry" law funds, the committee conducted elaborate hearings on prohibition. Justifying its action in not increasing the amount, it quoted prohibition Commissioner Doran as follows:

"My judgment is that there would be an unwise expenditure of money if the present appropriation were materially increased at this time, for the reason that it would inevitably tend to further congest the federal courts, and in those courts where reasonable disposition could be had of cases—and I am speaking largely of the southern states at this time and some few of the western states—we would be more and more doing the work of the state officers and sheriffs, and there is no limit to the point that we could go in that direction until we reached the final point of the federal government enforcing in detail the prohibition law in every state. I would not think it a wise thing to further overbalance the federal effort."

Doran said that "a great deal of effort should be put on developing the investigational work." He said the "dry" agents could make 50 per cent more arrests, but the federal courts couldn't handle the cases.

COAST GUARD SUM

The committee provided $3,500,000 for the Coast Guard building program, which included putting new anti-smuggling boats into service and taking over 12 destroyers from the Navy.

The postoffice section of the bill carries $15,000,000 for domestic air mail, an increase of $1,700,000 which will make possible establishment of some new routes.

The committe recommended $48,709,390 to carry on existing projects for buildings. It announced that the Budget Bureau later will send to Congress a recommendation for $25,000,000 more to provie for additional projects. The proposed new projects were not named in the bill, and it is said that they still are under consideration by the Treasury and Postoffice Departments.

GENE TUNNEY GOES UNDER KNIFE IN SERIOUS OPERATION

X-RAY BARES DANGEROUS CONDITION

Surgeons Probe for Large Stone in Kidney; Former Champion Suffering Pain

BULLETIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney underwent an operation late today at Presbyterian Hospital for removal of a large stone from the right kidney.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, was in Presbyterian Hospital today awaiting an operation for the removal of a large stone in the right kidney.

He was taken to the hospital at 11 o'clock last night, and it was understood that the operation would be performed late this afternoon.

Mrs. Tunney, the former Polly Lauder, his heiress bride, has engaged a room adjoining her husband's to be near him during his illness. He may be in the hospital for weeks.

A consultation of four kidney specialists—Drs. George W. Fish, J. Bentley Squires, Robert Shea and Carnes Weeks—was held late last night. It was said Dr. Fish would perform the operation.

LARGEST STONE

Some secrecy prevailed concerning the operation. It was at first denied that Tunney was in the hospital. For days it had been rumored that the retired champion would go under the knife.

Friends of Tunney were told by doctors that the stone was the largest of its kind ever revealed by the X-ray. It was a mystery to the doctors that Tunney was able to go so long without submitting to an operation.

The suggestion that Tunney's kidney aliment is an indirect result of thudding body blows delivered by Jack Dempsey in the Tunney-Dempsey fights in Philadelphia and Chicago were discounted by the doctors.

One of them said flatly that Tunney's condition was not the result of ring encounters.

FEARED KIDNEY PUNCH

Dempsey is conceded by boxing authorities to have been capable of delivering as punishing an assortment of body blows as perhaps any man in ring history.

His deadly left hook to the kidneys was feared by every fighter he ever faced, and Tunney himself showed the greatest respect for this blow by spending considerable time in developing a defense against it.

Tunney had been silent concerning his physical condition.

He said nothing about it when he returned from Europe recently with his bride. While abroad she underwent an operation.

Since his return Tunney has been living near Greenwich, Conn., but he came to New York City a few days ago.

He has been attending a few lectures and whiling away his time leisurely.

The operation will be the second he has undergone in the last several months. While abroad, on his extended honeymoon, he underwent a minor operation.

Fate has not been any too kind to the Tunneys since their marriage. Mrs. Tunney has just recovered from two serious appendicitis operations, performed while they were in Europe.

Physicians did not seek to minimize the seriousness of the operation to which Tunney prepared himself to submit to today.

Two Fliers Killed In Texas Plane Crash

AMARILLO, Tex., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Emmett Myers, pilot, and L. P. Wheeler, airplane salesman, both of Amarillo, were killed here yesterday when their plane crashed.

The ship was one of six participating in flying exhibitions over the city. While circling about three miles from the English airport, to which both victims were attached, the plane went into a nose dive for about 1,500 feet, spectators said. The dive then turned to a spin and the plane crashed. Myers is survived by his widow and four children.

ARRANGE COAL POLICE TRIAL

District Attorney Samuel M. Gardner was back at his office today, after having been confined in his home in Tarentum since before Christmas with an injured leg.

He came in for a short time to confer with First Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park on the coal and iron police case which is to be tried in Franklin, Venango county, January 28.

Walter J. Lyster, Harold Watts and Frank Slapikas, former coal policemen, are to be tried for manslaughter in connection with the death of John Borkowski, Tyre miner.

Gardner instructed Parks to confer with Robert Woodside, county controller, to determine whether it would be feasible to take government witnesses to Franklin in a bus.

Gardner feels that if the witnesses are taken to Franklin by bus, the county will save money in train fares. Headquarters will probably be established at the Park Hotel, Franklin, he said.

Gardner denied that he has set a date for the trial of Al Forney, reputed "slot machine king." It will be some time yet until he has all the details of the case in hand, and until then a date will not be selected.

Prohibition Agents Awarded Seized Auto

P. Schoonmaker today. Judge Schoonmaker signed a petition presented in the name of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, in which the auto was requested for use by prohibition agents.

X-RAY FILM BAN ASKED HERE

Safety Director James M. Clarke today presented to Council an ordinance regulating the storage of x-ray films in hospitals.

The measure was prepared by H. L. Ley, superintendent of the Bureau of Building Inspection, who made an inspection of the disaster last May 15 at Cleveland Clinic Foundation, Cleveland, O., that took a heavy toll of human life.

Ley proposed amending existing laws to prevent the storing, developing or exposing of explosive x-ray films in any hospital, clinic, dispensary, school, home, asylum or portrait and commercial studio.

The amending ordinance would not be effective until February 1, 1930.

Ley further recommended the creation of a division of explosives in the building inspection bureau for the proper enforcement of the proposed regulations.

Ley reported that an inspection last June revealed that practically all the Pittsburgh hospitals had either taken measures to safeguard films or were working on plans to comply with the proposed ordinance.

Up until that time, with one or two exceptions, all of the hospitals were using photographic x-ray nitrocellulose film, whereas a recent inspection showed that all but seven of the 21 hospitals are now using the safety or acetate of cellulose films, in compliance with the recommendations of the city.

MARK HANNA'S DAUGHTER RAPS LEAGUE COURT

Senate Candidate Opposes U. S. Adherence; Sees Covenant Still Unchanged

International News Service.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., Jan. 13.—Voicing unalterable opposition to American adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations—and to all foreign entanglements — Ruth Hanna McCormick today formally launched her campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, to be decided in the April 8 primary.

Mrs. McCormick announced her policies here at the Shelby County courthouse before a large gathering. She is attempting to win the seat now held by Senator Charles S. Deneen.

NO CHANGE

Speaking of the league court the daughter of the late Mark Hanna and widow of the late Senator Medill McCormick said:

"We are confronted once more with the proposal that the United States shall adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations.

"I assume that most of you know how I stand on that question. I stand where I always have stood—in opposition to the League of Nations, or any of its essential parts.

"I have not changed my mind on this issue because there is no change in the covenant of the league, which was written as a part of the treaty of Versailles and adopted with the provision and power of enforcing its territorial sections.

AGAINST ENTANGLEMENTS

"As I am opposed to foreign entanglements, I would be reluctant to see our coutnry take any step toward joining the League of Nations or any part of the league. It seems to me that in adjusting a foreign policy we should also look at the reverse side of the question.

"What advantage could America render the rest of the world by being a member of the league, which service she is unable to accomplish as an independent power? It is not a policy of isolation we are considering; it is a policy of preserving our independence of action."

BALM SUIT HIT BY COSTELLO

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Maurice Costello, former film star and father of Dolores and Helen Costello, actresses, had on file in Superior Court an answer to a $100,000 heart balm suit brought against him by Vivienne Sengler, musician and composer.

Costella denied he ever promised to marry Miss Sengler, and denied generally and specifically every count of the wonman's suit. He asks that Miss Sengler's suit be dismissed and he be awarded judgment for his costs.

In her complaint, Miss Sengler said Costello proposed marriage to her in Stockton, Cal., December 10, 1928, and they agreed the wedding would take place April 22, but that Costello repudiated his promise and refused to go through with the plans.

Costello, in his answer, denied he proposed marriage to her at any time or had an agreement with her regarding marriage or anything else.

KINSHIP OF 2 TO FOSTER QUERIED

Daughter Here Seeks News Of N. Y. 'Relatives' Not Listed in Family Tree

The relationship of Lorraine T. Foster, operatic and concert singer, to the famous song writer, Stephen C. Foster, is the question puzzling Marian Foster Welch, the composer's daughter, and Mrs. A. D. Rose, his granddaughter, on this the one hundred and fourth anniversary of his birth.

Reputed head of the Stephen Foster Society, in New York, and described in papers and magazines as "a descendant of the composer," Lorraine T. Foster's name does not appear in the Stephen Foster family records here, according to the only daughter of the Pittsburgh song-writer and his granddaughter.

And the relationship of Mrs. Foster Massey, of New York, radio singer, also labeled on the air as a descendant, is being sought by the two Pittsburgh women. As far as Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Rose can discover, her name is not recorded in the Stephen C. Foster family tree.

"Apparently," Mrs. Rose says, "the two women are his relatives, or why should they be advertised as such?"

Anyhow, she would like to know. If they are blood relatives, she would place their names in the book she may write, or at least correct the records in the Foster Memorial Home in Penn avenue at Thirty-seventh street, where they live.

And if they are not, both Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Rose would prefer the New Yorkers not to allow use of their names in connection with the composer and his works.

CO-ORDINATION IN DRY WORK OUTLINED

U. S. Commissioner Hearings To Speed Up Petty Cases Recommended by Quiz

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The text of the prohibition report of the President's Law Enforcement Commission, in part, follows:

Ever since the organization of this commission on May 28, 1929, it has been giving careful consideration, among other things, to the question of the observance and enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the National Prohibition Act. The problems presented have been numerous and difficult. While we are not ready to make a final report on the subject, we have reached certain conclusions which we are transmitting to you with this communication. The extent and complexity of the problem perhaps may be strikingly presented by reference to a few outstanding facts.

Scope of Problem

As to observance: It is impossible wholly to set off observance of the prohibition act from the large question of the views and habits of the American people with respect to private judgment as to statutes and regulations affecting their conduct. To reach conclusions of any value, we must go into deep questions of public opinion and the criminal law. We must look into the several factors in the attitude of the people, both generally and in particular localities, toward laws in general and toward specific regulation. We must note the attitude of the pioneer toward such things.

We must bear in mind the Puritan's objection to administration, the Whig tradition of a "right of revolution," the conception of natural rights, classical in our policy, the Democratic tradition of individual participation in sovereignty, the attitude of the business world toward local regulation of enterprise, the clash of organized interests and opinions in a diversified community, and the divergences of attitude in different sections of the country and as between different groups in the same locality. We must not forget the many historical examples of large-scale disregard of laws in our past. To give proper weight to these things, in connection with the social and economic effects of the prohibition law, is not a matter of a few months.

No Reliable Data

As to enforcement: There are no reliable figures to show the size of the problem. But reported arrests in the last fiscal year of upwards of 80,000 from every part of continental United States indicates a staggering number of what might be called focal points of infection. There are about 18,700 miles of mainland of continental United States at every point of which infection is possible.

To deal with an enforcement problem of this size and spread, the federal government can draw only on a portion of the personnel of three federal services, whose staffs aggregate about 23,000. Approximately one-tenth of this number is in the investigative section of the prohibition unit. The remainder is engaged in work far different from prohibition.

These figures speak for themselves.

A frequent complaint is that the federal government is prosecuting small cases and not getting at those responsible for the large supplies of illegal liquor. To get at the smugglers, the wholesale distributors and those who manufacture and divert on a large scale, it is necessary to have unification, centralization of responsibility and means of insuring co-operation between federal and state agencies, but they cannot be achieved overnight.

Proposed Remedies

When we come to the legal difficulties in enforcement, it is possible to speak with much more assurance as to what may be done at once by way of enforcement.

Summarily stated, these difficulties are due to:

1—The division of enforcement between the Treasury Department and the Department of Justice.

2—The disordered condition of federal legislation involved in enforcement.

3—The possibilities of evading or defeating injunction proceedings, commonly known as padlock injunctions, by means of transfers and concealments of persons interested in property used for manufacture and sale of illicit liquor.

4—The congestion of petty prosecutions in the federal courts, requiring great delays, interfering seriously with general business, and leading to wholesale disposition of accumulated causes under circumstances impairing the dignity of and injuring respect for those tribunals.

Recommend Transfer

Without prejudice to any ultimate conclusions, we think in the interest of promoting observance of and respect for law, the national prohibition law may well be strengthened and its effectiveness increased in these important particulars:

(A)—Transfer of investigation and preparation of cases to the Department of Justice.

There is very general agreement that the whole task of enforcement through the courts, as distinguished from the granting of permits and administration of regulations as to the legitimate use of alcohol or of liquors, should be concentrated in the Department of Justice. To dispose of such a mass of cases satisfactorily, there must be well-organized co-ordination of investigation and prosecution, which can only function effectively when under a single head, with responsibility definitely placed.

(B)—Codification of federal legislation applicable to enforcement of prohibition.

We recommend all federal legislation applicable to the enforcement of prohibition be revised and digested with a view of making it a unified whole in the form of a simpler, better ordered and hence more workable code. In our judgment, this will make for much greater efficiency.

(C)—Provision for maying so-called padlock injunctions more effective.

The use of injunction proceedings as a means of enforcement is so important that a provision for reaching unknown claimants, non-residents and residents who conceal themselves to evade service of process would add very greatly to the efficacy of the statute. It contains nothing which is not already done in the states generally when private claims to property are concerned.

(D)—Provisions for relieving congestion in the federal courts.

Court Congestion

From various parts of the country come complaints of congestion of the federal courts due to the large volume of petty prosecutions under the national prohibition act. Obviously, these prosecutions must go on. It would not do to create an impression that minor infractions are to be ignored.

Three methods to this end have been suggested: First, to increase the number of federal judges; second, to create inferior federal courts, or federal police courts, for such cases; and, third, to utilize the present machinery of the courts, meeting the causes of delay and congestion by a simpler procedure for petty cases.

If it is possible to deal with this matter adequately with the existing machinery of the federal system, it should be done. We think such a solution entirely possible and in the right line of progress, not merely in the enforcement of the national prohibition act but of all federal legislation.

The Jones law has expressly recognized a class of "casual or slight violations." A statute providing that in prosecutions under Title II of the national prohibition law the district attorney may, in case of "casual or slight violations," prosecute by complaint or information, and in such cases, when so prosecuted, the penalty for each offense should be a fine not to exceed $500, or imprisonment in jail without hard labor, not to exceed six months, or both, would obviate the long delay, unnecessary expense, and needless keeping in session of grand juries, demanded by the present state of the law.

Slight Violations

We think also it would be expedient for Congress to define the term "casual or slight violations."

Next, to simplify the mode of prosecution of petty cases, we must consider the matter of pleas of guilty and of trials. As the law is, every offender must be indicted, must await indictment before he can plead guilty, even if ready to do so at once, and his case must, if he pleads not guilty, await its turn on the calendar, obstructing, if it is a petty case, the disposition of important cases.

We think it is possible to provide for a hearing in the United States District Court before a magistrate provided trial by jury in that court is preserved to the accused. But we see no need of setting up special federal magistrates. It would seem entirely feasible to make use of the existing system of United States commissioners.

It could be provided that in case the accused, prosecuted by complaint or information, pleads guilty, such plea may be reported by the commissioner to the court and judgment of conviction rendered and sentence imposed by the court. Then it could be provided that in case the accused so prosecuted pleads not guilty, there shall be a hearing before the commissioner, who shall report to the court, and the court on examination of his findings render judgment of acquittal or conviction and in case of conviction impose sentence. It could be provided further if conviction is recommended by the commissioner, the accused may within three days after filing of each commissioner's report, except in writing to the report and demand trial by jury. Finally, it could be provided in such case the district attorney may elect whether to go to trial on the complaint or information, or to submit the case to the grand jury, and in case the grand jury indicts the case shall then proceed upon the indictment.

Jones Law

The Jones law was enacted to make enforcement more efficacious in two ways: By providing for more severe penalties in the discretion of the court and by making available the collateral consequences of a felony, such as the rules of law applicable to prevention of a felony and the capture of felons. This was done by making every violation of the national prohibition act a potential felony.

The foregoing suggestions aim at preserving this feature of the existing law. Up to the time when the district attorney elects how to prosecute there is a potential felony. In other words, all the possibilities in the way of arrest and prevention which obtain under the existing law are conserved. But the intention is to make it possible in case of "casual or slight violations" (language of the Jones law) to prosecute as a petty offence, thus relieving congestion in the federal courts, maintaining the dignity of those tribunals and making possible speedy disposition.

Thus, a few simple legislative enactments, in our opinion, could be made greatly to strengthen enforcement of the national prohibition law. We think they could not in any wise interfere with any ultimate program which we may have to recommend, and would in the meantime advance observance of the law.

Dry Chieftain Upholds Coast Guard Shootings

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran upheld an armed Coast Guard, the present and future of prohibition and the enforcement policy of President Hoover today in an address before a meeting celebrating the tenth anniversary of prohibition, held under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League.

"The President has a remarkable and scientific mind, and I am confident that under his leadership we are going to drive through and be away ahead at the finish," said Dr. Doran.

The prohibition commissioner said that under prohibition a wonderful Coast Guard had been built up. He said that as soon as the Coast Guard had to differentiate between kinds of smuggling, it might just as well be wiped out.

"The Coast Guard must be armed and the Coast Guard must use arms when necessary," said Dr. Doran, referring to criticism of the Coast Guard firing on rum runners.

"And no government is worthy to exist if it will not back up its officers in the discharge of their duties.

"The charge that the Coast Guard is engaged in daily massacres is utterly preposterious."

HOOVER'S DRY MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Urges Enforcement Though People 'May Disagree on Merits of Questions'

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The text of President Hoover's message to Congress, transmitting the prohibition report of the Law Enforcement Commission, is as follows:

"To the Congress of the United States:

"In my previous messages I have requested the attention of the Congress to the urgent situation which has grown up in the matter of enforcement of federal criminal laws.

EXHAUSTIVE STUDY

"After exhaustive examination of the subject, the commission on law observance and enforcement, and the officials of the Department of Justice and the Treasury Department unite in the conclusion that increasing enactment of federal criminal laws over the past 20 years, as to which violation of the prohibition laws comprises rather more than one-half of the total arrests, has finally culminated in a burden upon the federal courts of a character for which they are ill-designed, and in many cases entirely beyond their capacity. The result is to delay civil causes, and of even more importance, the defeat of both justice and law enforcement. Moreover, experience shows division of authority, responsibility, and lack of fundamental organization in federal enforcement agencies and ofttimes results in ineffective action.

MUST ENFORCE LAW

"While some sections of the American people may disagree upon the merits of some of the questions involved, every responsible citizen supports the fundamental principle that the law of the land must be enforced.

"The development of the facts shows the necessity for certain important and evident administrative reforms in the enforcement and judicial machinery, concrete proposals for which are available from government departments. They are in the main:

"1—Organization of the Federal Court structure so as to give relief from congestion.

"2 — Concentration of responsibility in detection and prosecution of prohibition violations.

"3—Consolidation of the various agencies engaged in prevention of smuggling of liquor, narcotics, other merchandise and aliens over our frontiers.

REASON EXPANSION

"4—Provision of adequate court and prosecuting officials.

"5 — Expansion of federal prisons and reorganization of parole and other practices.

"6 — Specific legislation for the District of Columbia.

"I append hereto a preliminary and a supplementary report from the commission on law observance and enforcement, relating to several of these and other questions.

"I particularly call attention to their recommended plan for reducing congestion in the Federal Courts by giving court commissioners enlarged powers in minor criminal cases. Their discussion of the workability and the constitutionality of the plan, which is concurred in by the eminent jurists upon the commission and others whose advice they have sought, is set out in more detail in the supplementary report.

"I also append memorandums from the attorney general and the secretary of the treasury upon several phases of these problems.

CURE FOR ABUSES

"I believe the administrative changes mentioned above will contribute to cure many abuses. Beyond these immediate questions are others which reach deeply into the whole question of the growth of crime and the enforcement of the laws.

"The causes of crime, the character of criminal laws, the benefits and liabilities that flow from them, the abuses which arise under them, the method by which enforcement and judicial personnel is secured, the judicial procedure, the respective responsibility of the federal and state governments to these problems, all require further most exhaustive consideration and investigation, which will require time and earnest research as to the facts and forces in action before sound opinions can be arrived at upon them."

DOUBTS GUESS ON POPULATION

DES MOINES.—(AP.)—Present estimates that the population of the United States will be 196,000,000 in the year 2100 were questioned today by Prof. Henry Schultz, University of Chicago.

Speaking at a joint session of the American Mathematical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, he said that "the chances are even that the estimate will differ from the actual population by 10,500,000."

The flaw in the forecast, he claimed, resulted from errors due to projecting into the future curves made on graphs according to past population trends.

34,000 DEATHS LISTED UNDER DRY LAW

U. S. Officially Reports Figures, With 4,700 Estimated During 1929

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Alcoholism was responsible for ever 34,000 deaths in United States from 1919 to 1929, according to official Census Bureau figures available today, while an unofficial estimate revealed 4,700 deaths from that cause last year.

Reports made to the Census Bureau for the years 1919-1928 showed 29,450 fatalities attributable to alcoholism, chronic or acute and from poison liquor. The three classes of deaths were not divided but officials expressed the belief that the poison rum deaths were in the minority and that over-drinking was responsible for most of the deaths.

Considering the growth in the population since pre-prohibition days there has been a slight decrease in alcoholic deaths. In 1917, the last normal year before prohibition, there were 3,907 deaths reported, with a rate of 5.2 per 100,000 population.

4,627 DEATHS IN YEAR

In 1928 there were 4,627 deaths reported due to alcoholism with a rate of four per 100,000 population. The country grows by nearly 1,500,000 annually. The 1929 figures are not available, but officials said undoubtedly there was an increase over the preceding year, although it was thought doubtful whether the death rate would show an increase.

For the years 1915-1918 there were 13,211 deaths officially attributed to alcoholism by the Census Bureau; for the period 1925-1928 the deaths numbered 16,802 but the average death rate was somewhat lower after prohibition. In the 10-year period, 1910-1918, deaths from alcoholism were 29,171.

The rate of four per 100,000 deaths from alcoholism compares approximately to the rate of deaths from typhoid fever and railroad accidents, excluding collisions with automobiles. The death rate from all causes in 1928 was 1,204 per 100,000, with diseases of the heart most fatal, with a rate of 207.7, cancer 96.6 and nephritis 95.

IN 1910 ONLY 2,909

In 1910 there were 2,909 deaths reported from alcoholism. This increased until 1913, declined sharply to 1915, and then rose in 1916 to 4,161, the largest number reported in any one year before prohibition. There was a minimum of 900 deaths reported in 1920. From that time there has been a steady increase, census figures showing the following:

For 1921, 1,611; 1922, 2,467; 1923, 3,148; 1924, 3,155; 1925, 3,694; 1926, 4,109; 1927, 4,372; and 1928, 4,627.

For 1928 the highest death rate by states was 11.9 per 100,000 population in Delaware, followed by 7.8 for Maryland, 7.5 for New York and 6.4 for Rhode Island.

The largest number of alcoholic deaths in 1928 occurred in New York with 866, followed by 526 for Pennsylvania, 368 for Illinois, 299 for Ohio and 257 for Massachusetts.

2 CONFESS THEY KIDNAPED GIRLS

The kidnaping of two young women from their escorts, the holdup of a gasoline station and the theft of a half dozen automobiles are explained, police say, in confessions obtained from Paul Schmidt, 21, of 511 East Lacock street, and Joseph Dowling, 24, of Compromise street.

The men, along with John Kirk, of Fineview, who is sought by the city detectives, are said to have been companions of Anthony Wisniewski, 20, of 819 Saw Mill way, North Side, who died Saturday night in the South Side Hospital. Wisniewski was taken to the hospital a week ago, shot in the head. He said he had been picked up by three men on the North Side and taken into the country for a ride. He was shot by one of the robbers when it was discovered he had no money, he told police.

NAMES TRIO, DIES

Before he died Saturday night, he admitted to police that he had been accidentally shot by one of his three companions. He then named the two youths held by police and the third still hunted. It is likely that the men will be turned over to the coroner, pending an inquest into Wisniewski's death.

According to Detectives Thomas Morgan and Walter Monahan, Smith and Dowling have made confessions in which they stated that on the night of January 1, they kidnaped Miss Mildred Reidenbaugh, 18, of 1402 Dixon street, from the automobile of Henry Arnold, of Fox Troe Gardens, her companion. Arnold was robbed and left tied in a stolen automobile at Jacks Run and Brighton roads while the young woman was taken for a ride by the four. The girl was put out of the car a short time later.

ADMIT KIDNAPING

They also admit, police say, to kidnaping Miss Betty Seifert, 21, of rear 4031 California avenue, taking her from the automobile of Paul Meeder, of 1800 Weynhurst street. Meeder and the girl were in the automobile near her home when the pair approached. The girl was driven a short distance and put out of the machine.

The same night, according to detectives, the youths say they held up a gasoline station at Beech and Irwin avenues.

Wisniewski was shot, sleuths say the prisoners confess, by Kirk who was showing him how to operate an automatic pistol.

Weather Conditions.

Low pressure areas are centered over the lower Ohio valley and over Western Colorado, and, as a result, the weather is cloudy and rain or snow is falling over much the greater portion of the country. The rainfall was moderately heavy over sissippi valley, and over the upper Allesissippi valley, and over the upper Alleghany basin. Over the central plains it is snowing. Mild weather continues over the states east of the Mississippi River, while over the Plains states the weather is cold. Zero temperatures prevail in Northern Kansas and northward and freezing ing weather as far south as Northern Texas. Pressure is relatively high over the upper Mississippi valley and westward over the Daktas and Montana, and a high appears to be developing over British Columbia and Alberta.

There will be between 21 and 22 feet of water on the gauge at Pittsburgh Tuesday morning, and there is a probability that there will be somewhat further rise during Tuesday. More rain is expected.

NO IMMUNITY IN FATAL BLAST

UPPER MARLBORO, MD., Jan. 13.—(INS).—The state will decline to grant immunity to Herman Brady, husband of Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady who with her baby brother and four-year-old sister were killed when a "Christmas" package bomb exploded.

The tragedy occurred New Year's Day, and Herman first directed suspicion against his uncle and later involved his brother, LeRoy Brady, a Washington automobile mechanic.

The two brothers have been in jail since Sunday and at a hearing for LeRoy, against whom had been placed a murder charge, Herman refused to testify on the ground he might incriminate himself.

Counsel have been in the hope that Herman might clear up the case and receive immunity from prosecution. J. Frank Parran, state's attorney, however, definitely refused announcing Herman's refusal to testify against his brother put a different complexion on the case.

A writ of habeas corpus may be sought to effect Herman's release. But Parran said he would fight such a move.

Robinson charges he was taken for a ride, bound, gagged and held prisoner four hours, and that at the end his captors turned him loose and told him it was all a joke. His captors, he said, were masked, but that before he was freed the men removed their face coverings. He identified three members of the detective bureau, including a sergeant, as his abductors.

COUNCIL AGAIN TO WORK ON BUDGET

Delay in Police and Fire Pay Increase Seen as Source of Big Saving

City Council today was scheduled to resume work on the 1930 appropriation bill. Only a small portion of the work has been completed. If a decision on advances for police and fire bureaus is held up until the end of the month, there will be but 11 months of the year to make provisions for, and this will mean a saving of approximately $112,000.

Tax payments did not start on time this year owing to the delay in fixing the millage for the next year. A week ago department heads were notified to cut their estimates and their reports are expected to reach council tomorrow, showing what cuts will be made.

The new tax rate advance will provide $700,000 in new revenue and about $225,000 will come from the advance in the metered water rates. Council today also is expected to act upon the emergency ordinance under which the city's immediate needs will be met until the general appropriation bill and salary ordinances are passed.

Sometime during the next few days Mayor Charles H. Kline is expected to meet with council to discuss the Eleventh street traffic circle. Another important item to be brought up this week is the ordinance from the law department, which will carry into effect the proposed contract for the drilling of artesian wells at Mayview. Water at the home is now supplied by an independent company and the city hopes to supply its own water from the wells.

St. Paul's congregation is one of the most rapidly growing in the Pittsburgh diocese, and the church school has increased more than 100 per cent in attendance during the last eight months.

2 DOPE FARMS WILL PROVIDE FOR 2,000

Plans Completed for Two Federal Retreats Designed To Rehabilitate Addicts

By KENNETH CLARK,
Universal Service.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Heralding a new method of attacking drug addiction, plans for constructing two federal narcotic farms have been virtually completed, it has been learned.

In making the announcement, Dr. Walter L. Treadway, chairman of the interdepartmental building commission, declared the farms will have a capacity for 2,000 addicts.

There are now 1,800 addicts in Federal prisons who would be eligible for transfer to the institutions.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $10,000,000. Congress will be asked in February to appropriate the money necessary to begin work.

One farm will be located probably in West Virginia, Georgia or Alabama, and the other in the Southwest. The commission will meet again within 10 days to pick the definite sites.

In line with the Hoover administration's prison reform program, the farms will permit segregation of narcotic offenders from other types of Federal prisoners. As a temporary measure, until the farms can be completed, the Justice Department has ordered addicts transferred to the Ft. Leavenworth disciplinary barracks, taken over from the Army. The addicts are to be given special medical treatment under the direction of Dr. J. K. Fuller, of the Public Health Service.

"This will be the first time in history that institutions have been built with the object and aim of rehabilitating and curing narcotic drug addicts," declared Dr. Treadway.

"They will not be in the ordinary sense a place of punishment, but a place of treatment, administered by medical men with a medical outlook. The purpose is to rehabilitate and restore to health and society those unfortunate persons who have become addicted to narcotics.

"It is a great humanitarian move."

Reviews and Chat About Amusements Along With Hollywood Gossip

CHICKENS ENGAGED FOR FILM AND NOW A SOLOMON IS NEEDED

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13.

A SOLOMON is in demand. List: For barnyard atmosphere and noise, a number of chickens (feathery variety) were engaged to prance. They supported John McCormack. The chickens were engaged for the week, at 50 cents per. Studio life in no way interfered with their egg-laying capacity. They laid. It's an old custom. The owner claims the eggs belong to him. The Fox kumpny claim they belong to them. No compromise has been effected, but Fox still have the eggs.

John McCormack will finish his initial vocalloid in a few weeks. He will also complete his one picture contract with Fox, and until March he will retire to the 153-acre estate he has purchased within a block's walk of residential Hollywood boolvard. In March, McCormack steams to Rome to serve as the official interpretor for the American representatives attending the Easter papal conference. McCormack speaks fluent Italian. Hence, the honor conferred upon him. Later, he goes to his castle in Ireland, Moore Abbey, where he remains until October. He has received a flattering offer from a British motion picture company to produce a vocalloid in England. But he intimates he prefers to make another picture in Hollywood. Perhaps because of his estate here. Perhaps not.

John McCormack

McCormack Film Has Eight Songs

APROPOS of his picture, McCormack has recorded 14 songs. To reproduce a song in the talkies—a song not especially written for the pictures—it is necessary to purchase the world rights through its publisher. The world rights have been purchased for every song except those he sings in French, German and Italian. From these 14 recorded vocal numbers, eight will be selected for the picture, and no announcement of their names will be made until the film is ready for release.

Victor McLaglen

In speaking of world rights to songs, this bureau learned a rather interesting fact. A group of Americans trekked to Europe some time ago and bought up sole rights to 10,000 songs for distribution in various countries. Should a picture company desire to incorporate one of these in a picture, they must settle with this company. The time and expenditure is prodigious. For this reason, if no other, the music departments of studios are economically important. It also indicates that the composers—whether he be a jazz or classic composer—is a significant money saver to the lots.

Victor McLaglen and Eddie Lowe are to co-star in a marine shooter, yclept "broad-minded."

Lois and Richard United on Screen

A CHOICE gleaning. That Lois Wilson is to be Richard Dix's leading woman in the star's second RKO-er, "I Love You." Being a choice gleaning opines this scribe. A few years ago Lois and Richard were seen together in sundry flicks. Then they each drifted their separate ways amid the lament of columnists who were thus compelled to abandon a favorite and an oft rumored engagement story.

Lois Wilson

SCREENALITIES—Helen Wills and her husband lunching with John McCormack at the Fox Westwood lot. Few people knew Chap Helen included Hollywood in her honeymoon itinerary. Colin Olive is speeding back to London where he will resume his stellar role in "Journey's End." Clive completed his share in the screen version of this W. K. play in a rush. He worked all day, doing re-takes, and dashed to the train direct from the Tiffany studio. He spent three hours in Chicago, and a mere 25 in New York. On his trip West, he was in New York exactly 25 minutes. I am told that Clive could have remained in Hollywood at an eye-raising salary. Famous Players and M. G. M. made him offers both here and by wire to him on the train. But Clive had promised the London management of the show that he would return immediately to the footlights after the picture was finished. He kept his word, even though his stage salary is only on hailing terms with that offered him by the above mentioned film outfits.

And—that's all.

HERO TALKS, WRITES IN SHERIDAN

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Resurrected for the talk screen and as a starring vehicle for Richard Dix, 'Seven Keys to Baldpate," George M. Cohan's old stage success, came into the Sheridan Square Saturday for a limited engagement. The production affords Mr. Dix an opportunity to display some ability as a light comedian, while retaining a sense of the romantic and the melodramatic. And it may be added that Mr. Dix is still nice looking enough to be a hero and has a voice that goes well with his personality and with the sound machine.

The plot, you no doubt recall, concerns a young author, who makes a wager that he can write a novel between midnights and then goes to a deserted hotel to do so, thinking he has the only key to the place. But he isn't there very long before he discovers lots of other keys and lots of other persons are about. The wind howls and all kinds of weird noises sound. Shadows loom big and threateningly. Guns bark. Ghosts appear.

But don't be frightened. It isn't so scarey after all. For every chill there is a laugh—maybe two. And for every laugh there is some of that love stuff. So don't be surprised when the hero wins a girl as well as his wager. Which brings us to the ending of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," an ending which is as happy as the treatment the production received from its megaphoner and the men who operated the sound cameras.

A good cast supports Mr. Dix and some of them are as prominent as is the star himself. So you see, it is not a one-man picture any more than Baldpate is a one-key hotel.

500 Aldine Patrons To Get Cosmetics

Today the Aldine Theater management will present each of the first 500 women attending the showing of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in the Fox musical comedy, "Sunny Side Up," with a sample package of cosmetics known as the "Cosmetics of the Stars," together with a little booklet by Max Factor, who furnishes the make-up for all the studios in Hollywood.

Comedy

Constance Bennett appears in "This Thing Called Love," a witty talkie which is the Enright screen feature.

MAGIC, FUN BILLS ON STAGE

Tonight, Thurston, magician, opens the second and last week of his engagement at the Shubert Alvin. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Hugh Banks gets his place in the sun in the Pitt this week in a comedy, "The Nut Farm," which the George Sharp Players will present, with the popular Hugh in a prominent role.

The attraction in the Nixon for the week of January 20, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, will be George M. Cohan in his new play, "Gambling," with the original New York cast and production intact. Seats are on sale for "Gambling," and also for "Sporting Blood" which will be presented at three special matinees, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. This play will be presented for the first time on any stage Tuesday, January 21.

"A Night in Venice," which returns to Pittsburgh for a week's stay in the Alvin, opening Monday night, January 20, has quite a menagerie. Aside from the wrestling bear of the Stevens brothers and Brady's dog circus, both of which appear in the show, there are Peeks, chows, parrots and one ape, pets of the members of the troupe.

'JAZZ HEAVEN' HARRIS FUN FILM

"Jazz Heaven," feature picture in the Harris, opens with John Mack Brown being complained of by other roomers for having played the piano all night. It seems he is composing and is looking for an elusive end for his notes. Alarm clock! Sally O'Neill, in another room, punches her pillow and arises. Warbles. Eureka! Johnny hears just what he wants to hear and the composition is finished. And so "Jazz Heaven" ends with rival music publishers bidding for his song, and with Sally and Johnny appearing in the kissies.

That's about all there is to the thin story but not all of the picture. Action includes wrecking the piano by wrathy roomers. And the appearance of Sally and Johnny in a radio broadcasting den, where they wander while searching for a piano factory so they can fix up the old tin-pan. The comedy, furnished by Clyde Cook, night watchman, whose wife runs the rooming house, and Jospeh Cawthorn, as one of the music publishers, one with a dialect, is laughable.

On the stage Victor Graff presents a show, "Under the Big Top," with Vic dressed as a clown and singing the clown's lament from "Pagliacci" quite well. Best in the group of entertainers are Nelson and Thacker, boy and girl dancers, who know the art of stepping. Five tumblers are clever. There also is a team in which the female sings loudly about "True-Blue Lou" and the male talks equally loudly in a supposed comedy vein.

TRAIN HITS CAR, MAN, BABY DIE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—Henry A. Shroyer, 57, chicken farmer living near Mineral City, and his granddaughter, Anna Irene, 8 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Egler, of near Dover, are dead, and the parents and her sister, Mary Ladeve, 2, are at Union Hospital, the result of a southbound Baltimore & Ohio passenger train striking the automobile driven by Egler, 26, at a crossing near the Shroyer home yesterday. The child, whose skull was fractured, lived an hour. Shroyer died a few hours later.

The Egler family was en route to Lindentree to spend the day with friends, and Mrs. Egler's father entered the machine to ride a short distance. The accident happened close to the home of Shroyer's son, Howard, who with his brother, George, heard the crash. The victim's son, Robert, and a neighbor boy, saw the accident.

The victims were tossed from the machine. Part of the wrechage was carried 75 feet. The body of the car caught fire.

Mrs. Egler, 24, suffered fractures of both legs. Her surviving daughter has a scalp wound and her husband escaped with minor injuries. Shroyer's right hip was crushed and he was hurt internally.

According to witnesses, the locomotive did not whistle for the crossing. Shroyer said they did not see the train until it was upon them.

The accident occurred within a half mile of the bridge over Huff run where Shroyer's son, John Henry Shroyer, 23, and Francis Owen Murray, 25, were drowned December 15, 1928. Shroyer's widow and thirteen children survive.

FIRM HEAD HITS AT CRITICS

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Alfred R. Miller, president of Loft, Inc., candy manufacturers, has made public a letter to stockholders answering charges by Charles G. Guth, executive vice president of the corporation, who has demanded that Mr. Miller and two other directors be removed.

The controversy first was brought to light Friday by action of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn in denying to Mr. Guth an application for a writ to examine all the records of the company. He followed this by a letter to stockholders asking that a special meeting be called to oust the officials.

Mr. Miller's letter denies that he and William L. Wemple and Charles R. Stevenson, the two directors whose removal Mr. Guth demanded, have paid themselves and their staff of efficiency experts exorbitant salaries, have shown poor judgment in disposing of a midtown leasehold, or have made a disadvantageous contract with the Allison drug store chain.

The letter admits Mr. Guth's charge that the company paid a banking commission of $300,000 for additional financing, but states that this sum was less than 10 per cent of the value of the transaction. Further, Mr. Miller denies the vice president's charge that all three directing officials own only 400 shares of stock in the company, asserting that "myself and my friends own and have paid for between 200,000 and 300,000 shares."

Mr. Guth also is president of the Mavis Bottling Company, of Baltimore, Md.

Stomach and Liver Sufferers!

"Enjoy Better Health!" Says Washington Doctor Who Advises Flaxolyn

Dr. Oscar E. Lee of Olympia, Washington

Declares That Vitaminized Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally; Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting Digestion.

"Dear Dr. Luntz," writes Dr. Oscar E. Lee, head of the Sanitarium Baths of Olympia, Wash., "I want you to know how much both Mrs. Lee and myself think of Flaxolyn, and how happy we are to learn that you have perfected your formula in a pleasant liquid and vitaminized form.

"You will recall that both Mrs. Lee and myself used Flaxolyn personally with such wonderful results that we felt it our duty to interest as many people of the Northwest in Flaxolyn, as it was humanly possible for us to do. As a result we have distributed thousands of packages of Flaxolyn and feel overjoyed with the good it has wrought."

"The new vitaminized Flaxolyn is a blessing in disguise. It is so easy to take; so quick to act; so splendid in its results. I sincerely hope that before long every person who needs greater strength, greater energy, keener appetite and sounder sleep, will realize that Flaxolyn is the means to that end."

Let Karl Duane of McKeesport Tell How Flaxolyn Gave Him New Strength and Energy

How His Awful Gassy Condition Cleared Up Like Magic; How That Dizziness Vanished; How Heartburn and Headaches Disappeared Under the Healthful Influence of Flaxolyn.

"What a wonderful thing it is to have your health restored to you when you have given up all hope of ever finding relief," declared Mr. Karl Duane, of East McKeesport, Pa., to a special reporter who was sent to interview him.

"For some time," continued Mr. Duane, "I suffered from a very bad gas condition caused by chronic constipation. I would bloat very badly and the gas pains would seem to cause my heart to beat so fast, at times I could hardly breathe.

"Occasionally there was a ringing in my ears, and some times I would get dizzy headaches. After a while I felt worse and I was disturbed several times during the night. It seemed there was to be no relief.

"A friend who had taken treatments at Battle Creek and had used Flaxolyn with very good results, asked me to try it. More to satisfy him than in the hope of finding relief, I did so. I have used three bottles and feel like a new person. The gas and bloating are things of the past. My bowels are regular and I sleep all night, once again. I eat well and enjoy my food.

Mr. Karl Duane, of McKeesport, Who Says:—

"To my many friends who have remarked on my improvement, I give full credit to Flaxolyn. This is the first time I have ever allowed my name to be used in this manner, but in view of the help received from Flaxolyn, I think it only fair to do so."

Skin Aglow With Health Since Dr. Esther Wallin Used Herbal Flaxolyn

Proves the Great Merits of Dr. Luntz's Formula, and Shows How Her Own Stubborn Case of Skin Blemishes Disappeared When Flaxolyn Drove Out the Constipation Poisons in Her Body

Dr. Esther C. Wallin, Who Tells How Flaxolyn Brings Smooth Complexion

If you have been reading any of the previous news concerning vitaminized Flaxolyn in this paper, you have probably noticed how many doctors say they tried Flaxolyn themselves before prescribing it for their patients. Was there ever a more wonderful recommendation of a health product than this?

Here is another example: Dr. Esther C. Wallin, of 223 Commonwealth Building, Cleveland, who writes: "I thought you would be interested to hear of the splendid results I have had from Flaxolyn. I had a very stubborn case of Acne, which I felt was due to chronic constipation, and thanks to Flaxolyn, my complexion is just fine and I can heartily recommend your formula."

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

It is absolutely guaranteed in writing that Flaxolyn will help cases of general exhaustion, biliousness, sleeplessness, headaches, backaches, dizzy spells due to constipation gases—or druggists refund the purchase price.

Every reader of this paper who would like to feel better, eat better, sleep better and look better, can obtain a bottle of the wonderful new vitaminized herbal Flaxolyn on this liberal offer: If Flaxolyn does not bring satisfactory results by the sixth spoonful, you may bring back the partly used bottle and have the purchase price refunded!

Flaxolyn contains nothing that can hurt you, and it may prove to be the means of bringing joy to your existence.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn. The pure harmless ingredients are printed right on the package. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a new and better grip on life.

BALAAM TITLE FOR OLD GUARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—The parable of Balaam and his ass was used last night by Senator Nye, of North Dakota, at the Labor Temple here to answer the description of the rebel western Republicans of the party in the Senate as "the sons of the wild jackass."

Senator Nye related how the Angel of the Lord was sent to head off Balaam, riding on his ass to put a curse upon the children of Israel, and how Balaam failed to see the Angel although the ass did. Blind to the warning, Balaam smote the ass when it finally fell down and refused to advance against the Angel.

"Of course," said the North Dakotan, "the story has a happy ending. Balaam's eyes were finally opened by the Lord, and he saw the Angel and perceived his great error. Not before he had wrongfully punished his ass, true, but before he had gone too far on the way which was perverse to his lord.

"Is it too late for our tame jackass party bosses to open their eyes and perceive that they are riding their party to certain disaster regardless of the braying and the urging and advising of their wild jackass brothers?

TALE INCOMPLETE

"But the story of Balaam and his ass is not yet complete, for before Balaam saw what the fuss was all about his ass inquired, 'am I not thine ass, upon which thou hast ridden ever since I was thine unto this day?' Balaam answered nay!"

"What do our blind party Balaams answer when the Senate wild jackasses ask:

"Have not we and our people, who you call wild jackasses been faithful in time of need and stress to thee and the party hast thou not ridden us ever since we were thine unto this day? Hast thou not ridden us about enough? Is it not high time that thee and thine gave us a bit of nourishment not altogether unlike that upon which thou and thine has grown plump and comfortable?"

LIKE BALAAM

"There are Balaams in politics who are much like the Balaam of old. And there are, according to these Balaam's, asses in politics. The asses have been striving, we think, to make their party and their government responsive to the will and the interest of those people who pay the bill of being governed and who help constitute the party, and because of this balky attitude our blind, political Balaams lash at us with their tongues. Then, too, these asses, according to the Balaams, come from the 'backward states.' Is the fact that the Balamms have been 'riding,' if I may be permitted to use the word in a slangy way, these backward states and asses for ages also a point that affords a double analogy, for our consideration in this story of Balaam and his ass."

STATE ALUMNI HEAD NAMED

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 13.—(AP.)—Election of Edward K. Hibschman, for the past 10 years secretary to the president of Pennsylvania State College, to be secretary of the Pennsylvania State Alumni Association was announced here. He succeeds E. N. Sullivan, who resigned in June, 1928.

Hibschman is a native of Lancaster county and is the fifth generation owner of the Hibschman homestead at Ephrata. He is a former secretary of the State Farm Products Show and his name is borne by a strain of tobacco that he developed while an agricultural research worker at the college.

The resignation of Hibschman as secretary to President Ralph D. Hetzel, State College, will be presented to the college board of trustees at its annual meeting in Harrisburg January 20.

STEEL OUTPUT ADVANCING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 13.—Mid-West steel industry will hold gains of last week and make a slight advance in operations, according to schedules for the second full week in January. Production will average from 65 to 67 per cent, it is indicated, with 32 of 51 independent open hearth furnaces in action and 90 of 120 Valley sheet mills under power. There is a general strengthening in schedules all along the line. Both strip-steel and pipe production will show an increase. Independents report steady buying of flat-rolled steels and many spot delivery orders.

Due to a rather unexpected increase in new business, every company in the district will be able to maintain enlarged schedulings.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube is operating at fully 60 per cent, Republic Steel, 67 per cent, and Sharon Steel Hoop, 70 per cent.

Due to revived auto steel buying, Newton Steel has advanced output to 70 per cent, while Carnegie mills are steady at 60 per cent.

MUSIC

Yost String Quartet and Martha Eaton Brickman

SCHENLEY BALLROOM

PROGRAM.

Quartet, Op. 12.....Mendelssohn
Triptych for High Voice and Quartet of Strings.....Arthur Shepherd
"He It Is."
"The Day Is No More."
"Light, My Light."
Martha Eaton Brickman.
Quartet.....Frederick Jacobi

The Yost String Quartet again played in Schenley Ballroom yesterday afternoon, and performed with such lively spirit that the usual inclination of the audience for a siesta was entirely lacking. It was a well-chosen program, with a quartet of Mendelssohn, a vigorous new American work, and the quintet for strings and a soprano voice of Arthur Shepherd, other fine contribuition to American music.

J. Fred Lissfelt

As mentioned, the ensemble attacked the music from its first bars to the last cadence with real life, and played the new music with an enthusiasm that was most praiseworthy.

Somehow Frederick Jacobi has found for his work (though it is built on American Indian themes) an original plan that is well-knit (excepting in the last movement) and has made music that is strongly suggestive of the restlessness of this epoch without stooping to the commonplaces of theme and rhythms which we have now grown to expect. It is full of contrary beats, of exquisite dissonance, and can boast of enchanting brevity. The presto is too loosely strung together, and relies too far on its tempo to gather in the stray fragments.

Arthur Shepherd's triptych was a surprise. That this composer feels the exaltation of Tagore's poetry, and tries not at all to simulate that overworked style, "Oriental atmosphere" is most commendable. His music belongs to our age, but is not nearly so vague, but none the less ingratiating than the neo-French and German schools. His vocal line is enchanting, and follows the gentle line of the great Indian poet's convincingly. In the performance, the first and third songs wanted more nuance, the second had finest twilight feeling.

Martha Eaton Brickman, Pittsburgh soprano, joined the quartet in these songs. Demands were unsparing upon her fine range of voice. The clarion quality of her high notes, which were many and well sustained, and the warmth of her lower tones kept the music in a high plane. The word imagery of Tagore's verse is so vital a thing to the least understanding of his mood, likewise to the relation between musical and verbal phrase, that attention to diction must never relax. As in the relation of Maeterlinck and Debussy, the word is always essential. Only occasionally did the singer slip from the consciousness of this feature in Shepherd's music.

As encore, Mrs. Brickman sang Wagner's "Traeume," with a wretched accompaniment arranged for quartet.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

HANDCUFF PAIR, BLOW SAFE

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 13.—Police have no clue to the four bandits who looted the General Baking Company's safe here of $3,000, except finger prints. The safe was blown while L. H. Randolph, 55, watchman, and his friend, Robert Phillips, 22, were held prisoners in a locker room, handcuffed to a radiator.

Randolph was overpowered as the robbers forced an entrance and Phillips was taken by surprise when he stopped at the bakery to see Randolph. The handcuffed pair was discovered by another employe.

The money taken represented bakery collections. Randolph and Phillips were unable to furnish a description of the bandits.

Parents Blamed For Faults of Youth

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 13.—The present generation of young people is a product of present day family life, declared the Rev. C. M. Stewart, First United Presbyterian pastor. Their parents are more to blame than they are, he said.

Bank Will Build For Telephone Co.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 13.—Agreements have been entered into between the Farmers National Banw and the Bell Telephone Company whereby the bank will erect a modern office building for the telephone company in Eleventh street. The new building will occupy the site of the old burgess' offices.

DRY AGENT OUT OF U. S. SERVICE

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—John J. Quinn, former assistant prohibition director for the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia area, is no longer in the dry service, it was announced by Commissioner James M. Doran.

Quinn was demoted a short time ago to the position of agent after a board had investigated a list of charges against him. It was said at the time that his integrity was not involved, but the demotion was made because he "lacked executive ability." Quinn also was to be removed to a district far from Maryland, officials said.

Following the action of the board, Quinn was given a sick leave of 30 days which he spent in his home at Worcester, Mass. Doran did not say on what date Quinn's service with the prohibition unit ended.

JACOBY, STEEL LEADER, DIES

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—The death of William Lawall Jacoby, 56, steel and financial executive, in a hospital here, was made known yesterday. Pleurisy was the cause.

Jacoby was born in South Bethlehem, Pa., and was educated at Lehigh University whence he was graduated as a mechanical engineer at 18, the school's youngest. He was general manager of the Latrobe Steel Company, then organized and built the Inter-Ocean Steel Company plant in Chicago Heights. Later he became president of the American District Telegraph Company in New York and he served as vice president of the A. G. Becker & Co., banker.

Man's Head Driven Through Windshield

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 13.—When his automobile swerved sharply as he endeavored to free a wheel from a slippery street car rail, the machine crashed into a telephone pole and caused severe injuries to Joseph Pratt, of Mount Pleasant. His head went through the windshield.

Wales Joins Cheer As Ship Pays Tribute

ABOARD S. S. KENILWORTH CASTLE, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales, clad in shorts and a sweater, interrupted a strenuous game with the medicine ball to join other passengers in cheering the motorship Carnarvon Castle, homeward bound from Capetown.

The Carnarvon Castle deviated from her course, and made a semi-circle to cross the Kenilworth Castle's path in honor of the prince.

PORTES GIL MUM ON LAREDO

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—President Emilio Portes Gil in a press interview said that while the foreign office was discussing the situation at Laredo, Tex., where the Mexican consulate was closed, no agreement had yet been reached. He declined to discuss further the situation, which grew out of attempts to prosecute former President Plutarco Elias Calles on charges of murder.

Meanwhile the foreign office declines to shed any light on the status of conversations known to be going on with a representative of the United States government.

An official of the National Railways explained to reporters that the railway advertisement recommending that shippers consign goods by way of Matamoros, Juarez and Piedras Negras did not mean that the railway had placed an embargo on Laredo, but merely that the railway temporarily was in better position to handle goods through other ports of entry.

ALARM FALSE, FIREMAN DIES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—One fireman was killed and several others were injured, two seriously, in accidents to fire apparatus which were responding to alarms from boxes pulled indiscriminately by an unidentified person in South Philadelphia.

The man who lost his life was Paul Rein, 36. Samuel Deese, 45, and Daniel McGhee, 52, were so badly hurt it is feared they will not recover.

Deese and McGhee were hurt when engines from two companies responding to the first false alarm, collided at a street intersection. Firemen were thrown in every direction. A police bandit chaser car started to a hospital with Beese and McGhee, collided with an automobile and overturned. In this accident Beese and McGhee received fractured skulls and other injuries.

Hurt in the first collision, Hubert Bailey, 36, was taken to a hospital.

In the meantime other fire boxes in the neighborhood were pulled and police began a far-flung manhunt.

Banks' Head Dies, To Name Successor

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 13.—Action will be taken tomorrow at the annual stockholders' meeting of the combined First National-Dollar banks, with combined resources of $52,000,000, to choose a successor to President A. E. Adams, who died suddenly from pneumonia.

Myron Dennison is ranking vice president of the institutions. R. P. Hartshorn and Howard Parker are other active vice presidents.

'LUNG' TO AID HIGH FLIER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The navy's high-flying Lieutenant, Apollo Soucek, with a new hand-made, hand-operated auxiliary lung to help him breathe when he spirals upward more than 40,000 feet above the earth, is all ready for an attempt to recapture the world's altitude record.

He said today he might start on a record hop "the first good day that comes."

He will use the same Wright Apache that he flew 39,140 feet high for the world's land record last May—a month before he transformed the Apache into a seaplane and broke the record for that type of craft.

It is this plane he has equipped with the breathing apparatus which he designed when he realized he had to have some way of getting oxygen into his lungs up where the air pressure is so low that, without mechanical assistance, he would, willy-nilly, exhale constantly without ever being able to inhale. He thinks it is all he needs to exceed the mark, 41,760 feet, that the German, Willie Newhofen, reached last summer.

Lieut. Soucek hopes to "do better than 42,000 feet." Then, he said with a smile, "someone else will come along and do better, and we will have to try again."

And that, in the philosophy of the young, dark-haired, dark-eyed lieutenant, is the "beauty of it."

The new breathing apparatus consists of three bottles for "bonedry" oxygen, a two hours' supply, a system of copper pipes and rubber tubing, and an "exhaust" tube that is closed with the pilot's hand at regular intervals to stop the flow of oxygen from the lungs outward.

Fitting over the pilot's stick, the exhaust tube is attached to a casing enclosing the supply tubes running through the dashboard to the oxygen supply bottles, in back of the fuselage.

Fireman Injured At $3,000 Blaze

Fireman J. M. McCall, of No. 7 Engine Company, was removed to St. Francis Hospital early this morning, suffering lacerations of the face. He was cut by flying glass while fighting a fire in a vacant house at 2622 Smallman street. The cause of the fire is unknown. The house, a three-story brick, was damaged to the extent of $3,000.

Cocktail Invention Claimed by France

PARIS, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Cocktails, which Frenchmen once frowned upon as an American invention, are now so popular that French writers are claiming they originated in France. A newspaper writer says that Mary De Medici, famous queen who kept a well-stocked poison cabinet, is the true godmother of the modern mixed drink.

Auto Overturns, 3 Smothered In Robes

OSSEO, Minn., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Three persons killed Saturday night in their automobile while en route to a dance, were smothered to death, the county coroner said. They became tangled in robes and blankets when the car turned over after it had skidded off a snow-covered road near here. The coroner said they suffered no broken bones or other injuries serious enough to cause death. The victims were Bernard Kuklok, 23; his sister, Pauline, 22, and Marguerite Siedenkranz, 16, all of Osseo. The driver was Arthur Schimmelpfenig, a farm hand, living near here.

BILLS SEEK NEW ALIEN LIMIT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS.)—A fight to limit Canadian, Mexican and Latin-American immigration was opened today in the House by Representative Johnson (Rep.), of Washington, chairman of the House Immigration Committee and Representative Box (Dem.), of Texas, ranking Democrat.

The bi-partisan movement opened with introduction of bills by both and speeches in support of them.

The Johnson proposal is designed to limit this immigration to about 60,000 annually while Box makes the maximum 50,000 a year. More than 40,000 would go to Canada.

1 DIES, 15 HURT FIGHTING FIRE

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—A fireman was killed, 15 others were hurt and a factory and 15 houses were destroyed in a fire which threatened the entire northeast section of this city. Fire company officials said the loss would reach $300,000.

The factory destroyed was operated by the Spoont Manufacturing Company, makers of shirts. It was a four-story brick structure. About 75 people were employed there.

The fire broke out in the shirt factory. When the blaze was discovered by a resident who lived nearby, it had already spread over the entire building. A high wind fanned the flames and blew burning embers to the houses nearby. A flurry of snow and the intense cold made the work of the firemen precarious. Seven surrounding towns sent firemen to aid the local companies.

All the 15 houses destroyed were of frame construction, and most of them were two stories in height.

Frarnk Kurskimnski, 23, of this city, was the fireman killed. As he was battling the fire near the roof of the shirt factory, he lost his hold on an ice-coated rope, and fell 40 feet. He suffered a fracture of the skull. The other men hurt were injured by falls on the slippery ground. The firemen fought the blaze through most of the night before it was under control.

MURDER TRIAL DATE SET

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 13.—John Gidders, of Oil City, who spent a year in Western Penitentuary for shooting Desk Sergeant Walter Powell, of the Oil City police force, will be brought to trial for murder the last week of this month. Gidders is still in county jail following his escape from Warren asylum where he was sent temporarily until he could be accommodated at the Farview asylum.

A sanity board has declared the man was sane at the time of the shooting of Powell, who died several months after he was shot when Gidders broke jail on June 14, 1928.

... in a magician it's SKILL!

... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

IT takes more than cleverness to make a good cigarette. Taste is either there, or it isn't; deception plays no part.

We put taste first, in making Chesterfield. Tobaccos are chosen and blended for mildness, for aroma, for tobacco flavor; taste is always what counts.

And Chesterfield's huge popularity seems to prove that the same thing counts with smokers as with us—

CUBAN ENVOY BACK IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Dr. Orestes Ferrara, ambassador of Cuba, Senora De Ferrara, and the ambassador's secretary, Jose Sera, were back in the embassy after spending the holidays in Havana.

The ambassador was in excellent health after his short vacation in the sunny island republic to which he had gone after a strenuous early winter's work in Washington.

In addition to the multiplicity of governmental work which confronts the ambassador on his return, he and Senora De Ferrara will be plunged into the most active social season which has been seen in Washington for many years, due to the fact that all activities were suspended for a month in November and December because of the death of Secretary of War Good.

Invitations to various social affairs have mounted up on the ambassador's desk to a point which would necessitate his going to as many as 15 functions a day if he were able to accept them all.

The return of Ambassador Ferrara relieved Dr. Jose T. Baron, counsellor of the embassy, from the duties of charge d'affaires which he managed during his chief's absence.

Tri-Town Firemen Elect New Officers

VANDERBILT, Pa., Jan. 13.—The Tri-Town Community Volunteer Fire Department has elected D. J. Patterson, president. Other officers are Reinold Winterhalter, vice president; Wray T. Laird, secretary; Albert Gray, treasurer; Lester Barricklow, chief, and Frank Reed, assistant chief.

Letters Go 125 Miles to Town 1 Mile Off

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 13.—Establishment of a star route mail service from Waynesburg to Jefferson and Mather has revealed a situation in the mail service whereby letters posted in Mather, for Jefferson, one mile distant, were routed through Pittsburgh and returned, traveling 125 miles to reach their destination.

OIL STRUCK IN GREENE CO.

WASHINGTON, Pan., Jan. 13.—Some excitement has been caused in drilling circles over an oil strike made on the Barrackman farm, west of Mt. Morris, in Greene County, within three feet of the West Virginia line. The well flowed 50 barrels in the first 12 hours, with the pay in the Big Injun sand apparently just tapped.

The oil is of the highest grade Pennsylvania crude and C. C. Nuss and associates, of this city, who drilled the well, have 2,000 acres under lease, the Barrackman well being in almost the center.

The strike will likely lead to considerable drilling in the territory, which is considered a new field.

Child Badly Cut By Fall on Stairs

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., Jan. 13.—Falling down the cellar stairs of his home with a milk bottle in his arms, Walter Sutty, 5, was badly cut about the face and chest.

SIX LOSE LIVES IN HOME FIRE

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Six persons, five of them members of one family, were burned to death when fire destroyed the home of Wilson Long, 12 miles east of here.

All of the victims were asleep when the flames, believed to have been caused by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp, crept upon them.

The dead are Wilson Long, 46; his mother, Nancy Long, 78; his sister, Laura, 52; a daughter, Helen, 17; a son, Leroy, 4, and a friend, Leona Ewing, 14, who was spending the night with the family.

Investigation disclosed that Long's sister, who was an invalid, may have upset the lamp blamed for the tragedy and, due to helpless condition, found it impossible to spread an alarm.

The women and the girls all were sleeping on the ground floor. Long and his little son were in bed upstairs.

Apparently those on the first floor were suffocated in the dense smoke before they had an opportunity to save themselves or to warn Long. It was believed Long smelled smoke and started down the stairs with his child on his arm. Their bodies were found together at the bottom of the stairway.

The charred remains of the two women and one of the girls were removed from the smouldering ruins after the debris had cooled.

BUSINESS MAN TELLS INTERESTING STORY

MR. ROY A. SIEGELSEN

Wife certainly gave right advice

"A man in my business is subject to frequent colds and coughs, because he's constantly exposed to the weather," says Mr. Roy A. Siegelsen of 2912 35th Ave, Minneapolis. "Our winter's very long and cold and I'm busy delivering fuel all over the city. I had a bad cough this winter that nothing relieved. Then my wife said to take REM and it helped me at once. It's strange how she happened to hear of it. One day she had a very bad cough and a friend told her she had something to relieve her. My wife said she didn't believe anything would help that cough. Well, this friend gave her a dose of REM, and it gave her such quick relief that she went right away to the drug store and got herself a bottle of it. The good results she got from it sold me on it too."

POSSE RESCUES BOY IN HILLS

READING, Pa., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Wandering all night through the thickets of the Welsh mountains, southwest of Birdsboro, Denton Johnson, 3, was found yesterday after a search in which more than 300 neighbors, state police and Boy Scouts joined.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, accompanied its father Saturday afternoon on a wood-chopping expedition to a wood near their home in Trappe Rock. After an hour he and his sister, Mary 9, became cold and together started back to the house. But after they had gone a short distance, the girl says, her brother said, "I'm going back to daddy," and ran in that direction. She continued on to their home.

When the father returned in the evening the search for the child was started. Throughout the night it continued with the force of searchers recruited by neighbors from Birdsboro, state police from the West Reading barracks, and finally several hundred Boy Scouts were taken to the wild, overgrown hill country.

William Houck, of Kulpstown, found the child near his home, several miles from the place he left his sister. He was first attracted by cries, but the boy apparently was scared and kept quiet, until tracked down by footprints. Except for swollen feet, from the cold, and hands scratched from briers, it is believed the lad suffered no ill effects.

NOTED SURGEON DIES AT 62

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Dr. Carl A. Hamann, 62, fellow of the American College of Surgeons and ranked as one of the outstanding surgeons in the United States, died at Charity Hospital yesterday of heart disease. He had been ill three weeks.

Dr. Hamann, to whom credit is given for the placing of the Western Reserve University Medical School here on a high plane, retired as dean of the school of medicine in 1928.

Dr. Hamann was said to be one of Cleveland's greatest philanthropists and his colleagues say he had performed hundreds of major operations without making any charge.

He is survived by the widow and two children.

MONEY SHORT, OFFICIAL HELD

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—While Ralph J. Boyd, former city controller, remained in jail, unable to raise bail of $10,000, an audit of his accounts continued. Boyd, city officials said, admitted converting to his own use $12,610, and they expressed the opinion that a final checkup of the loss will not add materially to this figure.

At the direction of District Attorney Sumner V. Hosterman, a warrant was served on Boyd yesterday charging 10 counts of fraudulent conversion. No date has yet been set for his arraignment.

Boyd's term as city controller ended last Monday. He assumed the office last spring, upon the death of Samuel J. Shubrooks. Before becoming controller, Boyd for seven years had been city clerk.

The new Republican mayor, T. Warren Metzger, who first announced the discovery of the shortage, has expressed the opinion that the city is amply protected by Boyd's bond. Boyd was bonded by a surety company. When the shortage was first announced, only $6,000 was unaccounted for; the amount grew as the audit progressed.

District Attorney Hosterman has announced that the money had been taken from a sinking fund savings account which the city draws upon when money is needed. The district attorney quoted Boyd as declaring: "I am all alone. I took the money."

Borough's Fire Loss $100 in Single Year

DUNBAR, Pa., Jan. 13.—What is believed the lowest fire loss of any borough in Fayette County has been reported by Chief Harry Mitchell. The report shows an estimated loss of $100 for 1929, from six fires. The department responded to seven alarms outside the borough limits in which damage was $22,000. Two of the largest fires were not more than 100 feet outside the borough limits.

Man Tries Hanging, Balks As Witness

NEWARK, O., Jan. 13.—Alt Groom sold Albert Straight whisky. Police arrested Straight, who tried to hang himself rather than testify against Groom. He recovered in time to testify that he had bought the whisky.

Groom was fined $1,000 and costs, the heaviest liquor fine ever imposed here, and Straight was released.

VICTIM'S MOUTH GLUED BY ROBBERS

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

THE other day a young Negro visited the office of a Pittsburgh business man who happened to be out of the city. The Negro informed the business man's secretary that $400 worth of Scotch whisky which had been ordered by the absent executive was in a taxicab around the corner. The Negro wanted the money.

The secretary asked the visitor to wait a few minutes. The visitor waited, the secretary telephoned his boss in an eastern city and was told that the Negro was a faker.

The Negro sneaked away. But a few hours later he tried the offices of two other Pittsburgh business men who were out of town. He failed in each case because a warning against him had been spread from office to office.

Police are searching for the gentleman. If he is found he will be charged with falsely representing himself as the owner of $400 worth of Scotch whisky.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson's return to the news reminds one of his last visits to Pittsburgh. The explorer had recently returned from the Far North and was being interviewed by Pittsburgh reporters.

Seriously and politely, Stefansson had related incidents of his explorations. The interview seemed ended. Then an inspired reporter asked, "Do you like Eskimo Pie?"

"Eh?" Stefansson knitted his brow.

"Eskimo pie," the reporter repeated.

"I'm sorry," Stefansson apologized. "I'm not acquainted with the product."

THE sequel to the story is that the reporter had a manufacturer send Stefansson some Eskimo pie. The burning question, whether Mr. Stefansson liked the pie, we can't answer, but that's an old trick of ours. We carry you up the scales of a dramatic story such as this and then desert you in your hour of need. This is a cruel world.

Auxiliary Guests At Post Meeting

Will Rogers Says:

S. S. BREMEN, Jan. 13.

WHEN I was a little boy out in the old Indian territory, I remember seeing a sheriff disarm some men one time and it always fascinated me, but I had never seen it since, so when I got to New York last Friday and they told me they was going to disarm whole nations over in London next week, why I just grabbed the fastest thing there is, the Bremen, and now here I am away out in the middle of Lindbergh's ocean.

All the hired help are on President Wilson's old commuting boat, the George Washington. They left in December. We will pass them soon. I tried to get our captain to tow 'em in. I am feeling fairly good now, but if it gets rough you won't hear from me till I get my feet on some of the king's domain.

Yours,
WILL.

Happiness Prevails After Arrival of Stork

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Armed with happiness, love and youth, Tom Nicholson and Lovejoy Mason are married. Tom's salary is small. They take a tiny flat. To both marriage was a leap in the dark. For two years, before the marriage, Tom had been jealous of Steve Oglebay, rich and handsome bachelor. Downtown with her friend, Norrie Shane, Lovejoy meets Steve. Although Norrie refuses, Lovejoy goes alone to lunch with him. She sees Tom. Frightened she starts to leave. Tom's eyes are on her. Norrie Shane's arrival saves Lovejoy. In September, Tom and Lovejoy move to a suburb.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER V.

TOM and Lovejoy rented the little green bungalow in Stallings Lane on the last Saturday in August.

Like the Hewlett street flat, the green bungalow was furnished when they took it.

There were six rooms in it. A living room, a dining room and a kitchen which took up the north side of it. On the south side were two bedrooms and a bathroom.

Beyond the bathroom was a sun room.

It was because of the sun room that Lovejoy had wanted the little bungalow.

For the wall spaces of the sun room were covered with Old Mother Hubbard wall-paper and in one corner stood a small white bed—a baby's little bed.

On Monday—the first Monday in September—the young Nicholsons moved into the bungalow.

They were enchanted with it. "There's everything here that anybody could wish for," Lovejoy declared on Tuesday morning, as she stood in the little white-and-yellow kitchen, getting Tom's breakfast.

"Even a lawn-mower out in the garage," Tom called back from the bathroom, where he was shaving.

That was the beauty of the little bungalow. Roomy as it seemed to them after the Hewlett street flat, it was still so small that they could call to each other from room to room. It was a friendly little house.

Outside there was a yard of green grass edged with a white picket fence, and in one corner of the fence there was a small apple tree. The garage was covered with vines, and so was the back porch.

On Wednesday morning the telephone men came and put in a wall telephone.

They put it in just in the nick of time.

For at high noon Lovejoy, white and shaking and glistening with sweat, called up Tom at his office just as he was going out for lunch.

"Tom," she said, and then she began to sob into the telephone. She was almost beside herself with pain and terror. Terror of the hour that every woman dreads and longs for and dreams about from the time that she knows she is a woman.

She hung up the receiver and crept into the living-room to wait for him. Beside the armchair that stood by the front window were his house-slippers. Dark blue leather ones that Aunt Em had given him at Christmas time.

She was sitting in the armchair with one of the slippers held tight against her breast when Tom came tearing into the house a little later.

She seemed to see him through a mist when he came in.

Dimly she knew that he came up to her. Lifted her in his arms and carried her into their bedroom.

His voice seemed to come from a long way off when he told her that she ought to have telephoned Dr. Arnott and Aunt Em.

"You should have telephoned the doctor the very first thing," she heard him say as he laid her down on the bed. "You promised me that you'd call him the very minute you needed him . . ."

She tried to shake her head—Didn't he know that he meant more to her than a hundred doctors? She needed the doctor, of course. But she couldn't go through this agony without knowing that Tom was in the house with her . . . He was the important person.

There was a lamp burning in her room when she opened her eyes, and beside it sat a woman all in white.

It was a long time before she could figure out who that woman was. But at last she did.

"Norrie," she said thickly. "Norrie."

What was Norrie Shane doing here, she wondered dimly, in this room that belonged to herself and Tom?....And Tom, where was Tom?

The door opened and he came in.

He reached the bed before Norrie did. He dropped down on his knees beside it and laid his face down against one of Lovejoy's hands. She knew that he was crying.

And then, like a flash, it all came back to her....the memory of that afternoon with its terror and its red-hot pain that had been like fire eating into her flesh.

"The baby," she said in that same low, thick voice, and looking up, she saw that Norrie was bending over her with a small white bundle in her arms.

She laid it down on the bed beside her, and Lovejoy turned her head to look at it. Dark against the white pillow, was a tiny face, and tucked against it were two bits of baby hands.

She smiled at them as they began to move gently and feebly in the air.

"Thomas Nicholson, Junior," came Aunt Em's brisk voice from the doorway. "What d'you think of him, anyway?"

From the note of pride and triumph in her voice you would have thought that the baby belonged to Aunt Em, herself.

"As fine a child as I ever saw," answered another voice from the darkness. A deep, man's voice—Dr. Arnott's.

Lovejoy wished that they would all go away . . . all but Tom. She wanted to be alone with him and the baby, so that they could tell each other how happy they were.

On Sunday morning, while Norrie was giving Lovejoy her breakfast, the front door bell rang.

"Here's the doctor," Norrie exclaimed, flushing, and hurried out of the room.

She always flushed when the doctor came in and spoke to her. She flushed when Tom or any other man spoke to her.

There was nothing coy about Norrie, however. She was genuinely and painfully shy.

But it was not Dr. Arnott who had rung the door bell.

Lying against her pillows with her cup of hot weak tea in her hand, Lovejoy heard a light gay, girlish voice talking to Norrie in the front of the house.

"I'm Mrs. Alderson," it said, running along like a stream of sunny water. "I live in the next street and Dr. Arnott,

FRAUD REPORT FOR OFFICIALS

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, the county commissioners and the judges of common pleas court today, probably will receive copies of Attorney Ward Bonsall's report of the special recount board, in which it is charged that frauds were committed by many election boards at the September primary last year.

Copies are to be given the officials by Attorney A. M. Imbrie, chairman of the election fraud committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association. Attorney Imbrie had photostatic copies made of the Bonsall report.

Attorney Bonsall served as chairman of the special recount board for the primaries. His report charges that McArdle should have been given the Republican nomination over Muldowney, in their race for council. The report points out that there is sufficient evidence for prosecution. In 1927 the report of Bonsall was used as a basis for prosecution and almost 200 persons were convicted of election frauds.

FIREMEN NAME BRENTWOOD

Brentwood has been selected for the annual convention of the Allegheny County Volunteer Firemen's Association to be staged next June. This was decided at a meeting in the Brentwood Park shelter house Saturday night, when 350 delegates were present.

The association is still holding benefits throughout the county to assist the families of four Stowe Township volunteer firemen who were killed Christmas night, 1928, while going to a fire in Heidelburg. Officers of the association are Ray McPherson, Sewickley, president; A. H. Leck, Stowe Township, secretary, and Mark Roberts, Carrick, treasurer.

A turkey banquet will be served, after which there will be entertainment and dancing. Bertha W. Smith is general chairman.

474 Millions in Projects for N. Y. State

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—New York state's answer to President Hoover's plea for public construction to help guarantee prosperity is a $474,184,000 public works program, Gov. Roosevelt wrote Secretary of Commerce Lamont. This includes state, city and county projects.

Of the total, $94,610,357 represents state financed projects, a $22,422,057 increase over 1929. City construction totals $329,574,137. Fifty-four of 57 counties outside New York City will spend $41,090,948. The state also will expend $10,000,000 bond receipts for general improvements.

Public buildings, roads, schools and sewers are included in the construction program.

YOUGH PROJECT TO BE HEARD

Col. Jarvis J. Bain, United States district engineer, will preside at a public hearing in the Federal Building next Monday, at which time manufacturers and businessmen of the Youghiogheny valley will ask for early improvements on that river. Congressman Nathan L. Strong of Brookville, Pa., is leading the fight for improvements for the stream. Congressmen Kandall and Wyant are also interested.

Congressman Strong is a member of the House committee on rivers and harbors, and also is president of the Allegheny River Improvement Association. He states that there are at least 15 waterways in Western Pennsylvania which are large enough to be improved for barge transportation.

HOLT TO HELP Y. W. C. A. DRIVE

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., will be one of the speakers at a dinner Thursday night, which opens the budget appeal of the Young Women's Christian Association. MAN DOPED BY AUTO BANDITS

City Sleuths Busy Running Down Suspects in Three Holdups and Six Robberies

City detectives today were investigating three holdups and six robberies which were reported to them last night.

Clarence Shearer, 37, of 2225 Charles street, who was found unconscious in the rear of a house in Beach avenue late last night, told police, they said, after he was revived at the Allegheny General Hospital, that he had been chloroformed by two men who robbed him of $110.

Shearer's mouth was glued shut with adhesive tape and his thumbs bound behind him with the same material.

BANDITS ROB STORE

According to his story to police, Shearer met the two men in an automobile in the North Side Saturday morning and left with them for Cleveland. Upon their return to Pittsburgh last night, the strangers seized, chloroformed and robbed him, Shearer said. After receiving medical aid at the hospital the victim was taken to his home.

Two armed bandits walked into the confectionery of Thomas Campbell, at 7734 Susquehanna street, and held up Angelo Varolotta, 18, a clerk. While one covered the boy with a revolver his accomplice looted the cash register of $55. They escaped in an automobile.

While walking near his home early yesterday, George Wright, of 944 Ridge avenue, was confronted by a highwayman who robbed him of a watch valued at $50 and $3.50 in cash.

A case containing bill folds, pipes, cigaret lighters and watches valued at $500 was stolen from an automobile owned by the Federal Tobacco Company, 644 Grant street, while it was parked near the company's store yesterday.

A gown valued at $125 and [illegible] handbags worth $50 were s[illegible] from an outside showcase of K[illegible] man-Looby Company, at 627 Penn avenue, detectives were informed.

From the home of Mrs. E. Cramer, rear of 3455 Forbes street, $25 in cash and six shirts valued at $27 were stolen, according to police.

Breaking into the home of J. R. Woodward, at 6207 Sellers street, thieves last night ransacked the house and escaped with two revolvers and a watch all valued at $110.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Some wives are good cooks but have little physical charm; while others can not cook but have beauty. Which of the two types do husbands like better?

E. D. CLARK, South Hills, store manager: "The husband of moderate income who cannot afford to hire a cook depends upon his wife to produce decent fare. If she fails in this she automatically drops in his estimation, regardless of her beauty. If she is a good cook and also good looking so much the better. Remember the song 'My Stars, How Dot Voman Could Cook?'"

E. D. Clark

MARIE SHIRLEY, West End, clerk: "The pretty and attractive wife has the best chance of holding her husband. Even if she can't cook there are plenty of places where they can eat. I suppose in the old times it was almost a necessity for a woman to cook well in order to retain her hubby's love. Soft eyes and the form do it today."

Miss Shirley

A. SACKMAN, West End, solicitor: "I'll take the good cook for mine. No matter how beautiful a woman may be she is certain to drop in her husband's opinion if she cannot make a good meal. A man may become used to a beautiful wife and take her beauty as a matter of course. He can't take poorly cooked meals that way, for food is a necessity; while beauty is a passing thing.

A. Sackman

ANN PIRT, East End, saleslady: "The ideal wife, of course, is the wife who can both cook and look beautiful. If she can't be both she had better be beautiful. Our husbands like tasty food, but are there other things they care more for? Yes, I think there are. The coy eyes, the shining hair and graceful curves—that is what brings them home at nights."

Miss Pirt

A. J. KELLY, East End, seller: "The good cook has the advantage. She will also be a good housekeeper and manager. There are many homes broken up just because some wives spend their time before the looking glass. It is too bad that younger men do not give their stomach some consideration when thinking of marriage. When the knot is tied it is too late."

A. J. Kelly

HELENE KLEE, East End, Clerk: "If an unattractive wife can cook she would spoil her husband's appetite at the table. No man can enjoy a meal, no matter how good, if he is compelled to cast his eyes upon a nightmare across the board. The pretty woman will convince nice 'daddy' to fill his 'tummy' at a place where poppy-seed rolls and good music make life and marriage something to yearn for."

Miss Klee

'Bring Your Own Pet,' Crandall's Latest

Prof. Milton D. Crandall is breaking out again.

The title of the Professor's newest effort is "Bring Your Own Pet Show," and it will open at Motor Square Garden Monday, January 27.

Not only that—Prof. Burt, world's champion endurance pianist, will defend his royal title against 10 Pittsburgh challengers.

And besides—there will be a squad of gorgeous young women engaging in a six-day bicycle race, Prof. Crandall promises.

Prof. Crandall has set up headquarters in Motor Square Garden, where he is receiving the applications of the owners of such pets as cats, dogs, canaries, owls, monkeys, squirrels, gold fish, or what have you?

Because of the outbreak of parrot fever, Prof. Crandall, a noted humanitarian, is considering barring all parrots from the show, unless the parrots are able to boast a clean bill of health.

The promoting professor will be remembered as the gentleman who brought attention to Pittsburgh by his marathon dances. The marathons which he conducted here, first downtown and then at Motor Square Garden, started the craze which spread to all parts of the country.

Two Die, Three Hurt When Car Crashes Into Trolley on North Side; Youth Victim

Five men are dead and 10 persons are in hospitals today as a result of automobile accidents in the Pittsburgh district. Four were killed yesterday and another died from injuries suffered Friday.

Yesterday's automobile fatalities brought a total of 21 during the last week, according to Deputy Coroner Robert D. Newman.

Eugene Zink, 45, of 504 North avenue, and G. C. Suess, 27, of 500 Mary street, both of Millvale, suffered fatal injuries, and their three companions were seriously injured late yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding crashed head-on with a street car in East Ohio street, near the Thirty-first Street Bridge, late yesterday. Zink died in the Allegheny General Hospital and Suess succumbed in St. Francis Hospital several hours after the accident.

DRIVER IN HOSPITAL

Frank Kirwin, 37, of R. F. D. No. 4, Millvale, driver of the machine, is in the Presbyterian Hospital, and R. D. McCutcheon, 32, of 15 Howard street, and W. J. Stutch, 33, both of Millvale, the other occupants of the machine, are in the West Penn Hospital.

Kirwin passed the car on the left, near the Thirty-first Street Bridge, and collided head-on with another Millvale car. John Fryer, motorman of the car, suffered cuts on the arms. He was ordered to appear at the coroner's office today.

PEMBERTON SCHOOL CLASSICAL DANCERS IN STEPS AT MIRRORING POOL NEAR WASHINGTON MONUMENT IN THE CAPITAL

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman

This scene happens in thousands of homes every night of the year: children left alone, parents off to the movies, to a dance, to make whoopee.

Ususally nothing happens. When something does, you read the headline, "Parents at Party; Child Burns."

A charred little body greets the father and mother, returning from an evening of pleasure.

There is not much pleasure in that homecoming.

You may blame parents for their "criminal carelessness." You also should pity them. They will need pity, nearly as much as the child they have unwittingly condemned to death.

If you have a child, think of this little picture the next time you plan an evening out.

HAS NO FEAR OF 'BAD MEN'

Eastern "bad men" don't mean a snap of the finger, not even two or three snaps, to Bob Limbert, who hails from the jagged peaks of the Sawtooth Mountains out in Idaho.

Let holdup men and gun jugglers beware that Bob is the world's champion exhibition revolver shot. While sojourning in these parts, hanging his holsters in the Fort Pitt Hotel, Limbert is giving exhibitions before various sportsmen's clubs and police organizations.

But while Bob can toss an ordinary four-ounce bottle in the air and shoot through the neck to knock out the bottom without breaking the sides, let it be known he's just as adept at defending himself against a threatening firearm. They are simple twists of the wrist to Bob, but he can dart his upraised hand to the pointed revolver, and control the situation without any lost motion. That's why Eastern "bad men" are his least worry.

Bob, who lives 71 miles from the nearest railroad and with wild game for his neighbors, can offer many crack shot tricks. Picture a common pin tossed into the air and Bob hitting it with a bullet. Bob will be showing the North Side Elks how to do it tonight. Tarentum sports men will be his host tomorrow night.

E. Herron, of 7002 Kedron avenue, and A. M. McAuly, of Oakmont, members of the American Radio Relay League, who picked up messages.

MINOT, N. D., Jan. 12.—The second major lesson of the First Pursuit Group, winter maneuvers, was learned this morning when pilots endeavored to start their planes in a temperature of around 20 below zero. The rear end of the crank case of one plane was torn out by the starter because the motor was too cold to turn over.

The group waited for transport to arrive with heaters. One Ford transport and Douglas transport arrived this afternoon. Also Lieut. Rodgers' pursuit plane which was delayed at Grand Forks, with damaged ski. Douglas' transport forced down about 25 miles East of Minot, with broken oil line. Line repaired and plane proceded to Minot, breaking right axle on landing.

No trouble anticipated. We are proceding in morning with 17 pursuit planes and one Ford transport.

(Signed) Lt. Harrington.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

The decomposed body of a woman, apparently middle-aged, was found at the foot of Chateau street in the Ohio River, late yesterday by William Dempsey, of 1126 Metropolitan street.

The body was taken to the morgue, where it was said to have been in the water between six and eight months. Morgue officials had little hope of identifying it.

Almost all of the clothing had been torn away by the action of the water, and both hands and a foot were missing. The head bore numerous lacerations, it was said. A black oxford and undergarments were the only clues to her identity.

Deputy coroners and police are investigating to determine whether the woman had been murdered, but the belief was expressed that the body may had become caught between barges and brought down the river from some point either on the Allegheny or Monongahela.

MYSTERY SEEN IN SHOOTING

Officials at Columbia Hospital, Wilkinsburg, said today that the condition of John Eckert, Jr., 24, of 343 Larimer avenue, Turtle Creek, who was found suffering from a bullet wound, Saturday, was good.

County Detective Thomas Calig, who questioned Eckert at the hospital, said the man told him he shot himself because of domestic trouble. He has a bullet in his lung.

Turtle Creek police had no official report on the shooting, they said. Detective Calig questioned Eckert's story because of the nature of the wound, which, he said, was such that it would be almost impossible for the man to have shot himself.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in United States District Court today appointed H. M. Oliver receiver for Sully's, Inc., auto accessories dealers, on petition of three creditors who charge preference of one creditor over another.

Oliver is associated with the Credit Association of Western Pennsylvania. Bond was fixed at $16,000. Sully's, Inc., has two stores, one at 420 Wood street, and the other at 5900 Penn avenue.

The appointment was made on petition of the Butler Chain Company, Butler, Pa.; Hackett Products Company, Providence, R. I., and the Narragansett Machine Company, of Providence.

They allege that the concern, while insolvent, paid $104 to the Dyke Motor Supply Company, a creditor, with intent to prefer the company over other creditors.

At the hearing Sully's liabilities were placed at $60,000 and the assets at $16,000.

Pittsburgh Hens Lead In Laying Test

When Pittsburgh pullets begin to lay they leave no doubt as to where the championship should rest for egg production.

Ten pedigreed white Leghorn pullets are leading entries from throughout the country in a production test being made at the University of Maryland. The entries were made by two brothers, Walter and Frank Ehmann, owners of a poultry farm on Butler Pike, Alison Park.

The tests, which will continue for one year, opened November 1. For the two periods ending December 26, the Ehmann pen captured both blue ribbons denoting highest egg production. In that time the 10 pullets laid 469 eggs. Their total on January 2, still in the lead, was 530 eggs, with the closest runner-up being 482.

Ehmanns have been running their poultry farm for 10 years. They have 1,600 pedigreed pullets and 800 pedigreed breeders. Even the record set at College Park, Md., is being surpassed by two pullets that stayed at home. Both are tied for honors with 67 eggs in 71 days. Besides the most modern pens, the Ehmann farm boasts of a 7,200-egg incubator, hot water heated. They trap their hens six times each day so no pullet can shirk its work.

Guy Takes Pat and Billie Back to the Ones They Love

CHAPTER LVI.

PAT sank in the mellow, golden light, sank in the happy dream. With closed eyes, conscious only of a great, enfolding sweetness, of an infinite gentle strength, as though she was half sleeping with the sun about her. Now came dew, cold, refreshing dew dropping on her face, and the voice that called through the dream: "Pat—oh, little, little Pat!"

She murmuring vaguely so that it seemed a distant song, "Guy? Is it Guy?"

She was drawn close. His laughing sob rang in wild tenderness against her cheek.

Neither spoke. Neither could speak. Guy knelt there with one arm about Pat and the little boy. He knelt and looked upon them. In the flashlight his face was like a god's. To Pat, a glory about it, and in his eyes such a wonder of love, of humility and thankfulness that, looking into them, she wept.

She said giddily: "Oh, dear, dear God—Guy!"

The little boy turned his face against Pat's arm. Trying desperately to keep back sobs, "But where's my mother? I thought you said my mother's come."

Guy gave a laugh. "She sent me for you. Your mother's waiting, Bill. And we're going to her—you and us. I'm taking you out of this place right now. I've something for you here."

"Water? I want a drink. My throat feels tigh.."

The child's hand trembled eagerness: "Can I take a big drink—all I want?"

"All you want, soldier!"

It sent a pang through Guy's thought, the piteous joy of the little lad when the water was raised to his lips. He leaned down and poured brandy in Pat's mouth. He said with a gulp: "I guess you suffered, dear! Now you have to walk. I'll carry Billy. The ceiling's low. You must have crept in. Can you make it? Oh, love—oh, sweet."

She met his joyous, brimming eyes. She put her hand on his arm, thrilled by the good rough feel of his sleeve. And all her weariness was gone. She could have walked from the depths of earth to its heaven.

She heard the mumble of Billy's voice: "Not fooling me, Guy? Is my mother really coming? Soon? Right now?"

"In the morning, Bill. I'm taking you to her."

"Will THEY see us. They're BAD. WILL THEY let us go?"

"You bet they will!"

"Feel of his face, Guy—it's so hot." Pat whispered.

He flung back softly: "Only thirst, Pat dear." He paused and turned the light full on her: "Oh, brave—are you all right?"

She pressed against his sleeve. Then they went on, stooping because the gallery was narrow and its vault low. They came into the wider avenue, down there where the black pit ended it.

He swept his free arm with the light about her and hurried her from the forbidding spot.

"You saw the pit, Guy?"

"I saw it . . ."

His trembling arm held her fast. "Don't look at it, Pat. Don't think of it."

As they went on, he turned now and then with a queer, throaty laugh: "Are you with me, Eurydice? You won't vanish again?"

Thrilling as the young Greek god he moved in the darkness. He had the boy raised in his arms. A nobler Orpheus he seemed to Pat—brought to her in these frightening depths by a very music of love. She would follow always—through any dark. They would never be parted again.

"See—your little mounds of earth. Pat, did you leave those mounds?"

"Yes, I—"

He caught her to him—he let her feel the tears on his cheeks. He said: "I could have prayed when I saw them first."

She answered choking: "I thought of you—that you would come, Guy. And I left the marks for you."

He thought then that no suffering he might ever feel would be too great; no pain too hard to have won such trust, such holy adoring love as Pat's eyes looking in his now yielded. He kissed them with a sense of uplifting awe; of living, sacred beauty.

"Are we out of the cave? Really out of it? You won't run back with me, Pat?"

"She'll never do that again, Bill!" Guy laughed and settled the little boy in Pat's lap. He went down to the ravine, gathered drift and made a great, blazing fire. Then he took out the sandwiches and coffee.

Billy clapped his hands. "Can I have some? Pat, will he give me some?"

She could cry now. She didn't care that Guy would see her tears. She said choking: "Oh, he's an angel, Guy—dear, brave little boy—"

"But can I have the sandwich, Pat? All of it? It's chicken!"

Guy mixed water with the canned milk. He added a few drops of the brandy and coaxed Billy to drink. They wrapped him in Guy's sweater.

"Now you sleep, Bill. Tomorrow we climb a mountain. . . . then we fly—quick as the wind. Then we see your mother. But first you've got to sleep—"

"Yes, I will. You're not fooling me. I'll see her?" His trembling, small form nestled against Pat's arm. For a long while a smile loitered on his lips. Pat smoothed the soft, gold hair. She stooped down and kissed his forehead. She felt her heart almost breaking in its happiness.

The fire threw a tall, eerie glow against the darkness. There was no moon—but from this deep abyss they looked up to a million stars.

They sat here in the encompassing shadows holding to each other's hand and whispering. So much they had to tell; so much that was too stabbing sweet to tell. Deep, trembling silences drew them in piercing communion.

The feeling that a miracle was wrought; the sense of guidance and of strength far greater than her own was now so strongly upon her that she spoke of it to Guy.

The towering canyon walls that had seemed so awful in their dark colossal remoteness; so terrifying in their vast, unechoing silence, were now all struck with grandeur; with mighty awe and majesty. She whispered: "One feels God here. One knows that only infinite imagination could have wrought this sublime, titantic sculpture I know—Oh, Guy, I know that I was helped!"

She slept with her face resting on his knee. He looked often at the sweet, almost childlike profile. There was a smudge of black on her cheek—her long lashes were wet and her hair was all uncombed.

Yet he thought that nowhere in picture or statue had he seen such loveliness, such sweet, brave beauty as dwelt in Pat's half-opened lips and on her smooth young forehead. He parted the hair with his hand. He leaned over her and kissed the part.

Guy shook the almost prostrate form of the man slumped there at the tree. He gave him coffee to drink.

"Is the trail we took down the only one?"

"It's the shortest. That's what you wanted. There's another. It's easier—but twice as long."

"We'll take that."

Then Sheik said, drinking the coffee but not looking at Guy: "I can carry the kid—you can take the girl . . ."

"Thanks. I'll carry him. The girl can make it on her own. I guess you learned that!"

He raised Billy to his shoulders. He said: "Hold fast, soldier. Keep looking straight ahead." Then he gave Pat the pistol. "Now, Montgomery, you lead—Pat, you go second—Plug right along—ready?"

It smote him that he had to ask this of her. But she turned and gave him a young, radiant smile. She said: "I could climb thin air. I know I could!"

But he was glad they didn't have those steps—those mad, plunging steps to climb.

It was early—the sun just up. Wherever the trail was easy, Pat turned and made some happy comment. Oh, look at that color—that glorious flame on the bluffs—

"Go on—Pat, dear—save your strength."

She could not. She was too glad. When the trail turned into that narrow shelf, she went on hugging the wall, praying, asking frightened: "Guy, you're just behind ..... hold Billy—hold him tight ....."

"I will! There soon!"

And at last they could see the wings of the plane—at last they were on the overhanging ledge. He let her stop here. He set the boy down and whispered, in half-sobbing laugh: "In a few hours, Pat..... Your mother will be there .... I'm sure she'll be there!"

Sheik gave him an imploring glance: "Tying me up for the flight? Elliott, I'm straight—I won't try anything."

"Don't—the girl is holding the pistol. She'll use it if you try the slightest trick. Get in and stay in this corner—right here."

He said to Pat: "I don't trust him. We can't. Keep the pistol level."

She answered: "Yes!" But she laughed and tucked Billy in the corner: "We'll see our mothers soon!"

They were waiting at Kingman. As Guy landed he leaned from the cockpit and made out a group.

On the fringe of the little crowd he saw the blonde, shining hair of Lee Templeton and the huge, lumbering form of the detective, Tim Chase.

The group broke. It came running toward him. The first to reach the cabin's side was William Bryce. In that moment Guy didn't even recall that he had a grudge against the man. He saw only the tears on a father's face.

He put out a swift hand; he said with breaking voice: "I have them. We have them back!"

"Bless you! God bless you, lad!"

Then Guy got out and took Billy. The boy was frantic at the sight of his mother. He clung to Pat. But Guy lifted him: "Come, soldier—you see we were not fooling. There's your mother—your dear, dear mother."

He looked in Barbara's eyes as he gave the child to her. She swayed and he steadied her with his arm. For an instant she met his glance, then bowed her head and wept against her little child's. "I don't deserve it, Guy!"

He laughed. Everything and everyone seemed shining with beauty; with overpowering, gentle sweetness.

Even Tim Chase. The huge fellow pointed to his jaw with a sheepish "Fine lad you are!"

Guy gave an uproarious, hysterical laugh. "Sorry—I worried about that."

Chase came near: "Proud of it! Say, can I take care of Jim while the honeymoon's on?"

"Aren't you taking me back to jail?"

"Guess you'll have to find another boarding house—charges dismissed—whole case gone up in smoke . . . Tom Burns—oh, you've not heard of that—that's so . . . Well, you're free—and proud I am to tell you."

Pat was lost in her mother's arms. They could never have enough of each other. Pat whispered to Laura's yearning heart: "It was my father who saved me. Oh, mother dear, it was your Richard who brought me back. So clear I saw his face that at the last I thought I died. He who gave me courage, who urged, 'Jump—you can!' I felt my father near. All along he hovered near."

Laura wept. They told each other things like this till Dickie wedged between them; till he came with a truculent: "Say—you two—say, I'm here! Well, hello, Miss Pat! How are you?"

Two big tears trickled down his cheeks. He flung himself in Pat's arms and openly let her hug him. He said: "Gee! W almost died."

"I knew it! You'll appreciate me from henceforth, Mr. Dickie!"

"Aw, go on! Didn't I always let you boss me?"

Saturday afternoon—the first Saturday in November, Pat and her mother were in the garden. They were waiting for Guy. A machine drove up. All the Bryces got out. . . . Billy ran and caught Pat's hands: "I've come to visit you. Are you glad?"

Then William Bryce was holding her hand in both of his. And after many half-smothered words he said, "Does the lad really forgive me?"

"Of course."

"Then you know I've signed back all the patents to him. He's free to take the other job. They'll pay him for the rights. I've arranged that. He wouldn't! No money sense—but he'll get the worth from Botfield. That much, at least, I can do .... Pat—little girl, he should take the rewards—that money I pledged."

She gave a high laugh: "Why, Mr. Bryce—can you pay me to save my adopted child? That's what your Billy is. And is there money enough to pay for a lady like me? Oh, we are paid—we are all richly paid."

"Pat—my dear Miss Pat—you will take a gift from Billy? You will take the plane Guy used to find you? From your adopted child."

She looked in the man's beseeching eyes: "Why, yes—I think I can most gaily take it .... and many, many thanks."

He looked over the garden where the asters were blooming—where all was the gold and purple glory of rich chrysanthemums: "I could wish to give this to your valiant mother."

"No!"

"But she must let me redeem myself, Miss Pat. You know I've a right to find my soul, too, haven't I? Well, I've bought the mortgages. They were for sale, you know. And she shall pay them off as I see fit. That's business—isn't it? And you'll all live here together, Pat."

Pat gave a laugh. She pressed his hands. "It sounds entrancing sweet."

She told it to Guy. She drew his face down and kissed his forehead where the scar that told how brave he'd always been made its immortal mark. "You are not angry I took the plane?"

"All that you do is right—I see it so."

"What shall we do now, then?".

"Live happy, sweet Pat—happy ever after."

Poor Man, Rich Girl in Triangle Is Often Tragic, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

ONE of the most unfair triangles is that in which a rich girl, for the fun and thrill of it, encourages a poor young man to fall in love with her.

It is true there have been real and happy romances between such, but I speak now of those girls who are not serious, but delight in leading such a boy on for the fun of it.

Boys,, as well as girls, dream of romance and there is always the idealistic love story of the poor young man who marries the boss's daughter and is taken into the firm.

The tragedy is that for this frivolous girl, of fascinating importance, the young man will sacrifice the girl he loved and was planning to marry.

LOVEJOY

:: By BEATRICE BURTON

who's my neighbor, tells me there's a new baby over here. So I just brought these. . . ."

There was a pause, and then came Norrie's voice.

"Thank you so much. I'll give them to Mrs. Nicholson."

"I'd love to see the baby if I could. I perfectly adore little babies," Mrs. Alderson said next. "But I suppose it's too little to be bothered just yet. I'll come again some time soon. . . ."

"Norrie!" Lovejoy called out. "Ask Mrs. Alderson to come in now, won't you?. . . The baby's not asleep."

She was eager to see the owner of that lovely young voice. If she were just half as sweet as her voice, she would be terribly attractive, Lovejoy told herself. And wouldn't it be wonderful to have some neighbors.

"Come in, Mrs. Alderson," she called, and a second later the prettiest girl that Lovejoy had ever laid eyes on came into the room.

She was all white and gold. Burnished gold hair tucked up under a white felt hat. White skin without a bit of color in it. A wide red mouth and a pair of dancing eyes that were so light a brown that they seemed almost gold color.

She wore a white flannel dress, and her arms were full of yellow baby chrysanthemums.

She dumped them down upon the bed, and held out her hand to Lovejoy.

"I live just behind you on Mandalay drive," she said. "I saw you and your husband in your yard the other day, and I thought you were mighty attractive. . . . Nurse, don't you think you ought to put those flowers into a vase?"

She picked up the flowers once more and put them into Norrie's arms.

"I just adore babies," she went on. "I haven't any of my own, although I've been married for six years. . . . Well, I suppose I'll get 'round to it one of these days. My husband would love one, I know. . . ."

She chattered on and on until Norrie came back with the vase of flowers in her hands and set it on the table.

Then she went into the sun room, and took a look at the baby.

"Your child is too sweet for words," she called in to Lovejoy, on her way out of the house. "Good-by . . . I'll see you soon."

"I hope she does," Lovejoy told Norrie when she was gone. "I liked her, didn't you?"

Norrie shook her mouse-colored head.

"No, I didn't," she said shortly. "And I didn't believe her when she said she adored babies. . . . She had a big police dog that she tied up to a tree before she came in. Women who adore babies don't spend their time taking police dogs out to see the sights. . . . I think she's a fourflusher and a fake."

Right from the beginning she had no use for Mrs. Alderson.

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Harry Takes Charge of Arrow and Mysterious Message

EXCEPT for that single frightened exclamation from Princess Olina's lips, absolute silence followed the whiz of the arrow past us and its fall at our feet. If it had not been for the bizarre circumstances in which we were living, and the menace to Prince Georges which was constantly before us, I should have been but slightly startled and should have explained the presence of the arrow by the theory that some youngster, rashly practicing archery, had shot it from a neighboring roof.

But with my knowledge of the desperate men who were planning the attempt on Prince Georges' life, and whom Harry Underwood hoped to entrap, I shared Olina's panic at the sight of the slender thing which lay at our feet with the twist of paper just under its head.

But I knew that fright must have no place in my scheme of things for a little while. The arrow scarcely had come to rest before I was on my feet with a whispered admonition to Olina.

"Sit perfectly still and say nothing."

I rose from my seat and making no effort to pick up the arrow, I walked to the coping which surrounded the roof, and from its vantage point made a swift scrutiny of the building back of us from one of which the missile must have come.

Solid, impenetrable, a wall of stone, the side of a large building raised itself with no single window in sight, from which anything could have been aimed at us. It was the only building anywhere in the neighborhood which topped the hotel, and even its roof afforded no single vantage place for a marksman.

With a little shiver I realized that the missile must have come from somewhere on the hotel roof itself which held along its sides a number of charming bungalow studios. There were a number of windows from which the arrow might have come, but I knew that not one of them was held by a stranger. They were all occupied by tenants of long leases and irreproachable reputations. Nevertheless, I carefully scanned all the windows, finding them all either closed or protected by carefully fastened wire screens. No human being save ourselves was in sight, and with a sudden eerie little feeling, I returned to the bench where Olina was sitting motionless, her hands folded tensely in her lap, her eyes fixed upon the arrow as if it held a hypnosis for her.

I stopped and swept it from the floor, noticing with approval that though Olina shivered, she heeded my request to say nothing. Then I spoke casually.

"Let us go back," I said.

She rose instantly, and still in silence walked beside me to the stairs that led from the roof to the top floor of the hotel. Common sense told me that we need fear no personal injury in so public a place, but I drew a deep breath of relief when the elevator boy responded to my ring, and we descended prosaically and safely to our own floor.

Olina did not speak until we were in our own apartment.

Oh! what do you think it is?" she queried. "It wasn't an attempt to injure us, was it?"

"I'm sure it is a message of some sort," I said, indicating the piece of twisted paper just under its head.

"Aren't you going to examine it?" she said, looking curiously at the missile in my hand.

"This doesn't lie in my province," I told her. "Of course it may be nothing but the result of a boy's prank, some one who shot the arrow, at an entirely different target, missed his aim and hid, panic-stricken when he realized how nearly he had come to hitting us. But with this affair of Prince Georges in the offing, I can't afford to take any chance of examining it. Mr. Underwood is in charge of this attempt to trap the men who are planning to kill Georges. This may be a clue. You may have noticed that I picked it up gingerly and carried it in the same careful way."

"There's nothing explosive about it, is there?" she asked wide-eyed.

"No, but there might be fingerprints," I replied, "although I know the notion is far-fetched. But one takes nothing for granted when working with the Underwoods."

Harry Underwood took nothing for granted, either, when he heard my story. He handled the arrow as gingerly as I had done, and before taking it into his own room he issued a stern ultimatum.

"No one must go to the roof alone, no one, until I find out where this thing came from."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Beware of Whooping Cough

THIS is the season when whooping cough makes its appearance. We are always disturbed when we hear the mere mention of an epidemic of anything. Almost every winter, in every community, there will be a more or less invasion of the schools by this or some other disease.

DR COPELAND

Whooping cough is believed by some scientists to be due to a germ called the "bacillus pertussis." This big name has a dreadful sound, but although the ailment is an uncomfortable one, it is not necessarily dangerous. This is true if the patient has the best of care both during the run of the disease and during convalescence.

It is natural to think of whooping cough as exclusively a disease of childhood. As a matter of fact some of the worst cases I ever saw were those in grown persons. For an older person it may be a very serious trouble.

Whooping cough begins like a cold, with a running nose and redness of the eyes. There is likely to be fever and a dry, hard cough.

It is essential that the patient rest in bed during the acute stage and that he have fresh air day and night. He should have the sunniest room in the house, and be separated from the rest of the family. This is important, because as everyone knows, the disease is contagious.

In a week or two the cough gets worse, and soon the peculiar "whoop" is noticed. This is the chief sign of the disease. There are deep prolonged intakes of air, with spasmodic and violent repetitions of the attacks. The child may feel as if he would die, indeed he may be greatly frightened. Vomiting may follow the attack.

The patient is likely to lose flesh and be in a generally run-down condition. His broken rest and loss of food account for this.

The stage lasts about a month. The final period generally lasts several weeks. The disease always runs its course, but sensible care will lessen the severity of the paroxysms and maintain the general health.

Fresh air and sunshine are absolute essentials. Select a sunny room for the patient and have it well ventilated. Unless fever persists, the child is better playing about. In winter he should be warmly dressed and out-of-doors.

The poor little victim should be kept away from other children until the whooping spells have stopped. He should protect his nose and mouth while coughing. In whooping cough, the discharges which are coughed into the atmosphere or conveyed on soiled hands or linen may carry the infection to another. Therefore, great care must be taken in this matter.

The patient's health must be safeguarded as the disease abates. It is necessary to make sure the recovery is complete. The disease causes such a run-down condition that the patient must be built up with nourishing food, plenty of fresh air and sunshine, and cod-liver oil. He will need plenty of milk and fresh eggs. Much sleep and rest will help him to recuperate.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, January 14

THE planetary configurations for this day hold presage of generally adverse conditions both in business and in personal avocations or contacts. Employment is under hazardous rays and a tendency to dissension and strife pervading all the activities may make for a state of self-defeat. In social, domestic or romantic affiliations there may be singular complexes.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of complications and peculiar conditions in both business and private life. Employment is under a perilous sway and the private interests have rather subtle and treacherous angles.

A child born on this day may be endowed with rather erratic and irascible temperament which may make it difficult to understand and get along with. It should have the advantage of early discipline and education in self-control and personal responsibility and integrity.

Correct Manners

Protection

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

If two boys and two girls are walking four abreast, that is, in one straight line, what is the position of the two boys?

R. T.

WHEN two boys and two girls are walking four abreast, one boy should walk on the side of the pavement nearest the curb and one should walk on the inside. This will surely carry out the idea of protection of the girls, which is the idea of the rules for walking on the street.

An Introduction

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

How should one introduce one's doctor to a group of friends, both men and women?

ROSLYN.

"MRS. ALLEN, may I present Dr. Graham?" or "Mrs. Wells, this is Dr. Graham." To gentlemen, "Mr. Allen, Dr. Graham" or "Dr. Graham, Mr. Allen."

Easter Greetings

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Please tell me if it is old-fashioned to send Easter cards?

COUNTRY GIRL.

IT is true that Easter cards are not sent as much as they used to be, but greetings at Easter are very beautiful, and we show ourselves thoughtful and friendly people if we send Easter greetings.

An Expression of Sympathy

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What should I say when a person expresses sympathy for a death in the family?

PUZZLED.

THE person should not do this, for no one should speak to another of such a personal grief unless the sorrowing person should introduce the conversation. However, if someone does do this, say "Thank you for your sympathy. You are very kind," or "I appreciate your sympathy so much. Thank you."

Round-World Features On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

FROM Hollywood to Seattle, to Spain, to Monte Carlo, to a trek on a lonely country road for a straw ride takes a yard stick imagination, but these are some of the places listeners may go tonight on their radio.

HOLLYWOOD—Voices from Filmland with Cecil DeMille, Conrad Nagel and other movie stars direct from the studios, WJAS at 7:30. Very novel feature.

SEATTLE—Flashback of eight-mile tunnel opening a year ago, theme of the Empire Builders, KDKA at 10:30.

SPAIN—The Anglo-Persians go there for atmosphere when WCAE broadcasts at 10 o'clock.

MONTE CARLO—The most famous little city in all the world is the background for the 9:30 program through WJAS.

STRAW RIDE—With a radio 'n' everything the Real Folks go merrymaking over KDKA, 9:30 p. m.

Grace Moore, Metropolitan opera soprano, will sing the Jewel Song from "Faust" and "Mah Lindy Lou" on the 9:30 program of the Family Party, a WCAE feature.

Vaughn de Leath went to the New York Zoo to get atmosphere for "Chant of the Jungle" which she will sing as part of the 8 o'clock Voice of Firestone.

We Now Present

SEES ALL, KNOWS ALL.

Phenomena, the mind reader of KFI, drew 206 letters in his first appearance at WCAE. He will be heard every day this week at 5:30.

The KDKA boys, especially Vic Saudek, want the Phenom to tell them where the $2,500 grand piano went the day it was removed from the William Penn studio and failed to show up again in the hotel.

George Washil, of 27 Wood street, Braddock, was the first to vote in the Pittsburgh radio poll. His ballot, mailed Sunday at 11 a. m., picked WJAS as his favorite station, Sacred Songs and Amos and Andy as his favorite programs, Louis Kaufman and Milton Cross as his favorite announcers. He is dissatisfied with the present wavelength arrangement. Several ballots were mailed Sunday afternoon.

SHIP AHOY!

Will Amos and Andy kindly send a few Fresh Air taxis to this desolated community?

If these Amos and Andy arguments continue we'll have to import a notary public. Saturday we were called upon to sign two papers clarifying the situation. One was for a $10 wager.

ANOTHER SHIP AHOY!

1712 Lincoln avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa,

Dear Mr. Martin:

It is a daily pastime of several Gimbel men to discuss Amos and Andy at the lunch table. Today the ability of the two men to assume various voices was the theme.

I recalled that Wendell Hall once sang all four parts of a male quartet doing "Sweet Adeline" during the Majestic Hour.

The boys laughed at me.

Please come to my rescue and set the boys right. Be assured that your column is OK and arrangement of local programs the best in the city.

Yours very truly,

W. E. Richter.

Both Wendell Hall and Phil Cook are adept at changing their voices like Amos 'n' Andy. And Hall did the "Sweet Adeline" number you mention. It seems men with a naturally heavy voice are more facile at this than men of a lighter voice. Take for instance, the number of parts played by Andy as against the parts played by Amos. It is easier, we surmise, for a bass voice to be raised to a tenor pitch than it is for a tenor voice to be lowered to a bass pitch.

Hope this settles the argument.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

TAKE SALTS IF STOMACH ISN'T ACTING RIGHT

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments, the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest; we belch up gas; we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to help neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used for many stomach disorders with excellent results.

There will be re-enacted the scene at the east portal of America's longest railway tunnel as the first train consisting of 25 Pullmans slips quietly into the giant bore on its eight-mile journey to the west slope of the range.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Folk Going to Florida

THE most discussed question in social circles these early January days is where to go for the remainder of the winter. Florida, with its famous resorts, will attract by far the largest number of society folks.

Going to Miami Beach are the William T. McCulloughs, of Bennington avenue, and their daughter, Elizabeth. They plan to leave January 20 for the resort, and will stop at the Nautilus.

And the John H Nicholsons and their daughter, Elizabeth Nicholson, have already left for Miami.

SOME Pittsburgh folks were in the East Saturday to be in the bridal party for the wedding if Sarah Jane Baker, daughter of the William H. Bakers, of Montclair, N. J., to David Lindsay III, of Wilmington, Del., which took place Saturday afternoon in St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Montclair.

John Kennedy Beeson, of Pittsburgh, was one of the ushers, and Anita Shields, of Philadelphia, was one of the bridesmaids. Anita is Mrs. Harry Darlington's sister and has been a guest here frequently.

The bride made her debeut in New York last winter, and is a graduate of the Masters School at Dobbs Ferry. And she attended Smith College. Mr. Lindsay attended Andover and is a graduate of Yale and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

AFTER spending a few days in New York with her sister, Miss Anne C. Crosby, of Belfast, Me., Mrs. William B. Schiller has returned home. Miss Crosby sailed Friday night on the Bremen for Europe.

Among others who have been in New York for a few days are the J. S. McCormicks, the William M. Robinsons, the Walter C. Carrolls, all of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Chester M. Van Kleeck, of Sewickley. Miss Laetitia Hunter and Mrs. Richard Herron have also been Gotham visitors.

FROM Sewickley comes news that Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., is planning to go to Palm Beach to be the guest of Mrs. Henry R. Rea. Later Mrs. Jones will go to her winter home in Augusta, Ga., to remain until late April.

William L. Clause is already in Augusta, Ga., where he will have as his guest later his daughter, Mrs. Wilson A. Campbell.

AND there's still more news of travelers. Mrs. J. Judson Brooks, Jr., has gone to Nassau, where she'll remain until early Februafy. From there she'll go to Augusta, Ga., to remain until spring.

Pinehurst has attracted the Norwood Johnstons and their debutante daughter, Frances. They are at their winter home, Cotten Cottage.

The William Christopher Robinsons are planning to visit Honolulu. Others who'll go to Honolulu are Mrs. Henry Graham Brown, the Eugene W. Pargnys and Clodagh McCune, Mrs. Fleming Fell, the Winfield K. Shirases and their daughter, Anne McDowell Shiras.

NOW that the winter season here at home is over, everyone's is looking forward to events of spring and summer and even next winter.

And word has come from the National Horse Show Association that June 5 to 7 has been granted for the annual show in the Allegheny Country Club ring.

On Saturday at 12:30 members of Rolling Rock Hunt are planning to entertain friends in the vicinity of the clubhouse at a luncheon. And women of the Hunt are invited to spend the late afternoon and evening in the Rolling Rock clubhouse.

TOMORROW morning the Ray Lyman Wilburs will arrive in Pittsburgh, and will be at the Hotel Schenley. Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, as I've mentioned before, will address a public meeting tomorrow night in Carnegie Music Hall under the auspices of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania.

At 10:30 tomorrow morning Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., who's vice president of the Association; Mrs. Franklin Cadwallader Irish, who's chairman of the honorary committee; and Miss Isabella C. Chalfant will call upon Mrs. Wilbur, it is planned.

And as I've mentioned before, Dr. Thomas Stockton Baker will give a luncheon at 1 o'clock in the Duquesne Club for Secretary Wilbur, and Mrs. Frank C. Irish will give one at the same hour in her home, Devon road, for Mrs. Wilbur.

And tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at the dinner to be given at the Pittsburgh Golf Club for the Wilburs, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., will be the hostess.

SATURDAY afternoon Mrs. John C. Edmundson, of Bower Hill road, announced the engagement of Miss Oneda Tressler, of Mt. Lebanon, to Owen O. Scott, of Youngstown, O., at a bridge-luncheon at her home.

Covers were laid for 16 and the color scheme was in pink and green, with coral-pink roses and greens centering the dining table. No date has been named for the wedding.

MRS. FLOYD FRY and daughter, Miss Helen Fry, of North Murtland avenue, East End, have just returned home after a 10-day trip to Philadelphia, where they were guests of Miss Catherine Fry, another daughter of Mrs. Fry. Brief visits were also made to Chester and Atlantic City.

* * *

THE Young Peoples' Department of the Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a rally in the North avenue church on Friday evening at 6:15 o'clock. Supper will be served.

* * *

THE Ladies' Aid Society of the North End Methodist Episcopal Church, Bonrue street, will serve a luncheon on Wednesday from 11:30 to 1:30 o'clock.

LUXURY IN COATS AND QUAINTNESS IN FROCKS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The weather being what it is, and coats being what they are, is it any wonder that we continue to be all wrapped up in them? Afternoons are made glamorous by wonderful wraps of velvet in various shades, trimmed with exquisite furs, while busy mornings are rendered attractive by the trig black with flat black furs. If you think that we have dealt frequently and at length on coats, lately, our apology must be that we are so astonished that the fashionables of this capital of fashion, should have remained faithful for so long to one mode. We would like to write of beautiful fur coats, of lovely ensembles, but, all that we see and are acutely aware of, is coats. But yet, we imagine that you will agree with us that there are much worse things than a coat complex, that expresses itself in either acquiring or admiring them.

THE printed fabric like the printed word would seem still to be popular. The majority of the recent collections included evening frocks of figured design, that were rapturously received auguring well for their general success in the spring. Rose printed taffeta is especially good, and is frequently seen at smart gatherings, also floral printed georgettes. The smartest prints will be the floral designs on dark backgrounds, the hazy, indefinite designs popular last summer, have as yet not made their reappearance.

A VERY good idea of the prevailing mode as it pertains to the evening frock of figured material, maybe gathered from the model shown here which was sketched in the atelier of Jean Patou. It is of georgette, with large mauve and pink flowers on a fairly dark green ground. The one-sided cape on the bodice may be removed at will. Shirred closely about the hips below a high placed belt, the skirt clings closely until reaching a point below the knees where it flares with several pointed and very long godets, which trail at the sides as well as the back. Vertical, applied bands, in the traditional Patou manner, mold the upper part of the skirt to the figure.

Mrs. Long queries: "As housekeeper—is your jail clean? Is the food sufficient, decently served and suitably selected? As a mother—are 16-year-old boys separated from older criminals? What of your woman prisoners? As a judge—are your criminals being only punished, or are they being corrected and restored?"

SOVIET RUSSIA LEARNS FROM ENEMIES

Reds Being Americanized To Win World From U. S.; Moscow Making History

By FRAZIER HUNT,
Written Especially for International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—"Learn from your enemies!"

That is what Lenin preached—and that is the story of Russia.

Today Soviet Russia is being Americanized, so that she can win the world from America. she is learning from her enemies.

It is the greatest story in the world. It is the greatest story of the century—greater than the World War—the passing of half the Monarchs of Europe—greater than the death of ten million men and the destruction of five hundred billion dollars worth of property.

One who writes of the Soviet union today is writing history. It is future history—the future that must be weighed and told in terms of the past and the present.

The head of a great government department said to me in Moscow:

"America can do a billion dollars worth of business with Russia during the next four years—if our two countries could only get together. There is a whole new nation to be built up here—and we want America to do it. For instance, Moscow is planning on a subway at an initial expense of $150,000,000. We have made a $30,000,000 contract with Ford; a $25,000,000 contract with the General Electric Company. Only this month we have signed an agreement with the MacDonald Engineering Company of Chicago to supervise the building of $100,000,000 worth of grain elevators, flour mills, cement plants, etc.

TO SPEND BILLION

"And we've only started: we want to spend a billion dollars with you. Some of it must be on credit. Ttoday Soviet credit is as solid as U. S. bonds. We have never defaulted on a single penny of our Soviet obligations. And we are just beginning."

So it is that Russia is building herself—not rebuilding, but building all new from the ground up. And American brains and American machines are helping to do it.

Never in the history of the world has there been such a gallant and spectacular effort to superimpose a new and foreign civilization and culture on an old and backward people. It is superb in its very audacity.

Japan, westernizing and industrializing herself 50 years ago, was doing child's play compared to what the Soviet Union (and they no longer use the word "Russia") is doing today.

The five-year plan is a great dream to modernize and mechanize all Russian life within the fleeting scope of half a decade And Communist will, plus American technical help, plus American machines, are making great strides towards this fantastic goal.

Everywhere are American engineers. Every great contract for machines and equipment is predicated on the training of a certain number of Russians in American plants, and the sending of a given number of American experts and engineers to Russia to supervise the construction of factories and the installation of machinery and the getting of all this vast mechanization under its own momentum.

TURNS TO AMERICA

Russia turns to America—America that she loves and loathes. The efficiency, the genius of machinery, the solid comfort, the 25,000,000 motor cars, she loves. The individualism, the concentration of wealth, the whole "capitalistic system" (and how they delight in mouthing these words) she hates.

She hates it with all the ardor and depth of sincerity that a young priest of the great Jesuit crusades hated the infidels and the works of the devil loose in the world.

For to understand this vast Russian scene one must accept the fact that the power and driving force of this Communistic government and ideal is the power and force of a crusading religion. Whether we like it or not this is true, and it is absolutely necessary to grasp this great truth

Communist youths are today young priests of this new militant faith. They have the look in their eyes. They fear nothing; they will gladly sacrifice their lives, their future, their all, for their dream of a new, classless, moneyless world, where all men are the same; where there are no distinctions of any kind; where white and brown and yellow and black men are brothers and equals.

STRUGGLE FOR WORLD

The dream of building a great new world that will be better than America can build.

So it is that Russia and America struggle for the world—for this very soul of the world.

It is a strange new war—a bloodless war. It is not for trade, nor territories, nor any of the old ideas of victory and conquest that the empires of the past fought for. It is a silent war of ideals struggling against each other for the heart and imagination of the world.

And America is building up Russia to prepare her for this epic struggle.

We are showing her how to construct great factories, magnificent electric plants, giant mills, how to harness her rivers, produce her white coal, how to treble the output of her black coal, how to coax waters from distant rivers to make rich cotton and fruit lands from parched and thirsty deserts; how to put motor cars on her muddy roads and then build roads of macadam; how to put tens of thousands of tractors on her endless rich acres; how to buy shoes and clothes and silk stockings and electric light and radios and the thousand little comforts and amenities of life for her hungry and tired millions.

League Peace Up To People, Says Wickersham

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Unless peace sentiment dominates the people of its member-nations, the League of Nations is "not worth the paper it is written on," so declares former Attorney General George W. Wickersham, league advocate.

"Mechanisms and treaties and meetings are as nothing unless there is the will toward peace. People must rid themselves of the idea that it is cowardly to avoid war. What nation is victor in war? The victorious nations have been struggling with economic difficulties ever since the World War."

The peace of Paris, he said, is not yet appreciated because it is not understood.

Pirates' Record Game. | Track and Field Boom.

TWENTY SCORELESS INNINGS PITCHED

THE retirement of Art Nehf from baseball removes from the active playing ranks of the major leagues the last of the pastimers who took part in what was in one respect the most remarkable game in the entire history of the Pittsburgh club. Or in the history of any other club, it might be added, for that game still stands in the records as one without a parallel, marking the longest stretch of play ever known in the big show in which neither side scored a run.

Art Nehf

In Boston on August 1, 1918, the Pirates and Braves battled through 20 scoreless innings before the Buccaneers put over a pair of tallies in the twenty-first round and captured the sensational combat by a count of 2 to 0. Longer contests have been played in the majors, notably the record 1-to-1 deadlock between the Braves and Dodgers on May 1, 1920, but never has one gone so far before either of the contending teams crossed the plate.

Nehf pitched the whole route for Boston in that game and he is the last of the 25 men who figured in it to hang up his major league glove.

TWO others still hold posts in Baldom's upper strata, but the playing days of both have long since ended. Bill McKechnie is manager of the Braves and Bill Hinchman is a scout for the Rovers. A third, Max Carey, passed out of the picture at the close of last season, and is still unattached. McKechnie played third base for the Corsairs that day, Carey was in center field and Hinchman was used as a pinch-hitter in the thirteenth inning.

Erskine Mayer pitched the first 15 1-3 innings for Pittsburgh and Wilbur Cooper worked the remaining 5 2-3 sessions, the latter, of course, being credited with the victory. Walter Schmidt was the Pirate catcher, Fred Mollwitz was at first base, George Cutshaw at second, Roy Ellam at short, Carson Bigbee and Tommy Leach in left field and Billy Southworth in right. Hugo Bezdek was manager of the Freebooters and George Stallings was pilot of the Braves.

FOR Boston, Art Wilson and John Henry did the catching, Ed Konetchy was at first base, Buck Herzog at second, Greenfield Jimmy Smith at short, Red Smith at third, and the outfield presented three war-time youngsters in Taggert, Massey and Wickland. Johnny Rawlings, Miller and Johnson appeared in pinch-hitting or pinch-running roles.

All of them have passed on as far as the majors are concerned, though a few are still playing in the minors. In the sense of diamond activity under the big top, both teams are now only memories.

Wilbur Cooper

IN THAT memorable game of more than 11 years ago, Nehf allowed only 12 hits over the full distance of 21 innings. Mayer gave up 12 during his stay on the slab and Cooper yielded only three. Boston had runners on second and first with one out when Cooper entered the game in the sixteenth inning, but Wilbur saved the game for the Bucs by striking out Taggart and then catching Jimmy Smith napping off the midway station. In the twenty-first inning, Cooper forced Schmidt, who had singled, took second on Ellam's out, ran to third on Leach's infield single and scored the first run on a single by Carey. Southworth drove Leach home with the second and final run by cracking a two-bagger to center, the only hit of the afternoon that was longer than a single. The game lasted four hours and eight minutes.

HOCKEY trainers are not given much of a tumble by persons on the outside, but as a matter of fact they are very important cogs in ice machines. Splendid condition has had much to do with the sensational clean-up by Boston Bruins, American Group leaders, and Manager Les Patrick admits that Trainer Harry Westerby has aided largely in keeping the New York Rangers in second place.

"Westerby is the best man I've had in 20 years," Patrick says. "I would not trade him for any other three men in the league." Westerby has been training hockey teams since he was 16. But through it all he has found time for other sports. He was amateur fistic champion of Canada in several classes, later was successful as a professional in the ring, made a fine record as a marathon runner, ran a fight club of his own in Toronto and taught boxing for four years.

THE success of the initial track meet of the indoor season in Brooklyn recently, with more than 600 athletes participating, leads Daniel J. Ferris, secretary and treasurer of the National A. A. U., to predict an extremely active year in track and field sports.

John A. Heydler

There is every promise that developments will bear him out. More than 50 sanctions have been issued for big indoor meets alone, and the outdoor season is certain to prove a banner one, reaching a climax at the national championship carnival at The Stadium here in July.

NOBODY could in fairness object to the ring activities of Art Shires if he were qualified for the glove game, and he would have the support of every fan in going after all the extra money he could pick up. John A. Heydler, president of the National League, is one of those who realize that Shires lacks such qualifications and that his roughhouse-clowning is not elevating baseball. "The presence of Shires in the boxing game this winter is nothing but a money-making scheme and in my opinion his performances in the ring have done nothing toward uplifting baseball," Heydler said.

"IF A PROFESSIONAL baseball player had the reputation of being a clever boxer I would not object to his appearance in the ring during the winter months. But to my knowledge there isn't a player in professional baseball qualified to take up boxing in a serious way between playing seasons.

"Baseball and boxing are far apart. Officials of the Chicago Cubs are to be commended for their action in informing Hack Wilson very promptly that they did not wish him to appear in the ring with Shires when that match was proposed. And Wilson used good judgment when he took President Veeck's advice."

ART SHIRES, Al Spohrer and some others have demonstrated that baseball players cannot be ring fighters, and now Jack Curley, wrestling boss, explains why wrestlers fail at the same game. "It's a lack of co-ordination between their arms and their legs that keeps wrestlers from being successful as fighters," he says.

"The impulse to wrestle is as strong in these fellows as is the

NEW CHAMPION ONCE FAILED IN NATIONAL

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

An infielder who found the National League a bit too tough at the beginning of his major league career was the best hitter in the American League last year. Official figures issued by the league today discloses that Louis Fonseca, first baseman of the Cleveland Indians, tops the circuit with an average of .369. Loule finished in front of the clever Al Simmons of the Athletics, who batted .365.

The achievement of Fonseca finds a companion-piece in the feat of Frank O'Doul, who led the National League hitters in the past season. O'Doul was an American League pitcher in his younger days.

COBB MISSING

Among other highlights, the figures show that the name of Ty Cobb to be missing for the first time since 1905. Tris Speaker is missing for the first time since 1908.

Features culled from the lists by the Howe News Bureau, which compiled the averages, follow:

Charley Gehringer, of Detroit, finished eleventh among the regulars with an average of .339; played in the most games, 155; scored the most runs, 131; stole most bases, 27; led in three-base hits, 19; tied with his teammate, Alexander, for the most hits, 215; with another teammate, Roy Johnson and Manush he tied in doubles with 45 and though he occupied an unfavorable position in the batting order he drove in 106 runs.

Earl Combs hit 151 singles, George H. Ruth accounted for 46 home runs, Joe Sewell led in sacrifices with 41 and tied his own world record by striking out but four times in 152 games. Roy Johnson, young Detroit outfielder, was at bat 640 times.

Though no new records were made, sterling individual performances were sprinkled through the season.

Edmund Miller, whose timely hit won the world series, batted safely in 28 consecutive games from May 30 to June 27, inclusive. On May 24 Manush combed five safeties in five times up from the offerings of Zinn, Cleveland pitcher, and two days later Gordon Cochrane duplicated this feat, with Marberry and Braxton the victims.

GOT FIVE HITS

May 1 Simmons faced four Boston pitchers six times and collected five hits, one of them a homer and one a double, scored four runs and drove in six. On June 21 the A's star found Pennock, Shefid and Moore for five hits, two of them home runs, in five times at bat, scored five runs himself and drove three more home.

September 2, Joe Cronin, young Washington shortstop, hit a single, triple, two doubles and a home run off MacFayden and Dobens, of Boston, in five times at bat. Carl Reynolds, Chicago, Dale Alexander and McManus, of Detroit, also hit safely five times in five times at bat.

In the matter of base running and sacrificing there was no change from the most recent conditions. Playing for runs in clusters is the popular method regardless of the batting strength of teams concerned. As long as that system is continued clever base running and smart bunting will remain at a discount.

TOMORROW—HE BREATHES THROUGH HIS BACK!

TITANS, GENEVA IN IMPORTANT COURT TILT

By JESS CARVER.

The mellow hospitality of the Hotel Schenley will be Pitt's tonight as the Oakland Board of Trade tenders the Panther gridders a rousing testimonial banquet. This affair is the leading collegiate, in fact, the only collegiate, affair of the evening and gives promise of drawing a right noble crowd to honor the warriors of the Gold and Blue.

The fact that Dr. Charles B. (Razz) Quailey is a moving figure behind the affair practically assures its success, and with the Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty as toastmaster, the entry is worth a bet across the board.

This affair is the first of three fetes listed for the Pitt squad this week. Tomorrow night, at the Chartiers Heights Country Club, the Sto-Rox Testimonial Association will honor Toby Uansa, Pitt halfback; Charles Winoski, Duquesne gridder, and Frank Rodger, star of the Hagerstown club, of the Blue Ridge League. On Thursday the Chamber of Commerce is to put on its annual championship dinner, and will present Pitt with the trophy emblematic of the city college title and Schenley High with the school gonfalon.

TITANS PLAY GENEVA

The feature game of the night in the tri-state sector brings Westminster and Geneva together at New Wilmington.

Both teams are very much in the running for the conference title, possibly being the favorites. A win for one or the other tonight will establish that team at the top of the ladder. Playing on their own court, the United Presbyterians are slight favorites over Ken Loeffler's smart Covenanters.

FAVORITES WIN

Saturday night's basketball contests involving district fives went very much as expected, the outstanding feat of the night being Carnegie Tech's great battle against Penn State. Pitt turned back Georgetown here at home before a good-sized crowd, for its tenth win of the year. Bethany walloped Wash-Jeff; Duquesne took over John Carroll at Cleveland; St. Francis took the measure of Slippery Rock Teachers, and Westminster won over the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. team by a topheavy count.

TECH IMPROVES

Coach Hogan has constructed a very efficient machine out at Carnegie, and in forcing Penn State to go at top speed in recording a 27-21 victory, indicated that the Tartans are due to cut a very important figure in the basketball campaign for the remainder of

COUGARS NOSE OUT PIRATE ICEMEN, 3-2

DETROIT, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Detroit's Cougars were on the long end of a 3-to-2 National Hockey League game with the Pittsburgh Pirates here last night.

Stan McCabe, new Cougar wingman, scored his first National League goal in the first period and gave Capt. Reg Noble a pass that resulted in Detroit's second goal 23 seconds later. White scored for Pittsburgh toward the end of the first period. The second period was scoreless.

FIGHTS MAR BATTLE

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—In a rough battle, enlivened by three separate fistfights by players, the Chicago Blackhawks defeated the New York Rangers, 2 to 1, last night, and replaced them as second place occupants in the National League hockey race. Duke Dutkowski scored the winning tally for the Hawks unassisted 35 seconds before the end of the game.

All scoring was done in the third period and all fist fighting took place in the second. The first battle of fists came between Art Somers and Bun Cook, of the Rangers. Each accused the other of roughness. Officials and players quickly stopped them before any damage was done and they were given two-minute penalties. No

Madison Square Leases Stadium, Polo Grounds

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, announced the acquisition of the Yankee Stadium and Polo Grounds for boxing purposes during the summer season.

Carey also said the Garden was given an option on both stadiums for the 1931 season as well. The Garden's action in acquiring both baseball parks gives it a virtual monopoly on the big outdoor battles of the coming season and spikes reports that Jack Dempsey, now promoting bouts for the Chicago Coliseum, woud obtain the Polo Grounds for several outdoor shows this summer. The only large arena now available to Dempsey would be Ebbets Field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

WILSON WILLING TO FACE SHIRES

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 13.—At his home here yesterday, Hack Wilson, Chicago Cub star, while refusing to say he had been made another offer by Jim Mullen, Chicago fight promoter, to fight Art Shires, issued a statement that he was ready to battle the White Sox first sacker providing he got his price, the amount of which he did not disclose.

When shown a newspaper article which quoted Shires as saying he wanted to get him, Wilson said that made the matter unanimous.

"I have been hit harder than that guy ever dreamd of and I'm still here," he said. "Consequently if I'm offered enough money I'll take the loud-speaking lad on with a great deal of pleasure and I'll do it before the Cubs start their training season, too."

Further reports were to the effects that Wilson would go to Chicago this week to talk things over with Mullen.

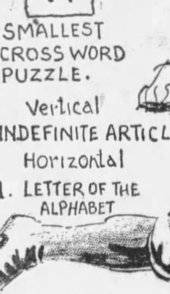
HERRERA BACK TO THRILL US TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Etitor.

The darling of the local fistic fans during the past outdoor season returns to the wars here tonight.

He is smiling Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight, who began his boxing career in Texas, drifted to Chicago and first "found" himself in the rings of Western Pennsylvania.

Tony broke in around here in the New Castle Jolly Bowl last winter and startled the patrons by knocking out Ray Newton, a knockout sensation in his own right, hailing from Mansfield, O. A week later, he repeated the trick at Washington, Pa., and then returned to New Castle to defeat Frankie Ferro, of Philadelphia.



Tony Herrera

By that time the outdoor season was upon us, and he became a featured attraction in the new Meyers Bowl in North Braddock. There he twice met Phil Goldstein, losing on a foul the first time and turning in a 10-round victory in a grueling battle the second time. They then sent him against Tommy Crawley, of the South Side, and he defeated Tommy, too.

SUFFERS BROKEN HANDS

Followed then a series of bouts in the Middle West, and he wound up by breaking both hands. He always has been too hard a hitter for his fragile, brittle mitts. He has learned that his fighting weapons are not as hard as his opponents' chins and heads, although they almost invariably best these obstacles.

A long layoff to give the fractured "dukes" a chance to mend, and now he's back here to box Crawley again, in the main bout at Motor Square Garden tonight in the last show before the East End arena closes down to boxing for two weeks. Whether or not he will have to nurse his fists against Crawley remains to be seen. It will be quite a break for Tommy if he has to, for such an event would greatly enhance the local man's chances of victory over the Mexican scion of another great Mexican fighter, the immortal (in the boxing realm) Aurelia Herrera, one of the punching terrors of the lightweight division in the days of Battling Nelson, Ad Wolgast and a famous bunch of hard and hardy ones.

Herrera arrived in town yesterday with Dandy Dick Griffin, a former bantamweight boxer and his sponsor from Texas, in charge of him. James (Red) Mason, dean of local managers and seconds, will help to handle him in his corner.

With the memory of Tony's past deeds hereabouts still fresh, and coming on top of last week's "best ever" card at the Garden, tonight's show promises to pack in the fans.

SHARKEY RATED BEST HEAVY BY DEMPSEY

ALIEN CHAMP WOULD DRAW JACK BACK

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey, who should know something of heavyweight fighters, believes that Jack Sharkey, the Boston sailor, who once wilted under the Old Man Mauler's fists, today is the heavyweight champion of the world.

This and other interesting things the battle king of other years proclaims in ranking the boxers of the world for 1929 in a copyright story for a fistic magazine. Dempsey's rankings replace those the late Tex Rickard prepared in past years for the publication.

"First, I want to make my bow to Jack Sharkey and say that he is the best American heavyweight and in my opinion the accredited heavyweight champion," says the article under Dempsey's name. "At Miami Beach he easily beat the outstanding contender at the time, Young Stribling, and in New York he knocked out Tommy Loughran, a really great fighter."

The former champion hints, but with little energy, that he may once more return in person to his old battlefields.

MAY COME BACK

"There have been many stories printed to the effect that I am awaiting the winner of the Sharkey-Scott bout at Miami and that I would then issue a challenge to him," Dempsey writes. "At this time I have no plans. I am a promoter who turned to this field because I am inclined to believe that my second fight with Gene Tunney was my last.

"I have had my fling. The ring was kind to me, and still is. The boxing public has been even kinder.

"But if a foreigner gains the world heavyweight title, be he Schmeling, Campolo, Scott, Carnera or some one not yet on the horizon, I may be prompted to reconsider, for I still feel, even with my long absence from ring competition, that I could give a good account of myself with any of the present crop of heavyweights. On the face of things, however, I feel that I am done as an active participant. I feel that an American, Jack Sharkey, can well take care of the task of keeping the title in this country. If he isn't, then, well—."

JACK AT TOP

Dempsey places Sharkey at the top of the heavyweight group with Max Schmeling second; Tuffy Griffiths third and Phil Scott, fourth. Next he groups seven men in this order: Tommy Loughran, Otto Von Porat, George Godfrey, Johnny Risko, Victorio Campolo, Stribling and Paulino Uzcudun. The list was compiled before Paulino upset Von Porat.

Maxie Rosenbloom heads the light heavy-weights with Jimmy Slattery, Lou Scozza and Leo Lomski linked in the second division. Mickey Walker, the champion, takes the same place among the middleweights with Dave Shade, Rene Devos and Ace Hudkins grouped below him. The welterweight class has Jackie Fields, the titleholder, linked with Jimmy McLarnin at the top.

Sammy Mandell, lightweight king, shares honors with Tony Canzoneri in his own first division, while Kid Chocolate and Earl Mastro outrank Bat Battalino, the champion, among the featherweights. Al Brown and Bushy Graham share the top group of the bantamweights with Black Bill and Midget Wolgast holding the same positions in the flyweight class. Neither division has a generally recognized champion.

Cardinals Dispose Of Ft. Wayne Farm

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Sale of Fort Wayne (Ind.) baseball club of the Central League, which the St. Louis Cardinals have operated for several years as a farm, has been announced by Branch Rickey, vice-president and business manager of the Cardinals. The club was sold to Chester G. Schiefer, of Fort Wayne.

Rickey announced the sale was not a result of Commissioner Landis' recent attack on "chain store" baseball, and said the Cardinals would add another team to their chain to take the place of the Fort Wayne team.

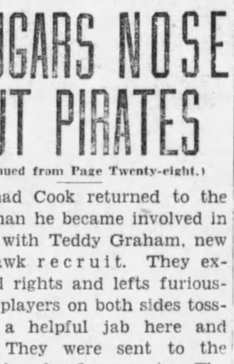
impulse to fight in fighters, and their early training is such as to make them expert wrestlers and to run them as fighters.

"A WRESTLER learns how to use his arms for pulling, hauling and applying holds while his feet are planted solidly on the floor, and to use his legs to break or ward off holds—or apply leg holds of his own—while resting his weight on his arms or torso. So, when he is called upon to use his arms and legs at the same time, he gets befuddled and is easy prey for a boxer who steps around him and belts him. Some wrestlers, of course, are not built physically for fighting, their muscular development being such as to prevent them from getting any snap in their punches, but I am convinced that in most cases the bar to their success in the ring is mainly mental. It's another example of the fact that you can't teach an old dog new tricks.



Jack Curley

"AND yet, here's a funny thing: When two fighters lose their heads in the ring they try, by grappling, to throw each other down; and when two wrestlers lose their heads on the mat they try to slug each other. They forget their own game and plunge into the opposite one.

"I guess nearly all wrestlers have wanted to be fighters at one time or another in their lives. Haekenschmidt wanted me to make a fighter of him and you know what happened to Gotch. He received a terrific beating in a Klondike ring from an old dance hall doortender who turned out to be Frank Slavin, once a heavyweight fighter. Wladek Zbyszko, Steinke and others also tried fighting but had to give it up. It isn't in the wood. Every man to his own game."

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—The Boston Red Sox have not scheduled a spring training game with a major league club, President Bob Quinn said Saturday when he ordered his battery candidates to report at Pensacola, Fla., February 23 and the balance of the team a week later.

"We have decided," Quinn said, "not to start in by playing clubs that have been practicing two weeks before us and neither do we want a heavy spring schedule."

Quinn, however, has arranged two games each with the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves, but they will not be played until the Sox return north, a few days before the opening of the American League campaign.

The Red Sox spring schedule, which now consists of only 15 games, follows:

March 13, 15 and 16, Pensacola at Pensacola; 20 and 21, Mobile at Pensacola; 22-30, open; 31, Selma at Selma, Ala.; April 1, Montgomery at Montgomery, Ala.; 2, 3 and 4, Louisville at Louisville, Ky.; 5, 6 and 7, Indianapolis at Indianapolis, Ind.; 8 and 9, Columbus at Columbus, O.; 10 and 11, Brooklyn at Brooklyn; 12 and 13, Boston Braves at Boston.

GRAND CIRCUIT CONFAB TODAY

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Stewards of the Grand Circuit, will tackle the problem of fixing dates for the 1930 races at their annual meeting which started here this afternoon and continues through tomorrow. The open session and the annual banquet are scheduled for this afternoon and night, while the real work of the gathering will be accomplished at executive sessions tomorrow.

Washington County Floor Dates Set

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 13.—Dates for the annual basketball tournament for high school teams of Washington County were fixed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Washington County Interscholastic Athletic Association, held in the office of S. V. Kimberland, county superintendent, and president of the body.

Girls' teams will meet in their annual meet to determine the championship on March 8 and 15, probably at Charleroi. No definite decision was made regarding the place as no bids were received.

The boy teams will play for the three titles on March 21 and 22, probably in the Washington Armory, although no decision was reached regarding the place of this meet, either. A movement to discontinue the Washington County organization fostered by certain schools and districts failed to go through.

Jeannette to Form Sportsmen's Group

JEANNETTE, Pa., Jan. 14.—A sportsmen's Association will be organized at a meeting to be held here next Thursday evening in the municipal building. The association will embrace Jeannette and the surrounding territory. The Sportsmen's Association of Latrobe is assisting in the formation of the association and a large number of local people are interested.

In addition to representatives from surrounding associations, Ross Leffler, president of the State Game Commission; Game Protector Bert Wright and Game Warden Ray McKissick will be present to assist in forming the organization.

Local sportsmen are enthusiastic in the movement to organize as that will entitle this district to share in the distribution of rabbits and other game from the State Game Commission and also feed for the birds during the cold winter months.

Salem Asks D. & E. For Floor Battle

SALEM, W. Va., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—President S. O. Bond, of Salem College, last night wired Jennings Randolph, athletic director of Davis and Elkins College, stating that Salem would play Davis and Elkins at basketball if dates could be arranged. President Bond's action followed the release of the Salem basketball and football schedules with no games scheduled with D. & E. in either branch of sport. The schedules were released by T. Edward Davis, Salem athletic director, who made no comment on the omission.

Davis and Elkins and Salem have been opponents for a number of years, both on the grid and court. No mention was made of football in President Bond's wire, but it was intimated that a Henderson-coached squad would be placed on the Salem 1930 grid program if dates could be agreed upon.

GALLATIN BEATS GERMAN SPORT CLUB, 2-0

MUDDY BATTLE PLAYED UNDER PROTEST

By TOM BIRKS

Playing on a field ankle deep in mud, Gallatin yesterday defeated the German Sport Club, 2 to 0, in an American League game at Gallatin. It is understood the game was played under protest. For some reason or other, the Sport club went to the Speedway grounds, and then had to move over to Gallatin. This made the game late in starting and only 35 minute halves were played.

The game was another travesty of soccer. Heavy mire clung to the ball, and it was just a matter of the players making strenuous efforts to drag the ball through the mud. The best mud horses won.

GOING TOUGH

The Sport Club, being a fast, scientific aggregation, never will win under the conditions encountered yesterday, and the game should not have been played. It was impossible to shoot the ball any distance, and both goals came from lucky breaks by the home team. When the interval arrived there had been no scoring.

In the second half, Benick took a crack at the Sport Club goal, and the ball twisted off the foot of Crump into a corner of the net. Bishoff would have saved the ball had the fullback not deflected the sphere. The second goal came when the Gallatin forwards pounced upon Bishoff, and the goalkeeper was bumped over the goal line. This score could have been prevented by the German fullbacks had they given Bishoff the necessary protection.

FINAL DATE BOOKED

In other district soccer games staged yesterday, Bridgemont nosed out the Cuddy Eagles, 6 to 5, and the Kramers won over Bower Hill, 3 to 2, in the Chartiers League, and the Corinthians toppled Harwick, 4 to 2.

the year. The Tartans gave Pitt a merry battle on Wednesday.

SKIBOS FAVORED

After tonight's Westminster-Geneva game, the next feature cage contest of the week will bring together Tech and Wash-Jeff in a Big Four battle at Washington Wednesday evening, with the Skibos figured to emerge on the long end of the count for their first league win of the season.

The Tipoff

Bill (Dad Coop) Cooper, Ambridge citizen, estimates that there were no less than 7,634 radios thrown out into the yard before the first half was over New Year's Day.

Pete Bowen will run in New York every Saturday during the coming indoor track campaign. He starts this Saturday.

The basketball race in the Tri-State Conference promises to be closer than ever this year, with Geneva, Duquesne, Westminster and Bethany even choices to finish on the top.

And one of the four will likely see its title chances fly out the window by losing unexpectedly to either Waynesburg or Thiel. 'Twas always thus.

Bronko Nagurski's mother can't understand how her boy ever became an all-America football player, because, she says, "he is the laziest boy in town."

And Nagurski's name is not Nagurski. There are several more syllables to it, but Joe Spears, his coach, cut a few of 'em out.

Frosty Peters, Illinois backfield star, told Dick Hanley he learned more football in three weeks under Hanley while drilling at Palo Alto with the all-East team than he learned in four years at Illinois.

Which is just another boost for Bob Zuppke.

Toledo Policeman May Box Trafton

TOLEDO, Jan. 13.—Chicago fight promoters have opened negotiations with Jack Reid, Toledo's noted Polish fighting policeman, for a five-round bout to be held in Chicago with George Trafton, noted football star, who won a decision recently over Art Shires, Chicago baseball star. Chicago promoters telephoned Reid here, offering him $300 to meet Trafton. Reid is holding out for $500 or 5 per cent.

Referee Claims Foul-Calling Crown

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—The referee of two high school basketball games here Saturday night was prepared to claim the position of the champion "foul-caller" of the scholastic season. He called 53 fouls in the boys' contest between Moundsville and Benwood Union High Schools, and girl quintets of the two schools committed 56 offenses. Four of the players in the boys' game were ejected for unnecessary roughness.

of the North Side, open the show. K. O. Georgie Nichols, of Buffalo, has been signed to take the place of Indian Tiger West against Henry Firpo, Louisville middleweight, in the 10-round main bout of the reopening show at the New Castle Jolly Bowl tonight. Three good six-rounders have been arranged by Matchmaker Ed Fritz, who, incidentally, was the first man to give Herrera a chance in these parts.

Between Rounds

All of the boxers on the all-star card to be held in Cleveland next Monday night for the benefit of the family of the late Ray Campbell, boxing scribe, will donate their services. There are three 10-rounders, topped by Johnny Risko and Riccardo Berzollo, and a six-round battle and a four-rounder.

The amateur boxing fans have their choice of two good programs Wednesday night, the show of the Ninth Ward Republic Club, in Forrester Hall, Lawrenceville, and the bill of the Homewood-Brushton Baseball Boosters' Association in the Penn Armory.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has signed Johnny Smackey and Tommy Hellman for the semi-final of his Ike McFowler-Bud Gorman show next Friday night. He is planning to use Frank Novak, local amateur heavyweight champion, in the semi-final of his next show, marking the professional debut of the North Sider.

DEMARCO ON STAGE AT SIX

Cuddy DeMarco, who now is getting in trim for a vigorous comeback campaign, has been a trouper since he was 6 years old. At that age he toured in vaudeville with his brother, Freddie, now blind, and a flock of other children. Cuddy was Tom Thumb and Freddie played Tommy Tucker. Cuddy entered the amateur boxing ranks at the age of 15 and fought 112 battles in one year and 14 months before turning pro and engaging in 339 more.

Jack White and Abie Witz have an offer under consideration for a match for their Battling Gizzy with Freddie Miller, the Cincinnati sensation, at Cincinnati. If Miller will permit Gizzy to come in at 130 pounds, his best weight, instead of holding out for 126, the poundage now demanded, the match will be closed.

Harry Boyle, the classy flyweight boxer, of Meadville, who lost to Tony Marino, of McKeesport, at the P. A. A., Saturday night, is the amateur champion of Western Pennsylvania and Western New York, winning both titles within four nights recently. He is only 18 years old and works as a machinist's apprentice in the Erie Railroad shops at Meadville. Earl Krotzer, Meadville promoter and manager, is guiding his fistic career. Harry has had 19 bouts in a little more than a year and lost only the first of these, in an extra round, and the one with Marino.

Jack Dempsey will referee the main bout of a show at Canton, O., February 3 in which Joe Sekyra will be one of the principals.

BILLY ALGER STOPPED

In bouts in New York, Saturday night, Canada Lee stopped Billy Alger in six rounds, Black Bill defeated Freddie Latanzio in 10 rounds, Joe LaGrey knocked out Ralph Barbara in 10 rounds, Mickey Fedor lost to Pete Horton in 10 rounds, Freddie Huber and Artie DeLuca drew in six rounds and Mickey Doyle was knocked out by Young Peter Jackson in four rounds.

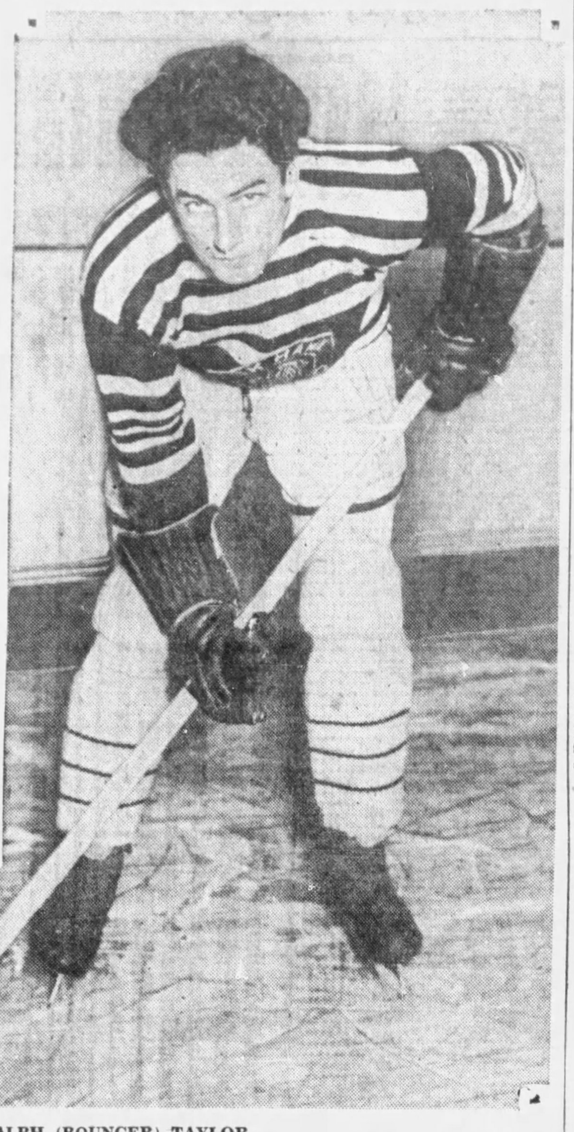
In less than two years of fighting, Battling Gizzy, local junior-lightweight, has engaged in 54 bouts, 25 of them windups, and has lost only three of the battles. His stablemate, Harry Spencer, middleweight, has scored 15 knockouts, won 12 fights by the decision route, boxed three draws and lost five times.

Eddie Brannon, Negro lightweight, who semi-finals with Chet Smallwood at the Garden tonight, is not yet 20 years old. He was born in McDonald and began his career as an amateur in 1928 under the name of Willie Crow. In his first professional fight, at New Castle, he gave away 14 pounds, scaling 128 pounds against 142 for Tommy Harris, and won the decision. He has boxed in McKeesport, New Castle, the Meyers Bowl, the Moose Temple and Motor Square Garden, and recently made his debut as a main-bouter in McKeesport. Among his better known opponents have been Tommy Hellman, Frankie Moran, Paddy Mahan, Frankie Buff, Andy Andrucci, Billy Franks, Young Corsey, Young Angelo and Al Safrone. He knocked out Safrone in the first round. Mike Ray, of the Hill, is his manager, and he is a stablemate of Jackie Murray and Johnny Smackey.

La Jolla Links Tourney Saturday

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—An 18-hole $1,000 open golf tournament will be held over the La Jolla Country Club course at La Jolla Saturday, A. H. Painter, tournament director, announced here today. The field will be limited to the 32 low scorers in the recent P. C. A. championship, the 30 low in last year's national open and 28 low scorers in the Los Angeles open.

CLAIMED BY BUCS



RALPH (BOUNCER) TAYLOR

Frank Frederickson, manager of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club, expects Bouncer Taylor, veteran defense stalwart of the Chicago Hawks, to be in the Pirate fold within a few days. When the Hawks asked for waivers on Taylor, that they might send him to Tulsa in a deal for Teddy Graham, the New York Rangers spoiled the plans by claiming him for the waiver price of $5,000. Frederickson says the Bucs were not asked to waive and have first claim because of their low standing in the league race. He now proposes to take Taylor from the Rangers.

SMINK, FORMER PIRATE, DIES

William (Bill) Smink, former major and minor league ball player and later an umpire, died today at his home in Paterson, N. J., according to word received here by relatives.

Smink was a catcher and was with Pittsburgh for a time under Manager Al Buckenberger. He began his career at Chadlerio anr played with former Governor John K. Tener. Later he was with Harrisburg and after his National League debut returned to Paterson.

When his playing days ended he obtained a political position in Paterson and since had resided there.

Prof. G. L. Smink, of Pittsburgh, is a brother, and Mrs. Thomas H. Miller a niece.

Northwestern Leads Western Conference

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Victorious in its first two conquests, Northwestern is the pacesetter in the Western Conference basketball championship race. Three other teams—Indiana, Purdue and Illinois—were undefeated in their only starts.

Michigan and Wisconsin, coholders of the 1929 title, were tied with a victory and a defeat each, the Wolverines having bowed to Purdue Saturday night, after defeating Minnesota, while the Badgers scored their first win in two games at the expense of Ohio State. Chicago, with a defeat for its only Conference engagement, and Ohio State and Minnesota, twice vanquished, bring up the rear.

IOWA ATHLETE 'CONFESSES'

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 13—(INS)—Investigation of athletic affairs at the University of Iowa took on a new complexion today as the reported admission of Oran Pape, Iowa halfback, that he had played semi-pro football became generally known.

Friday's visit of the Western Conference eligibility committee and the mystery which shrouded their sessions here are linked with Pape's admission by many.

Although Pape has successfully defended himself twice from the same charge, he admitted professional charges to Edward Lauer, director of athletics, according to the copyrighted story in the Daily Iowan, student newspaper.

Lauer declared that the evidence was not gained from new testimony, but from admissions made by Pape. Pape's admission automatically removes him from the list of 11 athletes banned after Iowa was forced to bow itself out of the Conference.

Kansas Floor Record Is Given Big Boost

KANSAS CITY, Jan. '.—(AP.)—The record of 34 consecutive Conference basketball victories established by the University of Kansas six years ago, will stand at least until 1933.

GENEVA OFFERS W. & J. GAME

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 13.—Geneva College is anxious and willing to meet W. & J. in football next November if the Presidents can fit into the Covenanters' schedule. There is no certainty at all that such a game can be arranged, but Manager A. C. Edgecome is frank in his expression of a desire to book the Red and Black for a game at Beaver Falls.

Through belated manipulation of Wash-Jeff's schedule which eliminated Pitt from the card, W. & J. has November 1 and November 8 both open with little prospect apparently of booking a team of any note to fill the gap. Through an arrangement with Pitt, W. & J. must not play on November 8, the date of the Pitt-Carnegie Tech contest in Pittsburgh, leaving November 1 the only Saturday date free.

Geneva has Franklin and Marshall scheduled for a big game in the Beaver Valley on November 1, and Manager Edgecombe does not think it would be possible to switch this game at such a late date. In discussing the possibility of a W. & J.-Geneva game he mentioned Tuesday, November 27, Armistice Day, as a probabl, suitable date.

Travis Medal Is Offered As Tourney Prize

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Jan. 13.—One of the numerous valuable trophies won by the late Walter J. Travis when he was king of amateur golfers, a generation ago, will be awarded as a prize in the third annual tournament for the national championship of golf club champions, to be played here beginning Wednesday.

The new prize is being donated by Mrs. Walter J. Travis, widow of the several-times American amateur champion and the first American representative to win the British amateur crown, back in 1904.

The proffer of one of Travis' favorite possessions for the club champions' classic came in a letter from Mrs. Travis, received this afternoon. Mrs. Travis' letter follows:

"I learn that a Walter J. Travis memorial cup is to be given for the national championship of golf club champions. Keeping my husband's name in such loving memory touches me exceedingly, and I should be very glad to present one of the many gold medals which he won to go with the cup.

(Signed) Anne B. Travis."

SWIM RECORD FALLS

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Arthur Highland, of the Carl Schurz High School, Chicago, established a new national interscholastic record in the 100-yard free-style swim here Saturday, swimming the distance in 54.2 seconds.

ROSIES WIN FIRST HALF

CLEVELAND, Jan. 13. — Dutch Denhert's tally from his own pivot play on a remarkable shot, and Lapchick's exceptional shot and score on a beautiful pass from Skurnick in the first two minutes of play, sent the Cleveland Rosies on their way to the first half championship last night. They never faltered until they downed the Chicago Bruins, 20 to 16. Annexing the title assures them a place in the annual world's series.

The Rosies have re-established the fact they are the game's greatest money team and the best percentage-playing aggregation of all modern times. Compelled to meet four of the best teams in the country to retain their laurels and to win every game is a difficult task, even for a club as good as the Rosies, but they turned the trick so well that they still top the basketball world, and the Bruins were the fourth team to bow to them in as many days. The Rosies start their second half with a game with Rochester here Friday. The lineup:

Rosenblums—20.		Chicago—16.
Skurnick	F	Hickey
Barry	F	Kennedy
Lapchick	C	Kellet
Denhert	G	Ely
Husta	G	Russell

Field goals: Cleveland—8 out of 35; Chicago, 5 out of 36. Individuals field goals—Skurnick 2, Barry 2, Lapchick 2, Denhert, Husta, Hickey 4, Russell. Foul goals—Cleveland, 4 out of 5; Chicago, 6 out of 9. First half score—Cleveland 16, Chicago 8. Officials—Sinnott and Salador.

Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

. . . the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency . . . join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

The strong arm of the law halts the spitter whose vile and vicious habit menaces his fellow citizens. But for every spitter caught hundreds escape . . . hundreds who still work in filthy shops rolling cigars with dirty fingers and spitting on the ends!

Certified Cremo protects you against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods developed by the United States Government during the war. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar your physician has in mind when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof . . . immaculate . . . foil-wrapped . . . Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly had in mind when he said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

Developments Are Fulfilling Expectations.

—By B. C. FORBES—

THE first half of January has at least fulfilled expectations. Quiet times were predicted for the early part of the year. On the whole business developments have been moderately encouraging.

The stock market, as anticipated, has ruled very quiet and without pronounced change in price levels.

THE steel corporation's gain of 291,848 tons in unfilled orders in December is encouraging, even after allowing for the rather drastic reduction in production last month. The industry has substantially speeded up output, and this accelerated pace probably will be continued.

The reports emanating from the New York automobile show have been satisfactory, although nothing spectacular has occurred. More manufacturers have advanced prices.

It has become increasingly evident that our automobile leaders do not intend to repeat the blundering of our oil industry. As all the world knows, wasteful overproduction of oil has been scandalous for several years, at loss to everybody and profit to none, including the nation itself. Motor makers apparently are determined to avoid ruinous excess production.

If this policy be adhered to, the results should be beneficial alike to manufacturers, dealers and our national prosperity.

RETAIL business has suffered from abnormally mild weather in certain sections and abnormally wintry weather in other sections.

The latest reports reveal that Christmas buying was well up to average. It cannot be said that many of the large-scale construction programs promised at Washington have yet been set in motion. The shrinkage in building during the latter part of last year was quite severe. Nor has there yet been any notable revival in applications for permits for future operations. Nevertheless, there still is every reason to hope that fulfillment of the pledges made to President Hoover shortly will begin to make itself felt.

Certainly the money market is conducive to enterprise. In Wall street, loans running from 60 days to six months have become freely available at 4½ to 4¾ per cent, against 7½ per cent a year ago. Call money went to 4 per cent and closed the week at 4½ against 7 per cent a year ago. The choicest commercial paper became discountable on Friday at less than 5 per cent in some instances, for the first time. Bankers' acceptances for short terms are a shade under 4 per cent and for longer terms a shade above that figure.

Brokers' loans last week fell $72,000,000, reducing the total to $3,352,000,000, which is almost $2,000,000,000 under the corresponding figure for 12 months ago—$5,313,000,000. Gold shipments have ceased, at least for the present. The federal reserve system is carrying a reserve ratio of 72.9 per cent, contrasted with 66.3 per cent a year ago.

Under these circumstances it is logical that talk should be current of a possible reduction in the 4½ per cent New York rediscount rate. Should, as expected, the Bank of England lower its rate, action here doubtless would not be long delayed. The reserve authorities now are anxious to do everything possible to facilitate the carrying out of President Hoover's "prosperity program."

UNFORTUNATELY, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has c[illegible]e.. the present inopportune time to bring forward the suggestion that Secretary Mellon be deposed from the chairmanship of the Federal Reserve Board and that the governor of the board become its untrammeled head.

The fact is that no Washington official enjoys a larger measure of public confidence than Secretary Mellon. Equally true is it that the federal reserve board members, deservedly or undeservedly, have failed to inspire any corresponding degree of public confidence. Therefore, it would seem peculiarly unwise to stir up nationwide agitation at this time with a view to curtailing Secretary Mellon's authority.

The feeling in financial circles is that Washington is likely to inject enough uncertainty without a body like the United States Chamber of Commerce going out of its way to bring up such an issue. It is to be hoped, in the interest of stability and prosperity, that no hornet's nest of this kind be agitated.

Unemployment has lately increased seriously in Britain, notwithstanding that a labor government is in power.

Employment reports from the Continent also are less satisfactory. Banking interests are to co-operate with the government in Britain with a view to financing undertakings affording additional work.

It is well to take note of foreign unemployment when considering conditions here. Unquestiontbly, employment conditions could be distinctly better than they are; but, also, they could be worse. At the same time the steps being taken in Britain should give thought to American industry. The bringing about of steady employment is the one overshadowing economic problem facing the United States. Its solution should be agitating our best brains.

OFTEN in the past the stock market has become extremely dull and featureless preceding a distinct movement. The chances favor better rather than poorer prices for good stocks.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Formal offering of two large bond issues and the imminence of other sizeable new financing diverted attention from listed securities today and quotations made slender changes in dull trading. Many of the high grade rails eased on the light demand, but United States governments held firm in the early hours on the appearance of slightly more favorable time money rates.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stock Tone Firm — Local Stocks Unchanged

MARKET FIRM WITH VOLUME LIGHTER

Leaders Fluctuate With Price Changes Ranging Only About Two Points

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP.) — Trading in stocks showed a further reduction in volume on the New York Stock Exchange today, with prices generally displaying a firm undertone. Only 719,500 shares changed hands in the first two hours. Most of the leaders moved up and down within a range of 2 points.

Revival of activity and strength in the railroad shares was one of the few features of the session. Atchison and Wabash each rallied 3½ points and Pennsylvania, Canadian Pacific, Reading, Western Maryland and Texas and Pacific sold 2 or more points higher. At least a dozen others, including New York Central, Erie, New Haven, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Pacific and the Missouri Pacific issues, advanced a point or more.

TOBACCOS ADVANCE

An increase in cigaret prices by one of the large metropolitan distributors stimplated the demand for the tabocco stocks. American Tobacco issues, Liggett & Myers and Lorillard were marked up 2 to 3½ points and Liggett & Myers B, American Sumatra Tobacco, Reynolds Tobacco, Congress Cigar and Porto Rican Tobacco B advanced a point or more.

There were a few soft spots, particularly in the merchandising group. Industrial Rayon dropped 5 points, and Gimbel Bros., common and preferred, and May Department tSores 1 ½ each. Some of the coppers also turned off in expectations of a large increase in surplus copper stocks when the trade statistics are published, probably tomorrow.

There was nothing in the day's news to explain the sudden demand for the rails, although Wall street has heard vague rumors of new merger applications as a result of the Interstate Commerce Commission's revised consolidation plan. In the case of Pennsylvania, the buying is believed to have been stimulated by the early expiration of stock purchase "rights."

MONEY STEADY

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent, with the banks calling about $10,000,000 in loans to prepare for mid-month withdrawals. The time money and commercial paper markets were quiet.

A good inquiry developed for some of the independent steel shares as a result of the recent upturn in mill activity. Michigan Steel ran up 6 points and Newmont 4½. U. S. Steel common sold a point above and a point below its closing price of 169⅝ on Saturday.

Telephone Issue Over Subscribed

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—J. P. Morgan & Co., on behalf of the offering syndicate, announced that the subscription books were closed on the issue of $150,000,000 American Telephone and Telegraph Company 5 per cent gold debentures offered this morning.

International Power Production Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—International Paper and Power Company system produced 431,455,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy in November, up 22 per cent over November, 1928. In first 11 months of last year, output was 4,296,-210,000 kilowatt hours, 36 per cent greater than in 1928 period.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Affected by unlooked for downturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool, the wheat market here underwent a material setback early today. Decided enlargement of the amount of wheat on ocean passage, together with inactive demand abroad, was reported. Opening ⅝ to 1⅛ off, Chicago wheat afterward showed an additional decline. Corn and oats were also easier with corn starting ¼@⅜ down and subsequently sagging further. Provisions kept firm.

Adding to the downward momentum of the Chicago wheat market at times today was evidence that foreigners were selling wheat future deliveries here. Word also was at hand that Argentine new crop wheat for January-February shipments was being offered in Germany at 7 cents a bushel cheaper than United States hard winter grades. Meanwhile supplies of wheat afloat on the ocean were announced today as showing 4,400,000 bushels. Increase compared to a week ago.

Considerable resistance to selling pressure in the Chicago wheat market was met with, however, after prices today had touched as low as $1.29, May delivery. Along that level commission houses absorbed the future delivery offerings more readily. On the other hand, North American wheat export business over the week-end appeared to have been restricted to 400,000 bushels all of it grown in Canada.

Pennsy's Dividend Record Termed Impressive

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Pennsylvania Railroad stockholders, since 1847, have received dividends totaling more than $930,-000,000, according to an analysis of the road prepared for distribution by Wertheim & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange. The record of dividend payments, covering every year since 1847, and for the last 74 years at an average of more than 6 per cent per annum, the analysis characterizes as "the most impressive in this country's railroad industry."

"Even during the road's construction," the analysis continues, "it paid returns on the stock and uninterrupted cash payments since 1856 have ranged from 2 per cent to 10 per cent. During the first 10 months of 1929, industry was particularly active and Pennsylvania's facilities were fully utilized. Consequently, even allowing for a recession in November, gross for the first 11 months aggregated $633,140,255. It is conservatively estimated that the 1929 annual report will show around 17 per cent earned for the stock, or $8.50 a share."

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 4 points. The more active months showed net losses of about 4 to 9 points during the early trading under realizing which may have been promoted by the indifferent showing of Liverpool, although the market there steadied just before the local opening. The decline was checked by trade buying and covering, however, and the tone was fairly steady at the end of the first half hour with March selling around 17.42c and July 17.85c or about 4 to 7 points net lower. Liverpool cables reported continental buying, covering and trade calling supplied by realizing in that market and said there was an improved cloth inquiry from Egypt and South America.

The early offerings were absorbed on the decline of some 5 to 9 points from Saturday's closing quotations and contracts seemed comparatively scarce later in the morning with prices firming up on some further trade buying or covering. March advanced from 17.40c to 17.46c and July from 17.85c to 17.89c, but failed to hold the gain, with the general list ruling about 4 to 6 points net lower at midday.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Save for a moderate amount of rather indifferent trading in the utilities, the curb market was stagnant today. Price changes were narrow and insignificant. There was nothing in the developments of the week-end to revive speculative enthusiasm and trading dragged along indolently.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Auto Show Contest

$300 Cash Prizes—200 Show Tickets

(The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph co-operating with the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, is donating these prizes for the best answers and slogans).

HERE is the Sun-Telegraph Automobile Puzzle Contest, based on passenger cars to be exhibited in the forthcoming annual Automobile Show to be held at Motor Square Garden, January 18 to 25, inclusive.

Three separate puzzle pictures, in each of which will be concealed the name of an automobile and in each of which the artist has made at least 10 errors will be published for 10 days in the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Readers of the Sun-Telegraph are invited to find the names of the automobiles and five of the artists' 10 errors in each puzzle and send them to the Auto Show Contest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, 612 Grant street, together with a good slogan, descriptive of the Automobile Show. YOU MUST SEND ALL YOUR ANSWERS AT THE SAME TIME IN ONE ENVELOPE AT THE COMPLETION OF THE CONTEST. ACCURACY, NEATNESS AND CLEVERNESS OF SLOGAN WILL BE CONSIDERED IN AWARDING THE PRIZES.

Prizes totaling $300 in gold and 200 show tickets are to be awarded the winners in the contest. Be sure to put your name and address with the slogan at the top of the first page. Your name should appear on each page you send in.

The final pictures will be published January 16. All answers must be in the hands of the Auto Show Contest Editor no later than midnight Friday, January 17. The winners will be announced at the Automobile Show, Monday evening, January 20 and in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph on January 21.

Your slogan must accompany the answers. It may be either rhyme or prose and should be applicable to the Automobile Show. It must be short, snappy and clever. Remember it is an important factor in deciding the winners.

Any person is eligible to enter this contest, except employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph or members of their families.

CONTESTANTS ARE NOT TO SEND IN THEIR ANSWERS UNTIL THE COMPLETION OF THE CONTEST, AND THEN ALL PUZZLES MUST BE MAILED IN THE SAME ENVELOPE AT THE SAME TIME. ANSWERS SHOULD BE SUBMITTED IN THE FOLLOWING MANNER: ELEVEN SHEETS OF PAPER WILL BE NECESSARY. ON THE FIRST SHEET MUST APPEAR THE CONTESTANTS NAME, ADDRESS AND THE SLOGAN. ON THE REMAINING SHEETS WILL APPEAR THE CONTESTANT'S NAME AND THREE SEPARATE PARAGRAPHS, EACH ONE DEVOTED TO ONE OF THE PUZZLES WHICH APPEARED ON EACH DAY. THE NAME OF THE CAR, FOUND IN THE PICTURE MUST BE LISTED AND UNDER IT THE FIVE MISTAKES MADE IN THE DRAWING. MAIL IT SO THAT THE AUTO SHOW CONTEST EDITOR WILL RECEIVE IT NO LATER THAN MIDNIGHT, JANUARY 17, AT 612 GRANT STREET.

LIST OF PRIZES

For the best list of correct auto names, discovered mistakes, and the cleverest slogan, the following prizes will be awarded:

First prize—$100 in gold.
Second prize—$50 in gold.
Third prize—$25 in gold.
Five prizes of $10 each, $50 in gold.
Fifteen prizes of $5 each, $75 in gold.
And 100 prizes of two tickets each, good any afternoon at the Auto Show.
In case of ties, equal prizes will be awarded tying contestants.

Following is a list of representative cars:

Ford	Studebaker
Franklin	Stutz
Gardner	Viking
Graham	Whippet
Hudson	Willys-Knight
Hupmobile	Willys

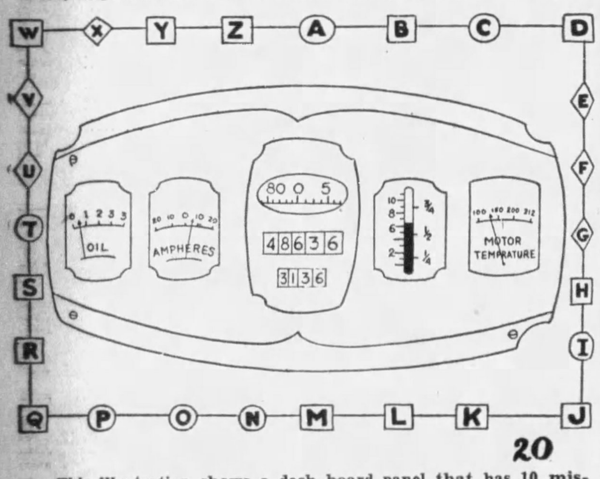
What are the 10 mistakes in this picture? Perhaps there are more than 10, but the artist made 10, and your list to be complete, need contain only five of them.

For the name of a make of automobile, study the various signs. One of them has a name that corresponds to the name of a car—it may be partly obscured, but there is enough in view to identify it.



This illustration shows a dash-board panel that has 10 mistakes which the artist intended.

Eliminating the error that both 80 and 5 show with 0 on the speedometer, you can find 10 different mistakes.

You need list only five of them.

To find the name of a make of automobile, study the border. The letter containers are of three types: squares, diamonds, and circles. Take all letters of one of these types and make the name of a car from them. The name is partly spelled already.

Ten real mistakes in this picture. The artist put them there: it is up to you to find them if you can. But only five must be in your list.

The traffic sign and the policeman obscure part of the sign on the building. If you can guess the missing letters correctly you will have the name of a make of automobile.

PACIFIC COAST STORM KILLS 6

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Winter swooped down upon the Far West during the week-end, leaving in its wake today six persons dead, four critically hurt, several missing and hundreds marooned by snow.

Bitter cold accounted for three of the deaths—two in Arizona and one in Washington. Heavy snow fell in many places in California. Fresno received its first appreciable snow in 20 years, and San Francisco its first measurable fall in eight years.

The hill country of Southern California received its heaviest snow in 25 years. Snow fell in the orange groves of the Oroville district and that city was blanketed for the first time in 12 years.

In Arizona, Timothy Kirkpatrick, 35, stage company manager of Jerome, and David King, 32, truck driver, were found frozen to death three miles from their stalled automobile near the summit of Mingus Mountain off the Jerome-Prescott highway. Several other persons were reported missing.

COASTER KILLED

Washington counted two fatalities. In Seattle, Ray Whiteman, 15, was killed and six companions injured, four critically, in a collision between their bobsled and an automobile. Sixteen young people were coasting on the sled and most of them suffered injury.

At Walla Walla the body of a middle-aged man, presumably frozen to death, was found in a Snake River cabin. He was not identified.

California likewise reported two fatalities.

Hiram Shearer, 73, city marshal of Nevada City, died from a fractured skull received while directing traffic. He was struck by a coasting sled.

CROSSING FATALITY

In Los Angeles, Morris Feldman, his vision obscured by rain, drove his automobile in front of a Pacific electric train on Foothill boulevard and was killed.

Virtually the whole state of California was swept by snow, rain and hail. Snow fell in places where it seldom is seen as the storm king played havoc with motorists, marooning hundreds in winter resorts.

In the Sierra foothills, 300 automobiles were abandoned between San Andreas and Angeles Camp, while their occupants, estimated to number in excess of 1,300, sought refuge from the falling snow and bitter wind in farm houses at Murphy's, Vallecito, Angels Camp and other communities.

In the Los Angeles district, similar conditions prevailed. Scores of motorists were snowbound in Cajon Pass, while 500 residents of winter resorts in the San Bernardino Mountains were held to their cabins.

Bok Died Planning National Radio School Music

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—The Philadelphia Inquirer says today that education of school children in the United States and Canada in the traditions and highest forms of music was planned by Edward W. Bok, editor and philanthropist, who died last week in Florida.

He set aside for this purpose a fund, the paper says, to provide concerts by Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia Orchestra to be broadcast during school hours.

It was Mr. Bok's belief that mass education in music is made possible by the radio, and he visioned the schools that might be reached for one hour each week listening to ennobling music. Details for the hookup were being worked out at the time of the philanthropist's death.

OAKLAND HALL SITE DEFENDED

"Pessimistic predictions for a Town Hall in Oakland are flatly disputed by the facts," declared F. F. Nicola in a statement issued today, "contradicting statements made in opposition to the Oakland site."

Nicola's statement he said was prompted by the "unwarranted and unreasonable condemnation of critics who have taken the position of any site but Oakland for the Town Hall."

"The experiences of the past constitute the only foundation on which to base a prediction for the future," his statement asserts, "and the public has only to review the astonishing progress of every activity which moved from downtown to Oakland to realize that the pessimistic statements are wrong."

Thirty-one public or semi-public buildings, "which have been built in the Oakland district in the 25 years since the entire section was a cow pasture and farm land," are detailed in the statement. These include "buildings aggregating in cost more than $60,000,000 and operating most successfully from one end of the year to the other, do not constitute an environment prophesying failure for any additional enterprise which may be located there," Nicola declares.

"The plot of ground on which the Masonic Temple is located has been established by Allegheny County engineers as the exact center of the county's population," Nicola states. "This district is now a civic center of world wide perspective. Its development has been unequalled in any other American city, and the institutions participating in its growth have multiplied their scope and usefulness many times."

REID TO REJOIN EIELSON HUNT

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 13.—(INS.)—Weather and visibility permitting, two cabin planes under the command of Capt. T. M. (Pat) Reid were to leave today for Nome to join the search for Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, Alaskan airways manager, and Earl Borland, his mechanic, who have been missing since November 9.

Reid's sudden appearance Saturday afternoon after being lost one week with his two mechanics, James Hutchinson and William Hughes, has injected a new impetus in the Arctic search.

The trio arrived at Unalkaleet after being land-bound for seven days on the Ungalik River with a broken wing spar. Their plane was forced down in a blizzard after hopping off here January 4.

Reid announced that he plans to join Pilot Matt Niemenen at Nulato today and proceed with the two relief planes to Nome, where they aim to set out on the Arctic hunt for the Eielson plane, which disappeared between Teller, Alaska, and North Cape, Siberia.

People Wish President Well, Says Hoover

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13.—The people as a whole wish the President well, President Hoover said in a letter to Dr. W. O. Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio State University. Dr. Thompson, making the letter public, explained that it was in reply to his New Year's greeting.

Mr. Hoover wrote in part

"There will always be partisans desirous that the President should fail, even if their stratagems injure the country, or those whose daily toil is to mix mud pies.

"If these blots were other than exceptions this nation would not have swept to a mightier destiny every year since the Independence."

President Hoover writes that the outstanding problem of the nation is production and distribution of truth. On this line the President says

"When you hear of more and more temporary committees, commissions, conferences, researches—that they are not for executive action (for which they are anathema) but are one of the sound process for the search, production and distribution of the truth.

"And they are more—they spread co-operation with government among our best citizens, not only in finding the truth, but also they aid to spread it and to get action upon it."

DR. COOK'S PLEA FOR PAROLE UP

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 13.—(AP.)—A parole hearing beginning in the Federal penitentiary here today may spell freedom for Dr. Frederick A. Cook, internationally-known explorer, serving a sentence for using the mails to defraud.

Dr. Cook's parole application will be heard with 1,200 others. There is a general feeling here that the explorer's application will be approved, as there is no known opposition and officials who heard his trial and who prosecuted him are reported to favor his release.

The man who was honored as a hero when he announced in 1908 that he had reached the North Pole, only to be branded a faker by subsequent investigation, has been broken in body by his disgrace and penal confinement. It is on a plea of ill health that his parole application is based. Dr. Cook says he does not believe he can live through the remainder of his sentence of 14 years 9 months.

Dr. Cook was sentenced from Fort Worth, Tex., in 1923 for using the mails to defraud in an oil promotion scheme, but did not enter the prison until April 6, 1925.

Thirteen other persons convicted with him have been paroled or have completed lighter sentences. Federal Judge John M. Killits, who heard the trial of Dr. Cook and previously has opposed his parole, is said to have altered his attitude.

CAUFFIEL OUT, COURT RULES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—The State Supreme Court today decided that Joseph Cauffiel was properly removed from the office of mayor of Johnstown by the Cambria County Court.

Cauffiel was convicted of official misconduct and was sentenced to two to three years in the Cambria County jail and removed from office.

Cauffiel's conviction was affirmed by the Supreme Court in a previous decision and the defendant filed another appeal claiming he was still the mayor because the Supreme Court had not ruled on that part of the lower court's sentence.

The higher court also upheld the mandamus issued by the Cambria County court and directed against W. Winston Davis, treasurer of Johnstown, and ordering him to honor warrants signed by the superintendent of accounts and finance as acting mayor.

Cauffiel is now in the Cambria County jail serving his prison term, but gave notice to the treasurer not to pay warrants unless signed by him. This caused much confusion and held up $50,000 worth of pay warrants.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

HER love life, for some reason or other, impressed the sensational newspaper editors last year and the year before that. The man she married had a mess of coin and she is in a better mood, one suspects, since it was recently decided that some day she would inherit one-third of his wealth, via the dowry route.

You probably are familiar with the details of the separation and the other features of their confessions as they appeared in the rags. From her troubles came trouble to others. One man who enjoyed distinction on Broadway in the theatrical field fell in love with her, deserting his wife and friends to bask in her limelight.

He isn't a young man, which is why you'd think he would know better. Yet, his great love for this star of the front pages stifled his common sense and eventually his wife divorced him. The publicity that followed cost him many of those fair-weather friends and some of the so-called true ones. He lost his powerful job and most of his coin. He was content, however, because the gal remained loyal to him, that is, she remained loyal until a few weeks ago and another of his illusions went bleh. She quit him cold when his dough was spent and You Know How That Is.

But what we started out to chronicle was this fact. Broke as he is, and desperate for coin, when the husband of the girl offered him several thousands of dollars to testify against her during the trial, he flatly refused, believing in Edwin Justus Mayer's epigram: "It is a woman's privilege to remember and the duty of a gentleman to forget!"

THAT TERRIBE THING CALLED LOVE

SPEAKING of love as who isn't?—there is this interesting Broadway romance. The girl, a year or so ago, pounded the local pavements seeking a job in a show with the offers coming now and then, but all of them resulting in nothing to write home about. Then a hit production needed a lass to take the role vacated by another and she was hastened into it—filling the gap splendidly. During the engagement a prospering fellow with his own business allied with the profession fell in love with her. After a short courtship they were married.

Most of us Broadwayfarers congratulated them in the indifferent manner, believing that the romance was nothing to get excited about, for such love affairs happen regularly. But it appears that theirs is a most unusual love. When the show posted the notice that it would close its local engagement and was readying to tour she gave in her notice. "I won't go on the road," she declared.

"But you signed a run-of-the-play contract," they reminded her, but they had to go to Equity, the Actors' Union, to get the organization to order her to obey the contract. The girl tried every trick known to get out of it. Physicians said she was too ill. One said she was to become a mother. Another said she was too frail to leave the city. But Equity stuck by the management of the show.

SHE didn't want to leave town because it meant leaving him! And so when the show went to Boston her husband visited during the week-end, neglecting his business to keep her happy. Long-distance telephone calls after the show meant nothing to her. Long fervent letters likewise. Telegrams and all that other stuff were so much applesauce, she argued. When he was in New York and she was in Boston she got so sick from being away from him she'd weep and then collapsed until she couldn't work and the understudy had to go on.

So now he is with her every day and night on tour with the show, leaving to others his business, which is decaying because of his neglect. But he cares more for her than the business in New York, and she is ready to shelve the stage for which she aspired all those seasons because the only man she ever cared about has come into her clean life—and so help her—she cries, he is hers and she is his'n and Equity or Ziegfeld will never put them asunder!

A most amazing thing, really. Imagine hearing about two Broadway married people being so madly in love—with each other!

APOLOGY

WE hasten to opologize to Miss Corel Ellis of the vaudeville act known as Kane anad Ellis because material from their act was thefted and forwarded to this corner. Miss Ellis is pained, she writes, because the poem called "Ah, This Is Love!" which recently appeared here was taken from her act. It was written by her some time ago, during the war, to be exact, and Mr. Kane revised it here and there. "Anyone in the Keith offices will verify this," says Miss Ellis, "and you know one must maintain and protect their goods."

Quiteso, quiteso. Only there is this to say. Miss Ellis' letter was one of many that have arrived since the poem was published. Friends of James Barton also demand an apology, as do friends and admirers of Ken Murray and other comedians in vaudeville. We trust Miss Ellis and the Messrs. Barton and Murray will accept our sincere apology and this goes for all the others who are using it, too.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

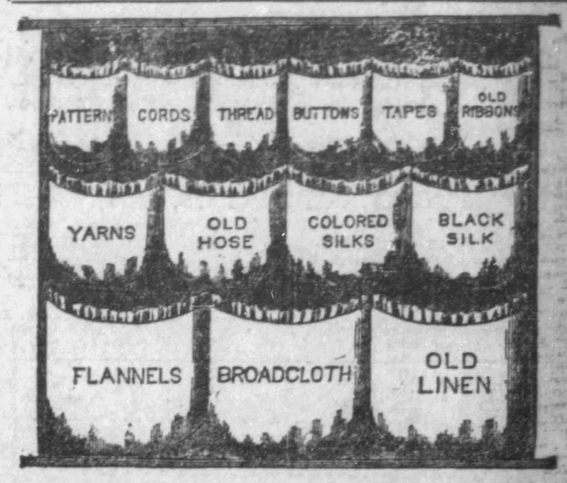
Chart Shows Nation's Business Sound



Above chart, prepared by Roger Rabson, indicates that business throughout the coming year is 16.22 per cent better than might have been expected. "I see no cause for pessimism," said Mr. Rabson, "with the corn crop in Arkansas running as high as sixty gallons to the acre. Let those who complain go back to Russia where they came from."

PACTS AND CONFLABS PROVE STIMULATING!

(News Item)

Only a few years ago the French Navy Department declared in a memorandum that 80,000 tons of submarines were essential for coast defense. Now the figure for submarines is set at 127,000 tons. The total tonnage which was considered sufficient in 1926 is now regared as inadequate for the future, and the demand is for between 800,000 and 900,000 tons as the minimum for security.

As Railroads Make More Money Public Should Benefit in Service and Rates

The most important act of the Federal Government in a long time is the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission recommending certain railroad consolidations.

We have too many separate railroads in the country, with expensive and unnecessary duplication of high officials, terminals and services. A weak line that serves its community badly can be made strong by adoption into the family of a powerful and successful system.

Nobody who has the interest of the country at heart can oppose wise railroad mergers. We do not want to hang on to a more expensive way of producing transportation service any more than we want to hang on to a more expensive way of producing motor cars or houses.

What we DO want from Congress and the Interstate Commerce Commission, charged with regulating the railroads, is to be assured that the public shall get its full share of the advantages and economies of these new business combinations.

This means that as the railroads make more money the public must get better service at lower rates. Law and regulation should be devoted to making these public benefits automatic. If Congress will act in this direction the public will be served; it will not be served by foolish and unprofitable opposition to mergers which are inevitable since they promise economy and progress.

This, incidentally, is simply a restatement of the long-established policy of the Hearst papers with respect to business combinations and consolidations.

The merger principle in railroad organization must be carried through without hesitation or delay. Whether the Interstate Commerce Commission was wise in the specific 21 consolidation groups it recommends, is another matter.

Executive Proves Peril Of Cable-Radio Monopoly

"In the matter of Mr. Young's views on international communications—with all respect, of course—I put them in the same class with any advice he might feel moved to give to nursing mothers."

This from Newcomb Carlton, president of Western Union, to Owen D. Young, chairman of the Board of the Radio Corporation of America, testifying before a Senate committee.

As one big business man to another, Mr. Carlton said a mouthful.

It is sad for Mr. Young to have his expert testimony thus characterized by another expert, Mr. Carlton.

It is still sadder for Mr. Young and his right and left bowers, Mr. Harbord and Mr. Sarnoff, to have Mr. Carlton tell the Senate committee that these three gentlemen have tried to hide behind the flag while putting an entirely selfish business deal over on the American people.

Mr. Carlton said that Messrs. Young, Harbord and Sarnoff were not stating facts when they testified that the national interest required they should be allowed to form a cable-radio monopoly for messages abroad. Otherwise, they said, the great monopolies fostered by foreign governments—especially the British—would crush us.

Mr. Young, pleading for repeal of Section 17 of the Radio Act, which at present forbids a radio-cable monopoly, solemnly warned:

"If Congress does not pass the necessary enabling acts, it must take the responsibility of weakening, perhaps irretrievably, the position of the United States in the field of international communication."

Senator Dill asked Mr. Carlton about the British merger as a possible menace to American interests. Mr. Carlton replied:

"THE BRITISH MERGER DOESN'T PRESENT THE SLIGHTEST MENACE TO ANYONE. RIGHT NOW THE WESTERN UNION AND THE RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA HOLD THE BRITISH MERGER IN THE HOLLOW OF THEIR HAND."

Mr. Carlton testified to the advantages of competition. He told how the Radio Corporation of America had forced his company to reduce trans-Atlantic cable rates from 25 to 20 cents per word. He insisted that competition was good for the competing companies—more business for all.

He intimated that Western Union might go into the overseas radio business if it could have wave lengths allotted to it and if Congress would force the Radio Corporation of America to give up its exclusive landing contracts abroad.

Mr. Carlton is no purist. He says frankly that Owen D. Young dickered with him for two years to buy Western Union and failed only because he did not offer enough.

The Hearst newspapers have protested against weakening the anti-monopoly provision of the radio act. Mr. Carlton sets the seal of expert approval on our position. His testimony proves in detail the peril and the imminence of the monopoly against which we have warned.

Perhaps the Radio Corporation as a business institution cannot be blamed for trying to establish a monopoly to extort high prices from the public, but certainly Mr. Young and the Radio Corporation cannot be admired for wrapping themselves in the American flag and trying to make a purely plundering proposition seem like a patriotic enterprise.

Kemal's Good Example

Some Americans Might Follow It.

Kemal Pasha, boss of Turkey, has always been dressed fashionably, like his neighbor ruler, Mussolini of Italy.

Now he gives up his London tailor, who knows how to make trousers hang "like a poem," and will wear only things made in Turkey.

They won't look like Bond street, but Kemal sets a good example to many Americans who think America a good place to make money and Europe a good place to spend it.

Grim Weapon

Says Opposite of What He Feels About Capital Punishment.

Out of England comes a grim satire directed against capital punishment—a book called "Art of Hanging," by Charles Duff. Satire, in the old tradition, is seldom attained in these days—and satire, in the old tradition, is a powerful and telling weapon against folly and cruelty and injustice. By saying the opposite of what he feels, and carrying his plea to unctuous absurdity, Duff discusses hanging as a fine art. He piles up macabre, cold-blooded arguments and, without dropping his mask, pleads passionately for a Nobel Prize for hangmen.

ANOTHER TEN "GREATEST MEN"

By Herbert Kaufman

EDWARD ELWARD FREE, lifting voice in the Atlantic Monthly, has the temerity to designate ten comparatively unknown research workers as the irreplacable living benefactors of science.

His list is chiefly interesting because of its glaring OMISSIONS.

Thomas Edison, Elmer Sperry, George W. Crile, Lee DeForest, E. F. W. Alexanderson, Albert Einstein, Robert Andrews Millikan, Banting, Baird and Marconi, in his judgment, have "shot their wads," and already made their chief contributions to welfare.

He moves Alexis Carrel to the background, and, with a single arbitrary gesture, demotes all British, French and Scandinavian investigators and inventors to second rank.

HE elects, for his exclusive MAGNUMS CUM LAUDE six Americans and four Germans, to whom he SOLELY attributes unique qualities of intelligence and utility.

Dr. Free overdraws on his account of authority. With no attempt to disparage the eminence of his candidates, his own status hardly rates him as able to pronounce so CONCLUSIVE a verdict.

HISTORY is a thrifty winnower of chaff, and finds slight celebrity worth preserving out of any given period.

Dr. Paul Heyl's observation, that the Adamsons advanced farther during the past two hundred years, than throughout the WHOLE CABOODLE of previous centuries, SUSTAINS this demonstrable premise.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

IN some forms the tail of the "foot" carries a hard chitinous plate, so arranged that when the animal retires into its shell the plate closes the opening of the latter like a lid; in some, such as the powerfully adhesive limpet, the shell is not spirally twisted at all, but forms a flat cone under which the animal cowers; in some, such as the sea hare, it is of no use as a protection, being represented by a mere thin plate of chitin embedded in the flesh of the back; in many garden slugs there are only a few limy granules in this situation, and finally in some sea-slugs the shell is absent altogether.

Many gastropods are carnivorous and so the class falls below the moral level of the inaggressive lamelli-branchia.

H. G. Wells.

The whelk, for example, bores through the shells of oysters or periwinkles and sucks out their soft bodies. The majority, however, feed on plants.

The garden snails and slugs, rasping away the leaves of plants by means of their tongues, which are set with fine, serried teeth like a file, are a serious nuisance to man, a nuisance that more than counter-balances the edibility of the whelks and limpets and winkles and Roman snails, and labels the class as a whole as a troublesome one.

Some of the marine gastropods are pelagic—instead of crawling slowly over the sea-bottom they swim freely in the surface waters; the foot is expanded into transparent undulating wings by means of which the animal glides through the water.

The ordinary pond-snail can often be seen in a sort of slow, writhing swimming just below the surface of the water. These pelagic gastropods develop this idea.

The third class of mollusca, the Cephalopoda, is more exciting, including as it does the cuttle-fish and octopuses.

There are comparatively few species, all marine; nevertheless, its members are the most highly organized molluscs, and perhaps the most highly organized invertebrates. Further, they include by far the biggest invertebrate animals, for giant cuttlefish have been recorded of over 50 feet in length.

The "foot" which is a tongue-like body in the lamelli-branch and a flat underneath in the gastropod here grows forward to surround the mouth and is prolonged into flexible arms (Cephalos means head).

The majority of living cephalopods capture their prey—which consists chiefly of crustaceans and fish—by stalking and pouncing upon it.

The circle of writhing arms surrounding the mouth is provided with powerful suckers, by means of which they catch and hold their victims. Once captured, the prey is bitten by a pair of jaws, sharp and qurved like an eagle's beak, and a digestive juice is pumped out into its body from the captor's mouth.

The juice paralyzes the victim very quickly, and then it dissolves and partly digests the flesh, the resulting soup being sucked back into the captor's mouth held close to the captured prey.

The octopuses live mainly on the bottom, lurking in caves and crannies, often building a shelter of stones, pouncing out upon unsuspecting passers-by and falling on top of them like a parachute of serpents.

In the argonauts, which are closely related to the octopuses, the female carries a delicately built spiral shell, partly in order to protect her own body, but chiefly as a sort of perambulator for carrying her eggs.

Both octopuses and argonauts have eight long tenacles. The cuttlefish and squids, however, have 10; they constitute the largest and most varied group of living cephalopods and swim through the sea like fish, propelling themselves either backward or forward by means of fin-like structures that run along the sides of their bodies.

Of the 10 tenacles two are very long and are generally kept curled up out of the way, but they can be suddenly shot out to snatch at victims; the remaining eight are shorter and are used to hold the prey more firmly once it has been caught.

Embedded in the flesh of the back of the squids is a shell homologous with the shells of snails; in some species the shell is a thin, horny "sea-pen" and in others it is the white massive "cuttle-bone" familiar to canary owners.
